AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the Honorable General Assembly of the State of Connecticut, May Session, 1864:

The Undersigned, Auditors of the Quarter-Master-General's accounts for the year ending April 1st, 1864, respectfully submit the following report:—

We have carefully examined the said accounts, comparing them with vouchers on file, and found them entirely correct. Our duties were much lightened by the thorough and systematic manner in which the accounts of the Department are kept. The compliment of the head of the War office at Washington was well deserved when he said that "Connecticut was a model state in making up her accounts with the General Government."

On the 9th of April we visited the State Arsenal, and examined the stores, ordnance, and other property deposited therein, finding everything in as good order as possible considering the accommodations provided for the same. It is a well understood fact that the Arsenal buildings and the grounds surrounding are not, in any manner, suitable for the uses required. The buildings are not spacious enough, and owing to the lack of a proper system of drainage, the premises are so damp that constant care is required, at much expense, to keep the stores and ordnance in proper condition. Gas has lately been introduced into the Arsenal and the workshop, which is an improvement that has long been needed.

The fact is admitted by those familiar with the subject, that the State needs and should have a new Arsenal, and it is to be regretted that the Legislature of last year did not make provision for its establishment, corresponding to the plans laid before the Military Committee. These plans provided for one of the finest buildings, of its kind, in the States, with suitable grounds, etc. They met with the hearty approval of the Committee, and would have received in the Legislature the earnest support of leading Representatives of both parties, had the subject been brought up early in the session. As it was the subject was delayed, till too late for action, and will come before the present Legislature under the head of unfinished business. We would respectfully call attention to it, and to the urgent necessity of either procuring a new site and erecting a new Arsenal building, or of making such an outlay, which must necessarily be considerable, as will enlarge the present buildings, provide a suitable system of drainage for the grounds, etc. If the present site is retained, a good brick wall, with substantial gates should be substituted in place of the present fence, which is a very weak structure. The sidewalk in front needs curbing to correspond with the remainder of the street.

The work of repairing and cleaning arms requires the constant employment of several men, in addition to the regular force employed. The present system of hiring laborers has been found, after a thorough trial, to cost less than it did under the old contract system.

HARTFORD, April 20th, 1864.

REPORT,

OF

WM. A. AIKEN, Q. M. GENERAL.

To the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut :

In accordance with law, I present herewith a Report of the transactions of the Quarter-Master-General's Office, during the year ending March 31st, 1864.

Statement "A," appended hereto, exhibits the receipts of cash, from the State Treasurer, upon the Comptroller's warrant drawn in favor of the Quarter-Master-General. It sets forth in a condensed form, the objects and amounts of expenditure.

The account with "Medical Expenses," covers payments made by special order of His Excellency, the Governor, for the board and medical treatment while in hospital at New Haven, of enlisted men belonging to various Connecticut regiments, before their muster into United States service.

The "Transportation" account, includes disbursements to transportation companies, for passes granted officers or men, in the military service of the State and United States, traveling on duty.

The amount charged to "Clothing," covers a purchase of articles made by my predecessor in office, for which the manufacturers had previously omitted to render their bill.

Small amounts were paid from time to time, for the necessary subsistence of Connecticut volunteers, in United States service, while within the limits of the State. These have been charged to "Subsistence Account."

Upon the establishment of the Provost-Marshal-General's Bureau of the War Department, this office was relieved of the duty of the arrest, confinement and return of deserters within the State. The bills paid and charged in account designated "Arrest and Retention of Deserters" cover only demands against the State, outstanding at the time referred to, against which the officers making the arrests had hitherto neglected to present their bills.

The "Camp and Post Expense" account, refers in the main, to special service rendered at camps or posts of volunteer regiments while within the State. A portion of these services were rendered during previous years of the war, and presentation of claims deferred till the present year. The services referred to, are mainly for medical attendance, legal counsel for the Government in habeas corpus cases, or for compensation to persons acting as staff officers, pending the appointment of permanent officers.

The general expenditures for ordnance and ordnance stores are aggregated in the "Ordnance" account. The reduced amount of this account below that of last year, is explained by the fact that supplies nearly sufficient for issue to our volunteers and the present militia force of the State, had been previously contracted for and were on hand.

The "Camp Equipage" account, embraces a variety of small disbursements for property of this description.

The payments for freight, cartage, storage, care of arms and for all incidentals whatever, connected with the temporary organisation of battalions for home protection, during and immediately subsequent to the New York riots of last summer, are exhibited in the account with "Three Months State Volunteers."

Under the provisions of general orders from Adjutant-General's Office, Washington, His Excellency the Governor directed me to take in charge and turn over on demand, to the Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army, all the ordnance stores which should be turned in by the seven regiments of nine months Connecticut volunteers, then shortly expected home. The expenses of receiving, packing and delivering these stores as directed, has been charged to the account of "Receiving Ordnance and Ordnance Stores of Nine Months Regiments."

In September last, the Governor authorised Col. Geo. S. Burnham, late commanding the 22nd Connecticut Volunteers, to recruit a regiment of "Veteran Volunteers," under the provisions of general orders No. 191, War Department, 1863. A similar authorisation was subsequently extended by the Governor to Col. S. P. Ferris, late commanding the 28th Connecticut Volunteers. These authorisations having subsequently been revoked, this recruiting was suspended. The account with "Veteran Volunteers" includes simply the ordinarily allowed recruiting expenses—including a stipulated compensation—of the officers while on duty.

The "Recruiting" account covers sundry amounts paid, under special orders from the Governor, as reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses of officers on general recruiting service.

The expenditures charged to "Recruiting and Drafting Nine Months Men" covers reimbursements to selectmen of towns, for necessary and authorised expenses incurred by them, in the transportation of drafted militia for nine months service under the President's call for 300,000 men, from said towns to posts of general rendezvous within the State; also for subsistence of such drafted men while in transit to their several posts.

The "Freight and Cartage" account, shows the aggregate of expenditures under this head, not chargeable to State service.

Salaries of employees in the Quarter-Master-General's office, rent, gas, stationery and all incidental expenses of this office, are charged to "General and Incidental Expenses of Office."

Salaries and wages of employees at the State Arsenal, expenditures for necessary repairs, fuel, gas and all incidental expenses connected with the proper management of that establishment, are charged to "State Arsenal" account.

The "State Militia" account refers to disbursements made exclusively on account of the organised active militia within the State and therefore not chargeable to the General Government. It is embraced almost entirely by the necessary expenses of annual officers' drill at Hartford, of the 1st and 2d Brigade encampments, held at Hartford and Bridgeport respectively, during the summer and fall of 1863, and of the forwarding of ordnance supplies between the State Arsenal and the armories of the several militia companies.

More extended reference will be made in a subsequent portion of this report, to matters concerning the Arsenal, and the Militia of the State.

Salutes were ordered on the occasion of the great victories of General Grant on the Mississippi, and of General Meade at Gettysburg. The expense is charged to "Salute" account.

A large proportion of the vouchers to many of the above accounts, will probably be charged over to the United States for reimbursement in the next general account, now about to be made up.

Statement "B" explains the various incidental sources from which cash was received during the year. These funds have been turned over to the State Treasurer, and his receipt taken as appended.

The aggregate of the purchases of all ordnance stores and camp equipage during the year, is shown in consolidated schedule marked "C." The brevity of this list is attributable to the fact that, since the first year of the rebellion, the relative proportion of military stores purchased, to the total quantity required for purposes of equipment, has been steadily reduced to its present point. Nearly all supplies intended for the volunteer service, can now be obtained by requisition upon the appropriate bureaux of the War Department.

A consolidated list of the ordnance stores, clothing and camp equipage, received during the year from officers of the United States, is given in Statement "D."

Statement "E" is a condensed schedule of articles received from all sources, other than those heretofore mentioned.

Statement "F" indicates the issues during the year, of military property to U. S. Arsenal, Depots of Clothing and Equipage, and organisations of Connecticut volunteers in United States service.

Statement "G" presents the total issues of ordnance stores and camp equipage to the State Militia during the year.

The inventory of public property in the State Arsenal, on April 1st, 1864, is shown in Statement "H."

Statement "I" designates all State Militia organisations, cities, schools and individuals charged with public military property, April 1st, 1864. It also specifies the articles with which each stands charged.

THE STATE ARSENAL

Has remained during the past year under the efficient direction of Capt. Chas. L. Duncan. The Militia Law of 1862, provides that "There shall be allowed the sum of four hundred dollars per annum as compensation for an Armorer, who shall be appointed by, and subject to the orders of the Quarter-Master-General."

Not having been able to find a competent and suitable person to perform the duties prescribed by law at that compensation, no Armorer has been appointed. In the absence of such an officer, it has been found necessary to keep the Arsenal in charge of an assistant, appointed in accordance with Section 19, Law of 1862.

Even if it were practicable to obtain the proper person, who should take charge of the State Arsenal on a salary of four hundred dollars a year, it might not be desirable; and if undesirable should not the law be amended?

Any person properly performing his duties in this position, will find all his time occupied. He is called upon to exercise the best talent of the mechanic, to be thoroughly acquainted with the construction of arms and ordnance stores of every description, and with the best methods of storing and handling all kinds of military property. He must also possess an accurate acquaintance with the theory and practice of property accounts, as upon his daily reports depend of necessity, the accuracy of the property accounts of this office.

Above all, the custodian of public property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, should be a man of the most scrupulous integrity.

It can not be supposed for an instant, that four hundred dollars per annum approaches to a living compensation for a man thus qualified, especially in these days. A salary which is not a compensation may, under suitable circumstances, prove a temptation. It is therefore believed that the policy which dictates the continuance of the office of Armorer at the present salary, is questionable.

REPAIRS OF ARMS, &C.

A considerable amount of repairing upon military stores of all kinds has been performed at the Arsenal during the past year. This has extended through nearly the entire stock of articles now in store.

Quantities of old infantry, cavalry and artillery belts, cartridge boxes, cap pouches, pistol holsters, belt plates, &c., &c., which have heretofore been repeatedly issued to militia, and have subsequently been charged over to old and unserviceable stock, have been put in excellent repair, so that nearly all the military property in the Arsenal is to-day in every respect fit for issue, in amount sufficient to arm and completely equip about five thousand, and to arm and partially equip six thousand five hundred men, exclusive of the active militia at present organised.

The following memorandum will indicate the main results of work in Arsenal repair shop during the year.

MEMORANDUM OF ARTICLES REPAIRED AND CLEANED.

6,376 Whitney Rifled Muskets.

280 Altered Muskets.

14 Cadet Muskets.

37 Flint Lock “

50 Colt's Revolving Rifles.

4,026 Cartridge Boxes.

1,700 “ Box Plates.

4,307 Cross Belts.

1,600 “ Belt Plates.

4,411 Waist Belts.

1,600 “ Belt Plates.

4,234 Bayonet Scabbards.

2,500 Cap Pouches.

549 Knapsacks, enamelled leather.

In order to meet the increased demands upon the space of this portion of the Arsenal, the shop has been doubled in size by removing the wooden partition which formerly separated it from the store rooms.

UNSERVICEABLE PROPERTY.

There is at present in the Arsenal a very considerable accumulation of military stores, which have been so entirely worn out by use as to be no longer serviceable, and beyond improvement from repair. These should be publicly sold to the highest bidder, as they have ceased to be valuable for issue. The Quarter-Master-General has not felt himself authorised to dispose of stores in this condition in the absence of any orders to that effect. It is respectfully suggested to your Honorable body that the Commander-in-Chief be authorised by law to order, from time to time, the sale of such property under the regulations governing such cases in the U. S. Army, or such other regulations as may be compatible with the best interests of the State.

APPROPRIATIONS OF MONEY REQUIRED.

An appropriation will be required to cover indispensable repairs upon the Arsenal, during the present year. The amount required will be communicated at an early day after the commencement of the session. If this is to be the permanent Arsenal of the State, an appropriation of Fifteen thousand dollars will be necessary in making such alterations as will put it into proper condition for its intended purpose.

Attention is invited to the remarks of the Auditors on the subject of the State Arsenal, as presented in their report, hereto prefixed.

STATE MILITIA.

There exists at present, among the State Militia, a want of a due sense of personal responsibility in the care of military stores. This need hardly excite surprise, under a system as burdensome to officers and men as our present one, and so long as it lasts no change for the better can be expected.

A suitable military system should fix such a responsibility upon every officer to whom public stores are turned over, as can be made available against him with the least possible delay, for the value of all articles carelessly lost or neglected by him.

The manner by which such a responsibility may be enforced most practicably, will depend upon other general provisions of the Militia Law.

Any improvement in this respect under the present law, being regarded as practically impossible, no suggestions with this in view are now offered. Should any be desired by your Honorable body, they will be presented with reference to the general features of any proposed course of legislation on the subject of the active militia.

Under Section 63, Militia Law of 1862, "Every company that shall conform to the provisions of this act shall be allowed, out of the treasury of the State, the sum of one hundred dollars per annum as rent for a suitable armory and drill room, in which to preserve their arms and military equipments, and as compensation for cleaning and keeping in good repair the same; also the sum of ten dollars annually for the storage of any field piece in the hands of any light artillery company, and the Comptroller of the State shall draw an order for such sum, on a certificate from the Quarter-Master-General, that such companies are in possession of such suitable armories as aforesaid, and that no injury has been done to any property of the State therein deposited." Such order to be made payable to the commanding officer of such company.

This provision has operated most injuriously. A sum of money, generally insufficient for the purposes designed, is fixed by law as a compensation to every company wherever located. Furthermore, the condition under which it is to be granted must, in frequent instances, either compel the Quarter-Master-General to give a certificate not strictly in accordance with facts, or to delay payments by withholding such certificates until the facts warranting their execution can be clearly established.

The requirement of such a certificate is not in itself objectionable. It is intended to enforce a due sense of responsibility upon commanders of companies.

Nevertheless, if such severe restrictions are to be imposed, they would be more acceptable where a suitable and just remuneration to companies should hold out inducements for them to exercise diligence in the preservation of the public property in their hands. In many of the smaller country towns, the annual rent of the best obtainable armory and drill room, and the expense of keeping arms in order, may be less than one hundred dollars; while in the larger towns or cities, militia companies, the members of which are often poorly able to afford it, are compelled to tax themselves perhaps five times that amount for armory rent alone—not to mention the expenses attending the care of arms, &c., stored therein.

Thus, on the one hand, money is thrown away; while on the other a burden is imposed which, though it may have been willingly accepted under the excitement attending the new organisation of a company, soon becomes onerous in a degree constantly increasing. The result which sooner or later almost inevitably follows is the breaking down of all interest and spirit in the company, the utter neglect of attention to public property in their charge, and the virtual or actual disbandment of the organisation.

All contracts for armory rent of militia companies should be executed under the direction of the General of Division or of some designated staff officer at State Military Head-quarters, who should be held responsible for the faithful and judicious performance of this duty.

Reference is made in this communication only to those portions of the Militia Law, the operations of which bear a special connection with the duties of this office.

Other points in which its burdensome nature is necessarily proving fatal to the practical working of any efficient militia system will undoubtedly be presented to your consideration from the proper quarters.

Your attention is respectfully invited to that portion of the Law of 1862, (sec. 34,) which makes it the duty of brigade inspectors, or persons temporarily acting in that capacity under orders from brigade head-quarters, to perform annually the inspection of armories and gun houses belonging to their brigades.

The annual inspection of armories, gun houses and their contents, should be under the direction and control of the Quarter-Master-General, in his capacity as the chief Ordnance officer of the State.

This inspection, by law, immediately precedes (as it should) the settlement of claims for annual armory rent. It should be performed under direction as above stated :

Because the payment of armory rent is already based upon his certificate as to the condition of the armory and its contents.

Again ; the connection between the form of the property accounts of this office and the Inspection Reports of each armory is necessarily such, that any deviation from uniformity is liable to cause confusion and error in the accounts.

Again ; in taking inventory of property on hand in an armory, brigade inspectors unfamiliar with the nomenclature of all the articles which they inspect, frequently report some of them under incorrect designations, thus causing correspondence to this office otherwise unnecessary, and delay to the company concerned in receiving its certificate.

Furthermore, this inspection being made as recommended is likely to be at least as thorough as when performed by brigade inspectors, and it also would afford a very convenient opportunity for instruction to company officers, upon all points relative to the care and proper use of the particular style of arms and accoutrements in their charge.

FURTHER SUPPLIES OF ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

The State is now fairly supplied with field artillery.

In case the Legislature of this session should contemplate an increase in the number of the active militia to any given standard, appropriations from the treasury may be required in order to provide an adequate supply of ordnance stores and camp equipage.

Reference to the accompanying statements of such property on hand, will indicate the amount still required to arm and equip any given number of men in excess of the number already provided for.

ORDERS AND RESOLUTIONS FROM GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The following resolutions have been received from the General Assembly during the past year, and their directions attended to.

No. 1. Directing the delivery of muskets and accoutrements to Wm. P. Greene, of Norwich.

Approved, June 25th, 1863.

No. 2. Directing the delivery of muskets and accoutrements to S. J. Horton, of Cheshire.

Approved, June 25th, 1863.

No. 3. Directing the delivery of a gun and carriage to D. D. Mallory, of Mystic Bridge.

To Emory F. Strong of Bridgeport, muskets and accoutrements.

Approved, July 1st, 1863.

No. 4. Directing the delivery of muskets and accoutrements to Edward B. Jennings, of New London.

Approved, July 1st, 1863.

No. 5. Directing the delivery of muskets and accoutrements to F. W. Gunn, Washington, Conn.

Approved, Nov. 13th, 1863.

THE RELATIONS OF THIS AND OTHER MILITARY DEPARTMENTS OF THE STATE WITH THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT.

Since the commencement of this rebellion, the business relations of the several military departments of the State with the General Government at Washington have, while involving great labor, also been of practical benefit in reducing to an uniform system the methods of transacting all business of a military nature.

The work of preparing the accounts of this State against the General Government, for re-imbursement of expenses of every nature incurred on behalf of the Government in the prosecution of the war, was performed by Adjutant-General H. J. Morse.

The third installment of this account, embracing claims up to March 31st, 1864, is now in course of preparation. Its results, so far as they concern this office, will not be indicated in season to be included in this communication.

Inasmuch however, as this subject has not been referred to in former Reports, it has been deemed worthy of public interest to exhibit here so much of the general account as will show at a glance the aggregate amount of war material furnished by the State since the commencement of the rebellion and up to March 31st, 1863, the date of last installment rendered.

This is exhibited in the schedule designated "K."

COL. ALMY'S REPORT, ETC.

Attention is invited to the accompanying report of Col. J. H. Almy, the Agent of this State, stationed in New York.

Thousands of Connecticut officers, soldiers and citizens can bear willing testimony to the helpful services rendered by Col. Almy, under varied circumstances.]

Ever since his entrance upon office, he has shown the utmost activity and vigilance in the discharge of duties the more laborious because of their great variety.

I take this occasion to extend sincere expressions of high appreciation and thanks, to Capt. (now Adjutant-General) H. J. Morse, and to Capt. J. S. Gilman, (late Quarter-Master 22d Connecticut Volunteers,) for their most valuable assistance in the performance of the duties of this office during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM A. AIKEN,

Quarter-Master-General.

APPENDIX.

REPORT OF COLONEL J. H. ALMY.

NEW YORK, March 1, 1864.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL WM. A. AIKEN,

Quarter-Master-General of Connecticut.

GENERAL: During the past year, the duties and labors of this Department have been steadily on the increase, requiring a large clerical force and commanding a large share of my time and services.

It will be impossible to give a minute detail of these labors; embracing the wants and necessities of many hundreds of our soldiers in the hospital, on furlough, or discharged; the application, by friends, for aid to such as have been disabled or wounded on the field, and the many thousand requests, by letter or personal solicitation for the discharge, the transfer, or the improved interests of those in camp.

A very large number of citizens of Connecticut, and soldiers, have personally applied to me during the past year, for assistance or advice on nearly every subject relating to their friends in our various regiments; while the number of applications for letters which would permit civilians to visit regiments in the field, has largely increased. In the above estimate, I do not include the many hundreds of soldiers who were passing through New York with Veteran regiments, or other detachments.

During the summer of 1863, the necessarily stringent regulations of the military authorities of this city, caused a large number of arrests of Connecticut soldiers who were returning to their regiments, and whose furloughs had expired but a few hours. Such were arrested as deserters, although they were able to give a satisfactory explanation of their delinquency. I am happy to state that I was enabled to release them from their imprisonment and to provide them with means of transportation to their places of destination.

Very many soldiers have also applied to me for aid, because their furloughs were defective or informal and they were consequently unable to avail themselves of its privilege or procure government transportation, although properly entitled to the same. Much time has been occupied in correcting these defects.

From nearly all the hospitals in the country, have letters been written me by Connecticut soldiers asking that the Surgeon's attention might be directed to their particular case, and urging a medical examination which would procure either their final discharge or a return to their regiments. The number of those who have thus received early attention and consideration can be estimated at several hundred.

The Invalid Corps was organized in June, 1863. Many Connecticut soldiers were transferred to this corps, who were capable of active service (as subsequent examination proved,) and notwithstanding their request that they should be returned to their regiments, were obliged to remain in the new organisation. Appeals were frequent for my assistance, from those who felt that the associations of two years campaign were now to be denied them and forgotten. In some instances I have been enabled to procure the transfer of such to their old regiments, although this has been attended with much loss of time and labor. Representations were made to the War Department, and an Inspector has been appointed for the purpose of returning to their regiments such as may be fitted for active duty.

A larger number than heretofore of discharged soldiers have during the past year, applied to me for aid in reaching their homes ; many of these had received their full pay from the Government, but had lost their money or been robbed before reaching the city. To such I have extended all the assistance required ; have provided them with transportation to their homes ; and have given them such amounts of money as their necessities indicated.

The efforts referred to in my last report to prevent frauds upon our returning soldiers when passing through this city, have been almost entirely successful, and with few exceptions, no complaints have been made to me by our soldiers of losses sustained after they have reached New York. The prompt prosecution of offenders I am happy to state, has made this city comparatively safe for that class who have hitherto suffered from impositions practiced.

Not the least onerous of my duties has been the forwarding of remains of deceased soldiers from the southern military departments, and elsewhere, to their relatives in Connecticut ; the larger proportion of such having been consigned to my care, or sent for at the personal solicitation of relatives and friends.

I have written nearly five thousand letters in reply to soldiers or citizens of Connecticut ; and this number would have been much larger, had I not used the telegraph instead. My telegraphic correspondence has increased three or four fold.

Many citizens of Connecticut who desired to visit their sick or wounded relatives in hospital or on the battlefield, have had an impression that, by application to me, free transportation and a sufficient amount of money to defray their expenses would be furnished them, expecting that such disbursements would be assumed by the State ; and after reaching New York have made appeals to me for aid to continue to their places of destination. As those were not legitimate State expenses, and as a majority of the applicants were wives or mothers of the disabled, I have defrayed the same from my private funds. Instances of actual charity of this nature are of frequent occurrence, and I see no way by which such can be prevented; but the relation which I hold to the State as its representative in New York renders it quite impossible to decline responding to these urgent appeals.

I received my appointment as agent of the State in September, 1861, until January 1, 1862. I paid without any compensation, rent of offices, clerk hire, &c., devoting my services and time also, to the State without pay until June, 1862; and during the two years and nine months which will have elapsed in June next, my entire salary received from the State will amount to Two Thousand dollars. During this period, I have disbursed from my private resources, in charities to Connecticut soldiers and their families, more than the entire amount of salary thus received. As before stated, these charities were not of such a nature as to be considered legitimate State expenditures, and they have not therefore been presented in my account to the State.

In closing this Report, I desire to acknowledge myself under many obligations to the officers of the various military Bureaus located in this city, all of whom have extended facilities, by means of which I have been enabled to render to the State a larger degree of service. The State is also much indebted to Mr. Thomas C. Acton, and Superintendant Kennedy, of the Metropolitan Police, who have, at all times, generally extended a force to prevent straggling during the passage of Regiments and Detachments through this city.

REPORT

OF THE

FOR THE

R E P O R T.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT,
PAYMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
New Haven, June 16th, 1864. }

To His Excellency WILLIAM A. BUCKINGHAM,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR,—In compliance with your request of the 8th instant, I have the honor to present herewith a report of the transactions of this department during the year ending March 31st, 1864.

On the 17th of February, 1863, under your instructions, F. W. Northrop, Esq., was sent as a special agent to the Department of the Gulf, for the purpose of paying the officers of the 23d, 24th, 25th, 26th, and 28th regiments, from the date of their commissions to the date of muster into the service of the United States, as provided by a resolution of the General Assembly, approved December 24th, 1862. He returned early in April, having faithfully accomplished his mission, and afforded great satisfaction to the officers.

The non-commissioned officers and privates had previously been paid by the general government, which relieved this State from making the advance to them authorized by the resolution referred to.

Upon the passage of "An Act to provide for the Payment of a Bounty to Volunteers," approved November 13th, 1863, acting under your instructions, assistant paymasters were appointed, to be present at the office of the Board of Enrollment in the several Congressional Districts. They were furnished with blank orders on the Paymaster-General for the payment of ten dollars to each party procuring a recruit, also with orders for the bounty of three hundred dollars, which they were instructed to have properly executed, witnessed, and issued to each volunteer upon the certificate of the provost marshal that said volunteer had been mustered into the service of the United States, and credited on the quota assigned to this State under the call of the President for three hundred thousand men, issued October 17th, 1863. These orders were readily cashed by the banks. They were also provided with funds to make the first payment of ten dollars authorized under an act approved June 27th, 1861.

The plan adopted has proved a most successful one.

An Act approved January 15th, 1864, continuing the bounty of three hundred dollars, requires that the volunteers "shall be accredited to towns where they are enrolled or have their residence, as ascertained by the boards of enrollment." But a number have been credited by recruiting officers of the various regiments to other towns than those in which they were enrolled or had their residence, and they are thus deprived of the bounty so liberally provided by the General Assembly. It is a bitter disappointment to those who were not aware of this requirement, and considered the promise of the three hundred dollars a sure pledge; and as the State at large has credit for them, may it not be hoped that the Legislature now in session will make such provision as shall secure their payment? Some have already fallen, and will never again send in their anxious petition that this boon shall be granted them. Let it not be denied to their widows and orphaned children.

An act approved December 18th, 1862, exempts the bounty of volunteers from attachment and execution, but does not secure to their families, against the claims of creditors, whatever bounty may be due their estates.

The large number of recruits sent to Fort Trumbull has required frequent visits to the fort for their payment; but when the duties of this office would not permit my absence, Lieutenant O. L. Hatch, of the Seventh Regiment C. V., United States disbursing officer, has most generously lent his aid, not infrequently necessitating his labor during the night.

Under orders from the War Department of September 11th, 1863, volunteers who had been in service more than two years were, upon reënlisting, to be accredited on the quotas assigned to the different states. Therefore, in accordance with your instructions, the special agents appointed by your Excellency for the purpose of procuring the reënlistment of veterans in the field were furnished with the necessary rolls and orders for the payment of the bounty of three hundred dollars, and such funds as it was thought might be needed to secure the reenlistment of those who would only be induced by receiving cash in hand. The arrangements were most satisfactorily executed. The result of their labors is contained in the report of the Adjutant-General, and shows that the cost to the State was but one dollar and ninety-five cents for each reënlistment.

The disbursement of $3,566,390.87 is given in detail on the pages annexed, showing that, in addition to the payment of the regimental officers and State militia, the daily number of orders cashed has averaged 222, and daily amount of disbursements $11,888.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM FITCH,

Paymaster-General.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut :

THE undersigned has the honor to submit the accompanying statistical tables of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, for the year ending December 31st, 1863.

There has been a great falling off in the number of births registered, and we may anticipate a still further reduction during the present year. The number returned for 1863 was 9,885, less by 918 than the number reported in 1862, which was 10,803, and less by 2,049 than in 1861, when the registered births amounted to 11,934. Tolland County shows an increase of 28 births from the preceding year, all the other counties a greater or less diminution, but all the counties exhibit an excess of births over deaths except Middlesex, which reports 36 more deaths than births, so that the apparent natural increase of our population, or the excess of births over deaths, during 1863, was 1,443. In 1862, the natural gain was 2,262; in 1861, 4,199; and in 1860, it was 4,271.

The whole number of male births reported is 5,162; of female, 4,654; or as 110.91 of the former to 100 of the latter, being a little above the average ratio in this State from 1848 to 1862, shown in a table published in last year's report to have been 108.11 males to 100 females. An inspection of the tables shows that in New Haven County there was a larger percentage of males born during the year than in other parts of the State.

The greatest number of births took place in March, and, as usual, more occurred during the first half of the year, there being 5,002 from January to June, and 4,884 from July to December, both inclusive.

There were 101 instances of plurality births: in the counties of Hartford, 15; New Haven, 28; New London, 13; Fairfield, 13; Windham, 14; Litchfield, 7; Middlesex, 8; Tolland, 3;—in all, nearly as many as in 1862.

The number of births indicated as illegitimate was 91. Of these there were in Hartford County, 19; in New Haven County, 10; New London County, 20; Fairfield County, 8; Windham County, 9; Litchfield County, 12; Middlesex County, 9; and in Tolland County, 4. In 1862, the whole number of births of this class returned was 94; in 1861, 102; in 1860, 115; in 1859, 98; and in 1858, it was 89.

There were 174 colored births reported. The following table shows the number which took place in the several divisions of the State:

County.	Males.	Females.	Sex not stated.
Hartford,	6	19	1
New Haven,	24	18
New London,	17	20
Fairfield,	10	7	8
Windham,	5	5
Litchfield,	10	12
Middlesex,	5	2

Of marriages, 3,467 were registered, 234 less than in 1862, 290 less than in 1861, and 569 less than in 1860. Between parties both natives of the United States, there were 2,238; where both were foreigners, 813; and where one was a native and the other a foreigner, 242. Where the parties were colored there were 45 marriages, of which 7 were in Hartford County; 4 in New Haven; 15 in New London; 6 in Fairfield; 1 in Windham; 8 in Litchfield; 2 in Middlesex; and 2 in Tolland. No marriages were reported from the towns of Woodbridge and Sherman. The registrars of East Haven and of Danbury failed to give statistics of the residence and nativity of parties for the whole number of marriages which were solemnized in their respective towns. I had occasion to make the same complaint with regard to the registrar of Danbury in the report of last year.

Of deaths there were 8,442,—99 less than in 1862; 4,337 of the decedents were males, and 4,006 females, or 108.26 of the former to 100 of the latter. It was stated in last year's report, that, contrary to the general rule in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, more males died in Connecticut than females, and that the average ratio of deaths from August, 1847, to January, 1863, had been 101.28 males to 100 females, but one might naturally have supposed that while so many are absent in the army, the proportion of deaths at home of males to females would be below the average in ordinary times, instead of above as our statistics show to have been the case.

There were 150 deaths of colored people returned, as follows:

Counties.	Males.	Females.	Not Stated.
Hartford,	13	5	3
New Haven,	26	23
New London,	16	14
Fairfield,	9	19
Windham,	2	2
Litchfield,	5	3
Middlesex,	4	3

There were 2,829 deaths of children under 5 years of age, very nearly one-third of all the deaths reported. There were 81 more deaths than in 1862, between the ages of 20 and 30, and of these there was a smaller proportion of males than in that year. There was a greater number of persons who died above the age of 70 than in the year preceding, but fewer of those who had reached 90 and upwards; but four, two of either sex, had completed a century.

More deaths were reported from consumption than in 1862, and the number of deaths caused by zymotic diseases was also a little greater than in that year. Among the principal diseases of this class were diphtheria, resulting fatally in 618 cases, typhus and typhoid fevers in 427 cases, and Scarletina in 425.

Reports from registrars have generally improved in their character, presenting fewer deaths from causes unascertained and fewer cases of births and deaths where the sex was not stated than in former years, but there are still too many deficiencies in these respects, and there are a few registrars who are very careless in performing their duty. Complaint is made by some registrars of the neglect or refusal of physicians to make returns, but the law has placed in the hands of the registrar ample power to compel negligent parties to perform their duties in this regard.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that each certificate of birth and death must have a five-cent revenue stamp affixed; if this decision is correct, of which there may be some doubts, I suppose that the towns must pay the additional expense. The recommendation, several times heretofore made, is repeated, that the collection of statistics respecting births and deaths be left entirely to the registrars, believing, as I do, that the work would be better done and at less cost than by our present system. If more towns and cities would enact municipal laws for that purpose, as they are empowered to do by an act passed in 1860, the objects contemplated by our registration laws would be much more fully attained.

All which is respectfully submitted by

CHARLES J. HOADLY,

ACTS OF THE STATE OF CONNECTICUT,

RELATING TO THE

Registration of Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, 1852.

SEC. 1. That every town shall, at its every annual meeting, appoint a registrar.

SEC. 2. Every registrar shall make oath or affirmation that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office. He shall ascertain as accurately as he can, by actual inquiry, or in such other manner as is hereinafter provided, all the births, marriages and deaths occurring in his town, and shall make record of the same in a book or books kept by him for that purpose, in such form and with such particulars relating to such births, marriages and deaths, as the ensuing sections of this act require.

SEC. 3. His record of births shall state, in separate columns, the date of each birth, the child's name, if it have any, its sex, the names, ages, color and residence of its parents, and the occupation of its father.

SEC. 4. His record of marriages shall state, in separate columns, the date of each marriage solemnized in his town, the name, age, color, occupation and birth-place of each of the parties; the residence of each prior to and at the time of the marriage; the condition of each (whether single or widowed) immediately prior to the marriage; and the name and residence of the minister or magistrate by whom the parties are joined in marriage.

SEC. 5. His record of deaths shall state, in separate columns, the date of each death, the disease or other cause producing such death; the name, age, color, sex, birth-place, last occupation, residence and condition, (whether single, married, or widowed,) of the deceased.

SEC. 6. Every registrar shall amend his records, from time to time, as he may discover omissions or mistakes therein; and annually, on or before the twenty-fifth day of January, after having made his records as nearly perfect as by diligent inquiry he can do, he shall send the Secretary of State an abstract of said records for the year next preceding the first day of said January; which abstract shall be made in such form as shall be prescribed by said Secretary, and shall be duly attested by said registrar.

SEC. 7. Every physician or midwife, who shall have professional charge of the mother at the birth of any child, and every nurse or other attendant who may act as midwife at such a time, in a case where no physician or midwife is employed, shall, within one month after such birth, furnish to the registrar of the town wherein such birth may have taken place, a certificate signed by such physician, midwife, nurse, or other attendant, stating, from the best information which the signer of said certificate can obtain, the date of such birth, the child's name, if it have any, its sex, the names, ages, color and residence of its parents, and the occupation of its father.

SEC. 8. Every minister and magistrate shall keep a record of all marriages solemnized before him, and of all the facts relating to every such marriage, required by the fourth section of this act; and every such minister and magistrate shall, within the first week of every calendar month, return a copy of his said record, for the month next preceding, to the registrar of the town in which the marriages recorded in any such record may have been solemnized.

SEC. 9. Every sexton or person having charge of any public or private burial-place, shall, during the first week of each calendar month, deliver to the registrar of the town in which such burial-place is situated, a list of the names and dates of burial of the persons buried in such burial-place during the month next preceding.

SEC. 10. The physician who shall attend any deceased person shall leave a certificate containing all the particulars relating to said deceased, required by the fifth section of this act, within ten days after the interment of the deceased; and in case no physician shall attend said deceased, then it shall be the duty of the nearest of kin to procure a certificate from some other physician or substantial inhabitant, containing such information; and it shall be the duty of said nearest of kin to leave the certificate with the town registrar within fifteen days thereafter. Any such attending physician, who shall neglect or refuse to give the certificate required by this section, shall, for such offence, pay a fine of ten dollars, to the use of the town wherein such offence shall be committed.

SEC. 11. No person shall take the body of any deceased person out of the town wherein such deceased person died, without having first left with the registrar of that town a certificate, similar in all particulars to the one prescribed in section 10 of this act. And it shall be the duty of the registrar to give a permit for the removal of such body, when the above conditions are complied with.

SEC. 12. Every certificate given pursuant to sections 10 and 11 of this act, shall be in the following form:

I certify, from the best information which I can obtain, that _____ died at _____, on the _____ day of _____, A. D. 18____, aged _____ years, _____ months, and _____ days; Sex, a _____; Condition, _____;
 Born in _____; Residence at the time of death, _____;
 Disease or cause of death, _____; Occupation, a _____;
 Color, _____. Dated _____ this _____ day of _____,
 A. D. 18____. _____ Attending Physician, (physician or inhabitant of said town, as the case may be.)

SEC. 13. The registrar of each town shall distribute in such town, to all persons who, in his judgment, are likely to need the same, blank forms for the certificates and returns required by this act. And it shall be his duty to deposit with the town clerk a true copy of the record forwarded annually to the Secretary of State.

SEC. 14. The registrar of each town shall receive from its treasury, for ascertaining and recording in manner aforesaid, each birth, ten cents; each marriage, ten cents; and each death, ten cents; and for making and sending to the Secretary of State the annual abstract aforesaid, two dollars.

SEC. 15. If the registrar of any town die or resign during his term of office, the selectmen of that town shall, without unnecessary delay, appoint another person registrar in his place.

SEC. 16. The returns required by section 6 of this act to be made in January, 1854, shall include the births, marriages and deaths which have occurred between the first day of October, 1852, and the first day of January, 1853, in addition to those of the year 1853.

SEC. 17. The Secretary of State* shall annually prepare and furnish to the registrar of the several towns a sufficient number of blank forms for all the certificates and returns required by this act; shall accompany the same with such instructions and explanations as he may think necessary; shall receive said returns, and prepare or cause to be prepared therefrom, such tabular statements as will render them of practical utility, and exhibit their results in convenient form; and shall make report thereof, annually, to the General Assembly; and generally he shall do whatever may be necessary, to carry into effect this act.

SEC. 18. Every person who shall violate any provision of this act, shall pay for every such offence a fine of ten dollars, to the use of the town wherein such offence is committed.

SEC. 19. Sections 51, 52, 53, 54, and 55 of the "Act concerning Communities and Corporations," and "An Act in addition to and in alteration of" said last named act, approved June 21st, 1850, are hereby repealed.

* By a resolution passed in 1854, the duties of Secretary, in regard to registration were transferred to the State Librarian.

An Act in addition to an Act entitled "An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages, and Deaths," 1854.

SEC. 1. That any registrar who has been or shall be appointed in the manner provided in the act to which this is an addition, shall hold his office for the period of one year from the first Monday in January next succeeding his appointment, provided that any registrar who has been or shall be appointed under the 15th section of said act, shall hold his office until the first Monday of January next succeeding his appointment, and no longer, unless re-appointed thereto.

SEC. 2. If the annual abstract of any town, as provided for in the 14th section of said act, shall contain in the aggregate the record of more than two hundred names, the registrar of such town shall receive two cents for each name over said number of two hundred, in addition to the compensation specified in said act.

SEC. 3. Every physician or midwife who shall have professional charge of the mother at the birth of any child, and every nurse or other attendant, who may act as midwife at such a time in a case where no physician or midwife is employed, shall during the first week of the calendar month next succeeding such birth, furnish to the registrar of the town wherein such birth may have taken place, a certificate, signed by such physician, midwife, nurse, or other attendant, stating from the best information which the signer of said certificate can obtain, the date of such birth, the child's name, if it have any, its sex, the names, ages, color and residence of its parents, and the occupation of its father.

SEC. 4. The physician who shall attend any deceased person, shall, during the first week of the calendar month next succeeding such decease, leave with the registrar a certificate signed by him, and containing all the particulars relating to said decease, required by the fifth section of the act to which this is an addition; and in case no physician attended such deceased person, then it shall be the duty of the nearest of kin to procure such certificate from some other physician or substantial inhabitant of the town, and to leave it with the registrar within fifteen days thereafter.

SEC. 5. No person shall be joined in marriage until the parties or one of them shall make application to the registrar of the town in which such marriage is to be solemnized, or in case of his absence or inability, to the town clerk of said town, and shall give such registrar or town clerk information respecting the name, age, birth-place and residence of each of the parties, and this only. Such registrar, or town clerk, provided there is no registrar, as the case may be, shall, on payment of twenty-five cents therefor, issue his certificate that the parties therein named have complied with the provisions of this act, which certificate shall be a license for any judge, justice of the peace, ordained minister, or regularly licensed clergyman in said town, qualified under the laws of this State to join persons in marriage, to unite in marriage the parties therein named. Provided, that no registrar or town clerk shall issue his certificate as above, if such persons applying, or either of them, are under the control of parents or guardians, before he is certified of the consent of the parents or guardians.

SEC. 6. If any judge, justice of the peace, ordained minister, or regularly licensed clergyman, shall join any persons in marriage, without having first received a certificate, as provided for in the next preceding section, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred dollars.

SEC. 7. It shall be the duty of the person who shall join any person in marriage, to endorse upon said certificate the fact, time and place of such marriage, with his signature thereto, and to return the same with his endorsement thereon, to the registrar of the town in which the same was issued, during the first week of the calendar month next succeeding such marriage, and upon neglect thereof he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars.

SEC. 8. All certificates and records required by this act, or by the act to which this is in addition, shall be deemed and taken as sufficient prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained.

SEC. 9. All fines and penalties which shall accrue for any violation of the provisions of this act, or of the act to which this is in an addition, shall be for the use of the town within which the offence is committed, and it shall be the duty of the registrar of such town, and he is hereby empowered, to sue for and prosecute the same before any appropriate tribunal.

SEC. 10. Sections one, four and five of chapter I., title VII., of the Revised Statutes, being an act concerning domestic relations, and such parts of the act to which this is an addition, as are inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 11. This act shall take effect on and after the first day of January, 1855.

An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1855.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Assembly convened :

That every physician, midwife, or other person whose duty it is to certify to births and deaths according to the 3d and 4th sections of an act relating to the registration of births, marriages and deaths, and every sexton or other person whose duty it is to furnish the list of burials to the registrar, required by the 9th section of said act, approved July 1st, 1854, shall receive as compensation for each certificate so given, the sum of twenty-five cents from the treasurer of the town in which such birth or death may occur.

Approved, June 1, 1855.

An Act in addition to an Act entitled "An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths."

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Assembly convened:

SEC. 1. That no person shall be joined in marriage, until the parties, or one of them, shall make application to the registrar of the town in which such marriage is to be solemnized, or in case of his absence or inability, to the town clerk of said town, and shall give such registrar or town clerk information respecting the name, age, birth and place of residence of each of the parties, and this only; and such registrar, or town clerk, provided there is no registrar, as the case may be, shall on the payment of fifty cents therefor, issue his certificate that the parties therein named have complied with the provisions of this act, which certificate shall be a license for any judge, or justice of the peace of said town, or regularly licensed clergyman qualified under the laws of this State to join persons in marriage, to unite in marriage the parties therein named, within said town, and there only; provided, that no registrar or town clerk shall issue his certificate as aforesaid, if such persons applying, or either of them, are under the control of parents or guardians, without the consent of such parents or guardians.

SEC. 2. Every registrar who has been or may be appointed in the manner provided in the act to which this is an addition, shall hold his office for the period of one year from the first Monday of January next succeeding his appointment, and until another is appointed in his stead; provided, however, that any registrar who has been or may be appointed under the 15th section of said act, shall hold his office until the first Monday of January next succeeding his appointment, and until another is appointed in his stead.

SEC. 3. If any town in this State has failed at its last annual meeting to appoint a registrar according to the provisions of said act, it shall be the duty of the selectmen of said town, or a majority of them, without unnecessary delay, to appoint a registrar for such town, who shall hold his office until the first Monday of January, 1857, and until another is appointed in his stead, and on failure thereof, said selectmen shall forfeit and pay a fine of twenty dollars, one-half thereof to the use of him who shall prosecute to effect, and the other half to the use of said town.

SEC. 4. Whenever in any town any birth or death may happen, concerning which no certificate shall be returned to the registrar of said town, according to the provisions of said act, or of the act of 1854 in addition thereto, in such case it shall be the duty of such registrar to obtain the information required by law respecting such birth or death, for which service he shall be entitled to the compensation given to physicians, midwives and other persons by the act relating to the registration of births, marriages and deaths, approved June 1st, 1855.

SEC. 5. The act in addition to an act entitled "An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths," approved June 27, [29] 1855, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved, July 2, 1856.

An Act in alteration of an Act in addition to an Act entitled "An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths."

General Assembly convened:*

SEC. 1. That whenever any registrar or town clerk of any town in this State shall issue his certificate as provided in section 1, chapter 76, of an act entitled "An Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths," passed in 1856, if the persons applying for such certificate or either of them are minors under the control of parents or guardians, unless the consent of such parents or guardians is first obtained according to the provisions of said act ; said registrar or town clerk, knowingly issuing such certificate without such consent first obtained, shall forfeit and pay to the treasurer of this State the sum of sixty-seven dollars.

Approved, June 27, 1857.

An Act in addition to an Act entitled “An Act in addition to an Act relating to the Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths.”

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Assembly convened :

SEC. 1. That any town or city may enact municipal laws more effectually to attain the objects contemplated by the act to which this is in an addition ; provided, the same do not conflict with the main and specific objects of said act, viz. : to procure the most perfect registration of the facts therein required.

SEC. 2. The registrars of towns in which such municipal laws may be enacted, are hereby required to comply with and execute all the provisions of such laws, under the same oath and penalties as are now required by the act to which this act is an addition.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect on its passage.

Approved, May 30, 1860.

REPORT
TO THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
MAY SESSION, 1864.

Printed by Order of the Legislature.

J. M. SCOFIELD & CO., STATE PRINTERS.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
OF CONNECTICUT.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the State :

THE Bank Commissioners, having, in accordance with law, visited the Banks, Savings Banks, and Building Associations of the State, respectfully submit their Annual Report.

There are in Connecticut at the present time, seventy-two (72) Banks of Discount and Deposit, exclusive of the Phoenix Branch at Litchfield, their aggregate capital amounting to the sum of $20,606,962.00.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' Bank of Hartford, Elm City, of New Haven, and the Farmers', of Bridgeport, have organized under the National Banking law, thus decreasing the number of State Banks, and the capital of the same, by the amount of $1,376,100.00.

No new State Banks have been organized during the past year.

The Capital of several of the Banks varies from year to year by the addition or withdrawal of School Funds or Funds of Ecclesiastical Societies, and in some cases the calling in of unpaid Capital Stock, as in the case of the Winsted Bank.

The additions are as follows :

Bank of New England, - - - -	$1,500
Bridgeport Bank, - - - -	2,300
Bridgeport City Bank, - - - -	3,760
Citizens', - - - -	600
Danbury, - - - -	100
Exchange, - - - -	2,550
Farmers and Mechanics,' - - - -	150
Home, - - - -	1,595
Hurlburt, - - - -	5,000
Merchants, Norwich, - - - -	1,172
Middlesex County, - - - -	2,100
New Britain, - - - -	86,920
Saybrook, - - - -	500
Whaling, - - - -	2,000
Windham, - - - -	1,500
Windham County, - - - -	4,000
Winsted, - - - -	17,947

East Haddam Bank, - - - -	$480
Manufactures', - - - -	6,700
Pahquioque, - - - -	100
Tolland County, - - - -	5,000

Besides the withdrawal of the capital of the reorganized Banks before referred to.

At the time of compiling this report, we understand that three others of the State Banks contemplate reorganization as Government Institutions.

The Commissioners have endeavored to keep the Banks from violating in spirit or letter, the laws of the State. But under various pleas and excuses several of the Banks have disregarded the statute with regard to "specie reserve" and circulation.

The Banks in larger cities especially, find it impossible to comply with the law requiring their capital to be loaned in the State. The law has been practically a dead letter for many years. We recommend its modification or repeal.

The case of the Ætna Bank, of Hartford, deserves especial notice, on account of the position taken by the President of that institution, who has recently sold twenty thousand dollars of gold. He avows his determination to substitute, as he has done, legal tender notes in the place of specie, and claims he is thus complying with the spirit of the law. In all other cases of infraction of the law, the officers have either replaced the minus quantity or promised to do so at once, upon our making the demand.

The near approach of the Legislative Session induced us to defer action in the case of the Ætna Bank, and submit the subject to your consideration.

By law, the State Banks are required to keep on hand at all times an amount of gold and silver coin or bullion, at least equal to one-tenth the circulation of said Banks.

We have as far as possible enforced this provision of the statute, and most of the banks have had no desire to evade or disregard the law on the subject.

This law was passed many years since, and of course long before the present crisis in our national affairs.

The circumstances of the case have materially changed since its enactment. It is claimed by some that since its passage and during the present crisis, legal tender notes have been substituted in the place of specie and thus become its equivalent, which in the redemption of the circulation of the Banks has become a legal tender therefor, thus rendering the gold and silver in the Banks of no essential service to the bill holders.

The Banks, in some cases, we apprehend, so long as the present statute upon the subject remains unchanged, will resort to borrowing specie, and thus effectually evade its intentions and the objects of its enactments.

To make it efficient, the law should be amended so as to make it obligatory upon each Bank to be the bona-fide owner of its coin.

The question as to the policy or necessity of continuing the law, is variously regarded.

There is certainly quite little enough of gold and silver in our Banks, and the idea is a popular one that they should retain at least the little they have, for the wished for return of specie payments.

It is claimed by very many that the Banks are largely taxed, and are threatened with still heavier burdens; that the tax already imposed upon both their circulation and income is heavier than upon other interests, and that this addition to their state and municipal taxes leaves them barely a remunerative business, and is greater than Banks in ordinary times are able to pay, and make fair dividends to the stockholders.

It should also be remembered that no specie restriction is placed upon the Government Banks of the State, with which they are brought in competition.

From these and other considerations, it is claimed on the one hand that the substitution of a liberal per centage of legal tender, in the place of the specie clause, will be of equal safety to the public interests and be an act of leniency towards State institutions merited by their position. We agree in opinion, that the Banks of this State do not merit any stringent legislation against them, either on account of a lack of security to the bill holders or their management.

The system peculiar to the Banks of New England, of redeeming their currency in Boston, has proved an ample protection to the bill holders in past times, and will be a guarantee for their security in the future.

While those institutions on the other hand, whose circulation is not redeemable at any one of the great commercial centers of the country, will throw upon the bill holders the responsibility of ascertaining the solvency of the banks at a distance and the expense of distant collections.

During all their existence our Banks have been conducted in a spirit of loyalty and patriotism, and a large amount of the School Fund of the State is invested in their stock.

Their recent coöperation with Banks in other States, in raising the credit of the General Government to its present high position, will be remembered as attesting their ability and disposition.

Our Banks being the offspring of the agricultural, mercantile and manufacturing business of the State, have become so intimately interwoven therewith, that each mutually sympathizes with what materially affects the other. Hence public legislation hostile to the one, is detrimental to all the others.

The fruits of labor during many years have been invested in the capital of our chartered Banks, the stock of which has long been a favorite depository of the funds of religious, charitable, and educational institutions, and of persons retired from active life, and of those disqualified by various reasons from acting for themselves.

We therefore claim that the interests of these institutions are identical with the interests of the people, and that as far as is consistent, legislation should be favorable to them—furthermore that the State should stand by them, protecting them as far as possible from partial legislation, and from unequal taxation.

There should, in justice, be no discrimination by which National Institutions are exempted from any of the burdens of taxation to which the State Banks are subject.

With regard to the State Banks which have re-organized under the National Law, we have to report that since the change they have continued, more or less, the use of their former issues of bills.

The law passed May Session, 1863, seems sufficiently explicit with regard to the closing of their affairs, and the withdrawal of their old issues.

There has been great delay of receiving their new bills—and for a time after their re-organization, they were compelled to use their old circulation, if any.

We, however, have insisted upon its withdrawal as fast as presented; and the officers of the several National Banks in the State which have been changed from State institutions, have agreed to conform to our instructions, and comply with the law.

The following in the amount of circulation of the three re-organized Banks reported.

Elm City, April 16,	-	-	-	$380,000.00
Merchants & Manufacturers, April 19,	-	-	-	283,267.00
Farmers, April 1st,	-	-	-	181,000.00

These Banks are now receiving, from time to time, their new bills from the Treasury Department, and it is to be supposed that they will rapidly retire their state issues.

So long as these banks continue, in any degree, their former business and use their former bills, or rather until their circulation is withdrawn, they will, in a measure, be subject to the examinations and scrutiny of the Bank Commissioners.

The circulation of the State Banks, April 1st, 1864, was $11,869,701.00.

This should be diminished rather than increased.

We believe that in most cases, the reasons given for the excess over legal limits are either imaginary or fictitious, arising more from a desire to accumulate large earnings than from the necessity, (urged in most cases,) of thus aiding the Government by advancing currency to pay soldiers, bounties, &c., &c.

Most of the Banks have conformed to the law, although it will appear from the appended tables that many have been over the limit.

The Banks, during the past year, have made unprecedented earnings, added largely to their surplus accounts, and withal declared liberal dividends.

Most of the suspended paper which has incumbered their statements hitherto, has disappeared—either having been paid or charged off.

Most of the suspended debts connected with Railroads have proved good, and the assets reported April 1st, 1864, may, in the main, be termed “good and collectable.”

All the Banks have resumed the payment of dividends, except the Mercantile Bank, of Hartford, and the Winsted Bank, which have done a prosperous business during the past year and greatly improved their condition.

Many judicious men, regarding with apprehension the anomalous condition of public affairs, look upon this apparent prosperity as delusive, and predict that a crash impends, more severe than any which has preceded it. But we feel assured, that with the success of the arms of the Republic, and the return of peace, with the integrity of the government secured, all these fears alluded to will prove groundless, and that the Banks of Connecticut will maintain, (unless embarrassed by unfriendly legislation,) their soundness and prosperity.

The amount of domestic business paper decreases from year to year. The Banks in the larger towns and cities resort to New York for the purchase of notes, and this class of business has hitherto proved safe and profitable.

The Banks have shown every disposition to accommodate all their home customers before going abroad for discounts.

Notwithstanding their large amount of loans and discounts, they have met with scarcely any losses, and their business has been more prosperous and remunerative than at any former period.

The Banks of Connecticut are managed with great prudence and fidelity to the public interest, and that of the stockholders, generally by men of wealth, experience, and the highest integrity, who have retired from active business, and whose chief care is to manage wisely the institutions over which they preside.

It may also be stated, with great truth, that the Cashiers have proved themselves worthy of especial commendation, for the honesty, devotion, and marked ability with which they have discharged their responsible duties.

In this year of so great prosperity to the Banks and of such unprecedented earnings, the salaries of the officers should be liberally increased to make up, in a measure at least, for the depreciation of the currency and the enhanced cost of living.

Liberality in these times to the cashiers and clerks is alike the dictate of policy and justice, as it would be easy to demonstrate. We commend to directors of Banks at this time, who are disposed to withhold just additions to the pay of their salaried officers, frequent perusals of the Golden Rule and of the Scriptural reproof, "There is that withholdeth more than is meet, and it tendeth to poverty."

We commend these considerations not only to the directors of Banks, but to the trustees of the larger Savings Banks, whose officers are generally scantily remunerated compared with the vast magnitude of the interests committed to their care.

With regard to the law passed last year relating to the Banks being compelled to stamp all counterfeit, worthless, and altered bills—we recommend that it be so amended as to make it obligatory by a penalty, for cashiers to stamp all bills of this character which may be presented at their counters, in payment or upon deposit. This is the only true method to drive from circulation a large amount of worthless currency, and the law should be so amended as to accomplish it.

We should have mentioned in a previous connection that the amount of Government Securities held by the Banks April 1st, was $7,073,283.00.

In conclusion, we congratulate your honorable body upon the condition of the Banking institutions of the State, which more than justifies the sanguine predictions of our last report.

SAVINGS BANKS.

There were, January 1st, 1864, forty-eight Savings Banks in the State, whose united deposits amounted to the sum of

$26,954,802.73

Being an increase during the preceding year of 3,807,865.78

The number of depositors January 1st, was 116,681.

Number reported the preceding year, was 103,727.

Average amount of deposit for each person, $231.

The investments are as follows:

Loans on Real Estate,	-	-	-	$12,850,258.83
“ “ Stocks and Bonds,	-	-	-	1,994,657.11
“ “ Personal Security,	-	-	-	1,306,026.13
“ “ Bank Stocks,	-	-	-	1,598,014.00
“ “ Railroad Stocks and Bonds,	-	-	-	868,715.00
“ “ United States' Securities,	-	-	-	6,481,530.00
“ “ Real Estate and other Securities,	-	-	-	1,666,500.64

The Savings Banks of Connecticut are managed with great prudence and wisdom, and are safe depositories of the funds intrusted to their keeping and management.

The large amount of Government Securities they hold will be noted.

All are interested directly who have deposited their funds or savings in these institutions in preserving the unity and integrity of the government, upon which rest all the financial interests of the country.

The deposits of the Savings Banks, it will be observed, are rapidly increasing and their affairs are in a most satisfactory condition.

SAVINGS BANKS AND BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

By the operation of the statute forbidding these institutions, on and after January 1st, 1862, to receive deposits, the amount of the same has been rapidly decreasing from that time.

Amount of deposits remaining, 1862,	$692,752.83
“ “ “ 1863,	339,449.46
“ “ “ 1864,	27,419.11

The most part of the balance now due, of deposits, is to parties these banks are unable to find ; otherwise, it is safe to report, that before this the whole amount would have been paid.

The following named institutions, by settlement with their stockholders, and withdrawal of the deposits, disappear from our Report, viz. :

Bridgeport Mutual Savings Bank and Building Association.
City Savings Bank, New Haven.

Collinsville Savings Bank and Building Association.

Manchester Savings Bank and Building Association, Manchester.

Mechanics Savings Bank and Building Association, Bethel.

The Farmers and Mechanics Savings Bank of Norwich, make no return.

It is certain that with another year, these institutions will be virtually wound up, and the public so far paid as not to require their further appearance in the Annual Report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut :

THE General Railroad Commissioners beg leave to lay before your honorable body their Eleventh Annual Report of the condition of the Railroads and Railroad interests of our State, and also of their doings during the year, in obedience to the requirements of law.

The Commissioners during the year, and at different periods, have examined and carefully inspected all the Railroads in the State, their tracks, bridges, switches, crossings, workshops and rolling stock, and have endeavored to fulfill all the duties which appertain to their appointment.

The Commissioners congratulate the Legislature and the public upon the generally healthful and prosperous condition of the roads in this State, as well as the safety in which they have been operated. The year now closing has not been marked by any serious disaster to their immense freight of human life and property. Their business has been generally conducted so as to meet the great purposes for which they were chartered, and the public have as a rule, been both benefited and accommodated.

It has been the purpose of your Commissioners to secure from each of the companies as complete returns of their doings in all departments as it is possible to obtain, in order that both the Legislature and the public should be advised of their true position, that suitable legislation may be provided to protect both the State and the corporations. The Commissioners regret that in some instances failures in important items prevent them from making up such a general summary as is advisable to show the relative positions of particular roads and their business, or the state of all of them, for a series of years. This in part is owing to their connections with the Railroads of other states, thus necessitating an incompleteness and delay in their returns. Our Railroads form an important chapter in our history other than merely financial, and it is believed by your Commissioners, that the history of these enterprises should be as perfect and complete in itself as the nature of the case will admit of.

Personal safety has claimed the constant attention of the Commissioners. The system of safe-guards adopted by law and by the experience of years, while it does not entirely prevent accidents, is still esteemed the best under the circumstances that can be applied to the present system of conducting Railroads.

The Commissioners have, as far as possible, kept this system up to its former standard, and by personal inspection, satisfied themselves that all necessary signals and warnings have been in constant position and working at the points of danger, upon all of the roads.

Notwithstanding these precautions, they have to report a slight increase in accidents resulting in death, over the previous year.

It affords the Commissioners great gratification however, to state, that in a transportation of almost four million passengers during the year, none have been subject to serious injury while riding in the cars.

Public road crossings,—nearly one thousand of which are found in the State,—are, and have been esteemed great points of danger to life and property, requiring the utmost vigilance of Railroad operatives, and the public who use these intersecting points of the Railroad and the highway.

But the system of "Warning Boards" placed in prominent positions, the sounding of the locomotive whistle before reaching them, and the alarm of the engine bell, have so far protected the public, that your Commissioners have to report but two instances of casualty at these points of danger during the year. The most prominent cause of disaster to life is found in the habit of walking upon the track of the roads, notwithstanding the knowledge of the danger and the repeated warnings which the Reports of the Commissioners furnish. The Table of Accidents appended shows that in thirty-eight cases of fatality, twenty persons have been killed or injured by selecting these places of danger for travel or rest.

As these accidents, from a careful investigation, prove to be the result of carelessness on the part of the victims, your Commissioners can not recommend any change in the law which would prevent this exposure of life and personal safety, yet they can not but express their deep desire that some more efficient means for preventing this yearly record of disasters from this cause might be discovered. Another fruitful source of accidents is found in jumping on and off the cars while they are in motion. The number of persons injured from this cause during the year has been fifteen, being an increase in this class of nine over the previous year. Five have fallen from trains in motion while occupying dangerous positions, against the published warnings of the Companies.

Intoxication is a prominent cause of disaster. Although the Tables show but nine cases, yet it is to be remembered that only those instances of known and apparent intoxication are recorded as such. The number is probably much larger, but your Commissioners have hesitated to place any case under this head from probable evidence, and have only assigned this cause, when in their judgment the evidence has been clear and unmistakable as to the fact of intoxication.

Much credit is due the Companies and those having charge of trains, for the care which has been exercised over the lives and safety of the great number of persons who have been transported over their roads. The large number of soldiers often requiring extra trains for their accommodation, has called for an increased vigilance, which your Commissioners are happy to report has been appreciated and met by the Companies.

The facilities for business afforded by our Railroads have been as ample as the general wants have seemed to require. But few complaints have reached the Commissioners, and the most of those were such as to require no official action upon their part, under the law. The complainants have generally yielded to the necessities which were created by the position of things, modified and harmonized as far as possible by the advice of the Commissioners.

In a few instances the action of the Commissioners has been called for to secure better accommodations for certain localities, but these have been either beyond their power to act in the premises, or of such a character that a change to suit the convenience of these localities might be more detrimental to others than the benefits appeared to warrant.

Among them was an application from the citizens of the town of Wallingford, requesting some action which would afford passengers at that point better facilities for leaving and returning. A similar application had previously been made to the Board of Railroad Commissioners, whose action was submitted to the Legislature in their annual Report to that body. The present Commissioners are unable to discover any power to provide for what these citizens claim to be a necessity, that did not exist at that time, and we therefore declined to act upon their petition.

There are needed improvements in the grounds and Depot buildings on some of the roads, both for the convenience and safety of the public. They are not adapted to the wants of the community, nor have the Companies enlarged or increased their convenience, commensurate with the increase of business at the points of their location. The situation of the Depot at Willimantic, now jointly occupied by the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill, and New London Northern Railroad Companies, and the present arrangements of the tracks on either side of the same, renders it one of the most inconvenient and unsafe Stations in the State. The Commissioners have heretofore urged upon the Companies the importance of some improvements at this point, and have been informed that it was their intention at some future time to make a change which would remedy existing evils. In the opinion of your Commissioners this needed reform has been too long neglected, and they now recommend to the Legislature some action which will hasten the required improvement at this place.

Under the law of the last Legislature the Companies have been enabled to alter some of the more dangerous and inconvenient curves upon their roads, rendering their operations more safe, as well as to enlarge and improve their Depot accommodations, without serious damage to the rights of individuals. Under the existing provisions of the Statute, there can be but slight apologies for neglecting to make the points, or Stations, where the public communicate with the roads, reasonably safe and convenient. The Companies who refuse or neglect to do this should be required by the Legislature to make such changes as appear absolutely necessary for the safety and convenience of the public.

Increased facilities for business interests have been given, by the opening of the Rockville road, which has commenced operations during the year, particular notice of which will be found in another paragraph.

The road now in process of construction from Berlin to New Britain will increase these facilities in the central portion of the State where it has its location.

The road now being graded from Thompson to Southbridge, in Massachusetts, will, when finished, add to the traveling and business conveniences now enjoyed by our citizens of that locality.

There is also a road being constructed from Putnam, forming a connection with the Norwich and Worcester Railroad at or near that point, to Willimantic, it being a continuation of what has been known as the Midland Railroad, and forms a part of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad. This, if completed, will afford new facilities for our citizens living between these points, to reach with greater expedition and more directly, the centers of business in our own State as well as those of Boston and New York.

When these are in operation, few, if any of the States, will give to all of their citizens so perfect a system of inter-communication, or such direct channels of outlet to their industry.

The general condition of the Railroads in the State is equal to what it was at the rendering of our last Report. The track, generally speaking, is in good working order, although not as much new iron has been laid, more having been subject to repairs. The bridges have been kept up to a safe standard, and have received the closest attention of the Commissioners. No extensive additions have been made to the rolling stock, although it has been kept in a good state of repair.

The total amount expended for maintenance of way during the year has been $579,943.35, an increase over last year of nearly twenty-six per cent., or a total of $119,622.85; which is an evidence that the general condition of the roads has not been neglected or suffered to materially depreciate.

The Commissioners have in former Reports spoken specifically of each road, of the time, of its charter; its capital stock; length of line; its point of departure and terminus; and its general as well as special character.

It is not deemed to be necessary to repeat these facts, or to set forth the peculiarities in the condition of each road in the present Report.

The Commissioners have observed carefully all needed additions, renewals and changes, and have made such suggestions to the several Companies from time to time, as to them seemed to be required.

The capital stock invested in these corporations has been increased by the addition of $172,350.00 during the year. This increase arises from the creation of two new Companies, one of which has its road in successful operation.

The Rockville Railroad which was chartered in 1857, commenced operations in 1863. It commences at Vernon Depot, where it connects with the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, and terminates at Rockville, an enterprising and extensive manufacturing village in the town of Vernon, being a distance of four and eight-tenths miles. Its capital stock is $97,350.00, all which has been paid in. Its rolling stock is new and adequate to its present business.

The Commissioners were called upon in the month of January to examine it for final acceptance, and found it in a satisfactory condition. Its business thus far has exceeded the expectation of its projectors, and it bids fair to prove a convenient and profitable enterprise for the section in which it is located. It having been in operation but a short time, the Commissioners have not called for a full report of its doings.

The Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad Company was incorporated by the General Assembly, May Session, 1863, and soon thereafter perfected its organization. Since that time the Company has purchased the franchise and property of the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill Railroad Company, the Southern Midland Railroad Company, and the Thompson and Willimantic Railroad Company, all of which are now united in one corporation under the name of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad Company.

We are advised that said Company, since their organization, have already in purchases of lands, and in contracts for work, labor and materials, expended and contracted to expend nearly one million of dollars, in addition to the purchases above named, and are now making large expenditures in repairs and in preparation for and in construction of a double track upon a portion of their Railway, and are prepared to lay down the iron already purchased, on that portion of their line from Thompson to Southbridge, which line will be completed in a few months. In addition to this they have been making extensive and thorough surveys of the line from Mechanicsville to Willimantic and to the Hudson River, with the view to the early prosecution of the work of construction upon such portion of the line as is unbuilt, and of improving the line between Willimantic and Waterbury; and we are informed the Company will soon have a considerable force engaged in construction on the line between Mechanicsville and the Hudson River.

The project is one of anxious inquiry among our citizens, in view of its great importance to our State and country, if carried to completion.

Its prospects of course must depend upon the ability and vigilance of those who have engaged in the enterprise. If our information is correct concerning its doings thus far, and in view of the very short time which has elapsed since the first purchases, the Company have certainly exhibited a commendable diligence in the prosecution of their project and fulfilling the purposes of their creation.

The New Britain and Middletown Railroad was chartered in the year 1852, capital $75,000, with the privilege of increasing the same to $100,000, and is now in process of construction, its grading having already commenced. It commences at New Britain, where it intersects with the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, and terminates at Berlin, intersecting with the Hartford and New Haven, and Middletown Branch Railroads, a distance of two and one-half miles.

Its capital stock is $75,000.00, of which $37,500.00 has been paid in. The Company has been duly organized by the appointment of Messrs. George M. Landers, Joseph Stanley, G. S. Hubbard, Henry G. Hubbard, and Henry E. Russel, as Directors; Henry E. Russel having been chosen President, and John M. Landers Secretary.

The location of the road finally adopted by the Company was approved by the Commissioners. It is intended to complete the road by the first of next August.

Some of the roads, as the New Haven, New London and Stonington, New Haven and Northampton, and the Naugatuck, have materially improved their general condition within the past two years.

The New Haven, New London and Stonington, have expended their entire earnings during the last year in outlays upon their road, making it more valuable, safe and efficient. These outlays are extraordinary and will not have to be repeated, but will increase the value of the road itself. But it needs an increase of its motive power, the absence of which deranges its trains, and the Commissioners have consequently recommended the addition of a new engine, and an additional amount of new iron to its track. This road, as well as the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill, is still operated by trustees, for the bond holders.

The roads, however, are not all deemed to be up to the general standard.

The Danbury and Norwalk Railroad, although it has been safely conducted since it commenced operations, yet the effects of a want of thoroughness in its construction are now being developed. The Company have been too sparing in their outlays for permanent improvements and the true interests of the road, and hence it will require a larger expenditure, and a more thorough, systematic and expensive repair, than would have been otherwise demanded.

The New York and New Haven Railroad has been worked almost to the extent of its present capacity during the year, and its iron track in some places shows its effect somewhat seriously. It will require a considerable outlay for renewals in this department the present season. It has however been operated with safety and for the convenience of the public.

The New London Northern Railroad Company have purchased the Amherst and Belchertown Railroad in Massachusetts, and propose to extend it to Montague, in Mass., where it will form connections with Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad, thus opening a continuous line through Vermont, and to the Canadas, giving them a direct communication with tide water at New London. It is believed that this purchase and extension will prove a valuable acquisition to the business of the road.

The Housatonic Railroad has completed a substantial arch bridge at New Milford, which the Commissioners have heretofore recommended, and to which allusion was made in their last Report.

With these exceptions no extraordinary alterations or improvements have been made, or are anticipated for the coming year.

The call of the General Government upon the people and business of all the loyal States has affected the Railroad enterprises of our State in some respects favorably. The transportation of troops and men engaged in the work of the General Government, in addition to government freight, has of course added to the work of the Companies, and measurably increased their receipts. But at the same time this state of affairs has added materially to the cost of working the roads. The enhanced value of labor, the increased price of all material which goes to make up the outfit, and which is consumed in the working of the roads, present a large increase of necessary expenditures, as compared with former years.

But your Commissioners are of the opinion that a comparison of facts will tend to show that a much greater business can be done at a less comparative cost than the experience of the past has led the managers of this branch of business to suppose. With the facilities now enjoyed, even a larger business can be accomplished, and if in the same reduced ratio of cost, then with a proportionate increase of profit to the Companies. The extent of capacity of our Railroads has not yet been fully tested.

The position of our State makes her connecting lines of railway a necessity, and these lines have proved their capacity not only to perform all the necessary extra service called for by their position in these extraordinary times, but have been able to meet the demands which our home industry and the local wants of our people have required of them.

The gross earnings of all the roads for the year which closed with our last Report, will give some idea of the increased business which has been transacted by them; while a classification of the sources from which their receipts have come, will indicate the channels of increase.

The increase of gross earnings over the last year amount to the sum of $1,112,959.00; the total of gross earnings being $4,786,250.70, against $3,673,291.70 for last year. It should be remarked that in this calculation there is probably too much increase allowed to the New Haven and Northampton Road, taking both parts. As the returns are made to us at so late a day, the Commissioners have had no time to find a perfect account of their doings, which might vary these results a trifle.

Of the two general sources of income by these corporations, that of passenger travel shows an increase of nearly one million of persons transported over the roads, which, as compared with last year, gives an increase of nearly twenty-eight per cent.; while in the freight department there has been an increase of tons carried of only a trifle over nineteen per cent. The returns of the Companies do not give the gross receipts in these departments separately, but it is presumable from the ratio of increase in each class, that the increased income must arise largely from the passenger travel.

This increase in receipts can be due only in part to the enhanced rates of transportation, for as a general rule, these have not kept pace with the increased cost of all things necessary to keep the roads in successful operation, although some of them have raised their rates to as high a point as their interests would seem to allow.

That the working of the roads has been conducted with a due regard to economy appears from the increase in net earnings, notwithstanding the greatly increased price of labor, and all the materials of which the roads and their outfits are composed.

The tables show an increase of net earnings over last year of nearly forty-eight per cent., or a total of $548,168.55.

The net earnings upon all the roads are thirty-five per cent. upon the gross earnings, while last year they were but a trifle over thirty-one per cent. These figures in themselves show what has been indicated in former reports, as one of the important means of success for all our Railroads, and that is, a due regard to economy in little as well as in the great things connected with their management.

It has been the aim of the Commissioners, and in their judgment it is the purpose of the law, to give a yearly exhibit of the items of cost and income upon each road. This may, and probably does, awaken the managers to the economical facts produced by the different corporations, so that the tendency is to reduce to the lowest standard of a true economy, which would not on the one hand endanger the safe working of the roads, or depreciate their value; and on the other, would enable them to transact the business of the people at the lowest standard of rates, and not show them to be otherwise than safe and remunerative investments.

It is not probable that the true and safe economical limit has been reached by all, but it is however believed that they will as a whole compare favorably in this respect with the Railroads of other states.

The large increase in working expenses arises from several sources. The greatest increase per cent. of any one item is that of fuel, being an advance of $110,000 over last year, or thirty-nine per cent. The majority of our engines consume coal. The greatly increased price of that commodity has measurably raised the value of wood, so that to furnish motive power and meet the wants of those departments in which fuel is a requisite, an enlarged cost is apparent.

The increase of the salaries of agents and employees is perhaps next in order. This, with the incidental charges belonging to this department, shows it to be $158,513.56 over the previous year, or about thirty-one per cent.

The third item embraces an increase for the maintenance of way, and amounts to $119,622.85 over the former year, or nearly twenty-six per cent.

The fourth item deserving notice under this head, is for the maintenance of motive power, the total being $418,699.-98, against $349,961.19, it being a difference as compared with last year of $68,938.79, or nearly twenty per cent. This arises not only because of a scarcity of mechanical labor, involving the highest prices for such as is requisite, but because of the increased price of everything which the roads fashion into form for their needs. Like the item of fuel, this increase is unavoidable.

The following table will show the total increase of gross receipts, and the rate per cent. of such increase, over the former year, as well as the increased expenditures, with their rate per cent. in the working of each road. The lessees of the New Haven and Northampton Railroad rendered no returns of its income last year to the Commissioners, hence no comparison can be given of the two years as connected with their road.

ACCIDENTS.

The following list will show the accidents which have occurred during the year, embracing a statement of the dates of each, the names of the persons injured, and the cause or causes of the injuries, being brief extracts from the records of the Commissioners. They will be found classified under their appropriate headings in the tables.

April 24th, 1863. Jerry Gearry, an employee on the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, was caught in his clothing by the crank of a hand-car and thrown down upon the track with such violence as to break his arm and severely bruise his body.

May 7th. Nelson Bolles, an employee on the New London Northern Railroad, in attempting to couple an engine to a car, was caught between them, receiving injuries which finally resulted in death.

May 22d. Mrs. William Roberts, while upon the track of the New York and New Haven Railroad, was struck and instantly killed by a passing train. She was driving a cow at the time, which seemed to engage her whole attention, and apparently did not notice or think of her perilous situation.

June 2d. Chester Lewis, of Bristol, was instantly killed at "Sheldon's Crossing," on the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad. He was riding in his carriage at the time, when suddenly his horse became frightened by the train, and being unable to manage him, the horse rushed into the train, throwing Mr. Lewis out upon the track with great violence, and the wheels passed directly over him.

June 19th. James McGrath, a boy, was killed upon the Housatonic Railroad, near the dock in the city of Bridgeport. In attempting to jump on board while the cars were in motion, for the purpose of switching upon another track, he fell under the wheels.

June 29th. Patrick Kelly, in the employ of the Hartford and New Haven Railroad Company, as a night watchman at one of the street crossings in Hartford, in an effort to jump on board a passing train from Springfield, about three o'clock in the morning, fell under the wheels and was instantly killed. He had been in the service of the Company sixteen years.

July 2d. Horace Huntley, a brakeman, in the employ of the New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, was instantly killed at Meriden. He was in the act of uncoupling cars while in motion, missed his hold and fell between them, the car wheels passing over him. He had been particularly cautioned against his method of detaching cars, as being dangerous.

July 4th. Joseph Hogan, while returning from Hartford in the evening, fell from the cars of the Hartford and New Haven Railroad, near Wallingford. He was sitting upon the steps of the platform asleep. His injuries were serious and he lived but a short time.

July 4th. Patrick Clark, in attempting to get upon the cars of the Naugatuck Railroad while in motion, near the town of Stratford, slipped from the steps and fell under the wheels, injuring one leg so severely as to render amputation necessary. He was badly intoxicated at the time.

July 6th. A man whose name was supposed to be George Ferlon, was run over and killed near Westport, by an extra engine which was running over the New York and New Haven Railroad. He was lying upon the track at the time of the accident. There was found in his pocket a discharge from the army, by reason of insanity.

July 29th. Samuel G. Jackson was run over and killed by the midnight train near Windsor Locks, on the New Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad. Jackson was a man of intemperate habits, and was intoxicated at this time.

July 29th. William Buckly was killed by the noon express train on the New Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad, at Thompsonville. He was in the habit of walking up the track from dinner on train time, and had been frequently cautioned against this dangerous practice. When struck he was attempting to cross in front of an approaching train.

August 3d. John Bashun was killed by an engine while it was backing down from the engine house to the Depot in New London, on the New Haven, New London and Stonington Railroad. This accident occurred in the evening, and Bashun was supposed to be lying upon the track in a state of intoxication.

August 18th. Porter W. Davis, in the employ of the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad Company, in attempting to couple cars at Hartford, was caught between the bumpers and so seriously injured that he died on the 22d of the same month.

August 26th. Patrick Kelly, a young man about sixteen years of age, was run over and instantly killed by a freight train on the Naugatuck Railroad at Waterbury. As the train approached the Station he jumped on board, and in attempting to get off, fell under the wheels.

August 29th. Nathan A. Smith, a deaf mute, walking upon the track of the Naugatuck Railroad, was instantly killed by a freight train near Stratford Junction. Owing to a sharp curve in the road at this point, the engineer of the train was unable to see the unfortunate man until quite too near to prevent the collision.

September 3d. Simeon Norton was fatally injured at Hartford, while coupling cars, by being caught between the bumpers. He was in the employ of the New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company.

September 15th. Richard Downs, while loading iron on the Housatonic dock, in Bridgeport, was struck by a freight train while it was switching, and seriously but not fatally injured.

October 30th. Dennis Cahill, an Irishman, was struck and instantly killed by the 4.30 P. M. passenger train from New Haven, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, between Southport and Westport Stations. He was walking upon the track, and the night being very dark, he was not discovered by the engineer until close upon him.

October 6th. William C. Chapman, seventy-five years of age, deaf and blind, was instantly killed by the 3.20 P. M. Special train from Norwalk, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, a short distance east of Darien Station. At the time of the accident he was crossing the track just in advance of the approaching train.

October 23d. Henry Cook, a lad, was struck by the locomotive of the Sunday evening mail train, on the New York and New Haven Railroad at East Bridgeport. He was at play with other lads about some freight cars standing upon a side track. As the train approached, young Cook attempted to cross the main track. He was severely bruised, but not fatally injured.

October 29th. Thomas Barrows, Jr., of Rockville, was instantly killed at Hartford, by the evening express train from Springfield, on the New Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad. He was a passenger on board the train from Springfield, and rode in the baggage car. As the train neared the Hartford Station, he left the baggage room to go into the passenger car, and was not seen again until found lying upon the track badly mutilated. It is believed that he fell between the cars.

October 31st. Michael Daly, while upon the track of the Canal Railroad, was run over and instantly killed in New Haven. This accident occurred in the evening; it being very dark, he was not discovered by the engineer in time to stop the train.

November 10th. Patrick Carter was instantly killed by the midnight train upon the New Haven, New London and Stonington Railroad, near Hamilton street, in the City of New Haven. He was lying upon the track, and was supposed to be intoxicated.

November 11th. Michael Scanlan fell from the door of a freight car on the New Haven and Hartford Railroad, near New Haven. He was seriously injured, rendering amputation necessary, and died soon after.

November 14th. Thomas Haley, a boy, while running beside a moving freight train on the Naugatuck Railroad at Ansonia, became dizzy and fell under the cars, the wheels passing over and crushing one leg, rendering amputation necessary.

November 21st. Benjamin Rambo was struck by the locomotive of the 8 A. M. express train from New York, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, at the road-crossing about one mile west of Stamford, and instantly killed. It was raining quite hard at the time, and Mr. Rambo being in a covered carriage did not observe the train, there being a curve at this point. As the train came around the curve the engineer saw the carriage approaching the crossing and sounded the alarm whistle, but failed to arrest Mr. Rambo's attention.

December 22d. Daniel Cronan was killed at New Britain, on the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, in attempting to get upon the cars just as they were starting from the station for Hartford. He was crushed between the station platform and the cars, and was said to be under the influence of intoxicating liquors at the time.

December 25th. John Fahey, a passenger upon the 2.05 express train out of New Haven, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, jumped from the cars near Washington bridge, injuring him to such an extent that he survived but two days. He was intending to stop at New Haven, but fell asleep and was carried past, and upon discovering the fact leaped from the cars.

December 26th. Michael Moran, in attempting to get off the train just after it had left the station at Stamford, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, fell, and a portion of the wheels of the car passed over him, injuring him to such an extent that he died on the 27th. He stepped on to the platform to talk with a passenger, and attempted to leave the train after it had started. He was badly intoxicated at the time.

December 30th. Mrs. Hill, from Bridgeport, in attempting to leave the cars at Stratford Station, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, before the train had come to a full stop, fell and broke her leg. It seems, upon investigation, that she was cautioned by the station agent, and by some one on the cars, not to attempt to leave while the cars were in motion.

January 1st, 1864. Frank Hubbard, of Port Chester, an employee of the New York and New Haven Railroad Company, in attempting to get upon an express train while in motion, near Stamford, fell and was so severely injured that he lived but a few hours.

January 23d. A man by the name of Brown was found dead about 9 o'clock in the evening, on the track of the New York and New Haven Railroad, about one mile east of East Bridgeport. He was a man of very intemperate habits, and from a broken rum bottle found in his pocket, it is supposed that he was intoxicated. It is not known what train killed him.

February 5th. Thomas Cleary, an employee of the New Haven, New London and Stonington Railroad, in attempting to jump upon a platform car at Groton, slipped from the car, it being covered with ice, and went under the wheels, and was instantly killed. He had been in the employ of the Company but five days at the time of the accident.

February 6th. William O'Brien, a member of the 5th Conn. Volunteers, was struck by a locomotive on the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, near Forestville, and so severely injured that he died on the 8th. He was lying upon a bridge intoxicated, and was not seen by the engineer in time to prevent the accident.

February 6th. A child named Alfred Smithson, about 3 years of age, was run over and killed, at Thompsonville, on the New Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad. He was playing in a culvert, and raised up just before the train reached him. He could not be seen by the engineer in time to stop his train.

February 11th. Julius Numarke, of Hartford, in attempting to get upon the cars of the New London and Northern Railroad, at Norwich, after the train had started from the station, lost his hold and fell under the car, the wheels passing over him. His injuries were such that he survived but a few hours.

February 11th. A boy named McGrath, was so seriously injured near Hamilton street, New Haven, on the New Haven and Hartford Railroad, that he lived but a few hours. In company with other boys he jumped upon the freight train which had stopped to switch at the Junction. The men in charge of the train heard some one crying, and upon examination, found this boy caught between the bumpers.

February 13th. William Payne, 13 years of age, attempted to jump upon a freight train as it was approaching the station at Cornwall Bridge, on the Housatonic Railroad, and missing his hold, fell under the cars, the wheels passing over one leg, injuring it to such an extent that amputation was necessary.

February 25th. Lemuel Smith was instantly killed by the 10 A. M. train from Bridgeport, on the Naugatuck Railroad, near Plymouth. He was lying upon the track intoxicated, and was not seen by the engineer in time to prevent the accident.

February 29th. Joseph Billington, a soldier belonging to the 5th Conn. Reg't, in an effort to jump on board the train while the same was in motion at Waldo's Station, on the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill Railroad, fell under the wheels and was so severely injured that he died soon after.

March 4th. Gad Pond was struck by the locomotive on the Providence, Hartford and Fishkill Railroad, near Terryville, and instantly killed. He had been subject to fits from his youth, which had seriously impaired his mind. Pond was sitting upon the track, and from his appearance was supposed to be in one of his spasms at this time. The accident occurred at a curve in the road, which prevented the engineer from seeing him but a short distance.

March 11th. Patrick Hickey was struck by the 4.30 P. M. train out of New York, near Milford, on the New York and New Haven Railroad, and so severely injured that he died soon after. The engineer stated that in passing through the cut and curve at that point he saw a man step from the track the train was upon, and at that moment the freight train was passing in an opposite direction. He thinks he was thrown from one train against the other. It was quite dark at the time.

March 21st. Hezekiah Wheeler, seventy years of age, was instantly killed at the old Station at East Haven, on the New Haven, New London and Stonington Railroad. It seems upon investigation, that he was in the habit of going to get his New York paper, which was thrown off at this point. At the time of the accident he attempted to cross in front of an approaching train. As he stepped upon the track he stopped to look at the train, and seemed bewildered and confused.

April 8th. Michael Connely, in an attempt to jump through between some moving freight cars in the car yard of the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill Railroad, in Hartford, fell under them and was instantly killed.

The following table will show a classification of the accidents the past year. It may not be improper to add in this place that the whole number of persons injured upon the different Railroads within the limits of Connecticut during the last ten years, is 328. Of these were passengers, 26; employees, 69; insane, 10; children, 30; intoxicated persons, 71. Causes, walking or lying on the track, 162; jumping on and off cars while in motion, 41; falling from cars, 15; at road crossings, 22. Of the whole number of these casualties 221 were fatal; not fatal, 107. The largest number attended with fatal results in any one year, are those of the year now closing. During this space of ten years there has been but one passenger life sacrificed while riding in the cars, although a few have been killed by jumping or falling from the trains while the same were in motion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ABSTRACT

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING MARCH 31st, 1864:

COMPILED BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE ACT OF MAY SESSION, 1861.

J. M. SCOFIELD & CO., STATE PRINTERS.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE, }

To the Honorable General Assembly:

IN compliance with a requirement of "An Act in addition to an Act entitled 'An Act concerning Prisons,'" passed at the May Session, 1861, the Secretary of State has prepared and herewith transmits an abstract of the Returns concerning Jails, for the year ending March 31st, 1864.

The whole number of commitments during the year, is 1562. This exhibits an apparent increase of 62, over the preceding year. But a considerable number of these commitments have been made by military authority,—for the temporary detention of deserters, &c. No separate return has been made of the number so committed, except in the county of Fairfield, (where there were eighty seven.)

The average number of prisoners in confinement at one time, in all the jails in this State, has been 180.4.

Respectfully submitted.

J. HAMMOND TRUMBULL,

OF

DRS. WILLIAM H. COGGSWELL AND WILLIAM M. WHITE,

STATE AGENTS FOR CARE OF SOLDIERS.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY WILLIAM A. BUCKINGHAM,
Governor of the State of Connecticut :

Your agents would most respectfully report, that they have given their undivided attention to the business of their mission, which is, as is well known, to visit the sick and wounded soldiers belonging to Connecticut regiments in the general hospitals of the country, to cheer and to comfort them and to do for them all that can be done consistent with the regulations and interests of the service.

They have visited nearly all the general hospitals along the coast, extending from Narraganset Bay to Florida, embracing the one at Portsmouth Grove in Rhode Island, the one in New Haven, the various hospitals in and about New York, Newark in New Jersey, Philadelphia, York, and Gettysburg in Pennsylvania, Baltimore, Frederick, Sandy Hook, Cumberland, and Cherrysville in Maryland, in and about Washington and Georgetown in the District of Columbia, Alexandria, Hampton, Chesapeake, Portsmouth and Harper's Ferry in Virginia, Hilton Head and Charleston in South Carolina, and St. Augustine in Florida. They have also visited many of the posts, camp, and regimental hospitals in various parts of the country.

Your agents would bear cheerful testimony to the excellent condition which the General Hospitals were found, and to the ability, skill, and general kindness, with few exceptions, with which those, whose misfortunes have placed them in these institutions, are treated by the officials, and to the patient and cheerful endurance of the men themselves. It has been a source of much pleasure to them to witness the great improvements that have been made in the buildings used as military hospitals during the last year, and the improvements manifest in their general management.

Your agents, in their last annual report, had occasion to speak in no very complimentary terms of what was then known as the convalescent camp in Virginia, but they are now happy to be able to speak of it in different language from what they could then conscientiously do. It is now used as a camp of distribution and is in most excellent condition, under the best of regulations, with new and extensive barracks, with a good general hospital connected therewith, and instead of being, as then, the nursery of vice and abode of filth, it is a pattern of neatness and good order; and your agents believe that the discipline, though strict, is kind, and every attention is paid to the moral and physical wants of the men, calculated to make them comfortable and happy, and that they are promptly returned to their regiments as the interests of the service require. Connecticut men were found here as in nearly every hospital, visited in greater or less numbers, and to these has their attention been directed—most of whom have been visited many times during the year, and every little attention has been given them, such as procuring furloughs, transportation, back pay, &c., &c.; but it has been a leading object with your agents to procure, as far as possible, the transfer of Connecticut sick and wounded to their own State for treatment; and in the accomplishment of this object they have been eminently successful, having obtained the transfer of nearly all Connecticut men, especially those who have been long in service, to the Knight General Hospital, New Haven, thus bringing them within the reach of friends and many kindly influences which could hardly reach them in hospitals abroad. Here the patients are receiving professional and moral treatment, not inferior to that furnished at any similar institution in the country, while the physical wants of the men are well and carefully provided for.

There were in the hospital at New Haven, on the first day of May, 1863, four hundred and sixty-two patients, seventy-nine of whom were other than Connecticut soldiers. Two thousand two hundred and eighty-six were admitted during the year just closed, of whom one thousand nine hundred and eighty-three were white and three hundred and three were colored, making two thousand seven hundred and forty-eight who were inmates as patients, two thousand one hundred and fifty-seven of whom were Connecticut men, and five hundred and ninety-one were soldiers of other States. Of the above in round numbers, eight hundred have been returned to duty in their regiments, one hundred and fifty have been assigned to duty in the invalid or veteran reserve corps—a considerable portion have been transferred to other hospitals, eighty-three have been discharged from the service, seventy have died, thirty-eight of whom were white and thirty-two colored, and four hundred and thirty-two remain in hospital, three hundred and ninety-two of whom are Connecticut men. It is here to be remarked that a considerable portion of the above were never in the army proper at all, but were admitted here from the conscript camp in the State. All the colored were of this class. No one can fail to notice the great disproportion of deaths among the colored, which your agents can but attribute to the fact, that a very considerable portion of them never should have been admitted into the service, ranging from beardless boys of fifteen or sixteen summers to old broken down men of over seventy years of age. To this cause may be added the fact that while in camp at Grape Vine Point measles and pneumonia in a malignant form appeared among them and unfortunately proved unusually fatal, thus swelling the bills of mortality to unusual proportions.

Your agents would further report the military hospitals of the country as very thinly peopled at this time; those near the seat of war especially, have, by transfers north, by restoration to duty, by discharges from the service for disability, &c., been nearly emptied, thus leaving in this region ample provision for all the casualties of battle in the coming campaign and for the sickness which must inevitably fall, to a greater or less extent, upon the recruits who have recently entered the service under the late call for men.

No Government, perhaps, on earth ever made as liberal provisions for its armies, and especially for its sick and wounded, as ours. In all wars there must of necessity be much of unavoidable suffering, but in this there probably as little exists as ever did in any war of the same magnitude, for with the liberal provisions of the Government, and the great work done in this direction by those twin sisters of civilization and humanity, the Sanitary and Christian Commissions, war has been robbed of half its horrors, and the battle field, the hospital, and even the bed of the dying soldier, is rendered comparatively comfortable and happy.

In conclusion, your agents would confidently assure the friends of soldiers, and the people of the State generally, that no soldiers in the Union Army are better cared for than ours, and that no other State has as great a proportion of their sick and wounded within their own borders for treatment and restoration to health as Connecticut.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. H. COGGSWELL,
WM. M. WHITE.

COMMUNICATION.

HIS EXCELLENCY WM. A. BUCKINGHAM :

SIR :—I have received your letter of April 11th, in which you ask me “to place in writing the results of my observations,” (on the condition of the militia of the State,) “and any plan which I may have for securing an efficient military force;” and to say what “legislation I may think necessary to effect the object.”

In reply I have to say, that it seems to me to be clearly impossible to effect anything satisfactory under the present law, and for very obvious reasons.

We had, prior to 1848, a law that was purely coercive, which gave us a militia force of sufficient numbers, but of very poor quality. It was doubtless, the inefficiency, even to absurdity, of the militia of the State, which induced the Legislature of 1848 to exempt, for the first time in our history, all who chose to be released from this service, by the payment of one dollar only. The design seems to have been to get better material for the military force of the State, by including within it only those whose tastes and spirit should make them volunteers. This voluntary principle has been the basis of all our militia laws from 1848 to the present time; and they have all failed to secure either numbers or efficiency.

Our present law seems to combine some of the evils of both the coercive and the voluntary system. It exempts, on the payment of one dollar, the vast majority of those who are capable of bearing arms, and seizes on those who belonged to volunteer companies under the previous law, to constitute, without their consent, the nucleus of our military force; it subjects those who volunteer, to burdens which they did not anticipate, and for which they are not compensated, while it fails to ensure thorough discipline, by leaving its enforcement mainly to by-laws which the companies may choose to pass. A law thus partial and unjust, with the features of the voluntary and coercive systems so embodied in its organic structure as to work efficiently against each other, cannot be otherwise than in a great measure inoperative ; and it is a matter of wonder that the patriotism of those who compose our present militia, has still held them to their organizations in the face of all these discouragements, and, in many cases, under an amount of labor never before imposed upon a State militia, when not actually in the service of the United States.

The question now is, on which of these two bases, or on what combination of the two, we shall attempt to make a new law. The failure of the militia bill of last session, makes it unwise to try another on the coercive principle; and it is as certainly unwise, to leave matters of discipline to be enforced or not, at the will of companies or their officers. The conclusion is inevitable, that a militia law, to be successful, must, in the first place, hold out inducements adequate to secure the voluntary enlistment of a sufficient number of men, with the clear, previous understanding that the service, when undertaken, is to be enforced to the full, like other duties due to the State originally or by assumption. If the Legislature will not offer such inducements, it must resort to compulsion, or make the experiment of passing a year, and in these times, too, without a militia force. I make the assertion upon my knowledge of the feelings of both officers and men, and of the inadequacy of the present law for its own enforcement.

The State needs, I think, about a regiment in a County, or from six to eight thousand well trained men. Whether the number is to be larger or smaller, is a question of less importance than whether the force shall or shall not be perfectly instructed and trained. The training should equal any that is, or can be, anywhere given to citizen soldiers. A militia force, if not an utter folly, is for attack and defense, and it requires training in the art. With such training, the sword and the bayonet become defensive as well as offensive weapons; and, in the hands of those who are skilled in their use, against the unskilled, they are almost as defensive as the best coat of mail. If we would reach the end for which the State puts arms into the hands of the people, if we would avoid waste of life, even, we should give to our soldiers the requisite instruction in the use of these weapons. Similar careful and thorough training should be given in the use of the rifle—a weapon by which battles may be, and are, decided before hostile troops come within musket range of each other.

Our militia, then, should be not only most thoroughly drilled in the manual of arms as heretofore prescribed, and in all company, battalion, brigade and division movements, but they should, in addition, have the instruction and practice which is now given in France, England, and other European countries, in fencing with the sword and bayonet, and in rifle shooting; otherwise we shall make the great mistake of teaching our soldiers to carry their weapons easily and in an orderly manner into the presence of an enemy, without the ability to use them when they get there. To send men, with only the training which our soldiers have hitherto had, to meet soldiers as they are trained in Europe, would be simply to send them to carry a supply of arms to the enemy, and to lay down their lives in so doing.

To reach the desired efficiency, the law should require one evening, company drill in each of the months from October to April inclusive, or one each week during the same period, at the option of the company; one parade by company for a day in each of the months of May, June, July, and, perhaps, August; a regimental drill of one day in August or September; a regimental or brigade encampment of five days in September or October, with the substitution once in two or three years of an encampment by division; and an officers' drill of five days in each year. All these drills should be enforced by fines and other penalties, and thorough action should be ensured by monthly reports in detail, from companies, by condensed reports quarterly from commanders of regiments, by semi-annual reports from the commanders of brigades, and by an annual report from the Major General to the Captain General. Each of these times of drill would have its special and appropriate class of duties to be specified by the law, or in general or special orders from the proper authorities. The evening drills should be devoted to the manual of arms, and to bayonet and sword exercise, under instructors supplied by the State.

The burden of this service would be by no means light, and the State should relieve those who assume it of all the pecuniary expense and loss incident to it. There should be an annual allowance, paid at the close of each year's service, for the expense of procuring uniforms, and a reasonable compensation for time spent in drill and encampment. Thus far, the cost of our militia service has been very heavy to those who compose the force. From returns made in answer to inquiries addressed to commanders of companies, it is ascertained, that the average, annual, pecuniary outlay is not less than from twenty to fifty dollars per man, over and above what is received from the State. The cost in time and in necessary injury to business, is much greater. Our Legislatures for some years past seem to have been under the erroneous impression that the question was, whether the people should be taxed for the support of a militia system, or whether we should have a system without expense to anybody; whereas, the real question is, whether the entire property of the State, that receives from this system its ultimate protection, shall go, as now, almost wholly untaxed for it; whether the four hundred thousand people of the State, who receive the same protection for person, shall pay no share of its cost; while the whole expense of securing this safety to person and property is to be borne by the few young farmers and mechanics of small means, who render the necessary bodily, military service. Reason and experience equally show, that the State should, and must, furnish the uniforms, and pay for the time of those who serve in her militia. A tax sufficient for this purpose would not be burdensome, if properly laid. If placed as a commutation tax upon those liable to military duty, the ordinary wages of two or three days labor would be given to the State, instead of double that number of days now required of the militia by law, and of the five or six times that number, which some of our companies have been compelled by circumstances to give during the past year. Such a tax, if placed per capita on the people of the State, would be felt by no one, if laid on property, by none but those who most need protection from mobs and from other violence, and who are well able to pay for it.

Another inducement that should be held out by the State for enlistment in its militia, is thorough instruction in the use of the bayonet, the sword, and the rifle. Close observation will convince any one that one of the discouraging conditions under which our militia is now placed, is their own feeling that their military education is a very imperfect and inefficient one, making them in their own eyes and in the view of others, only a kind of parade soldiers. The instruction furnished should be of the best description, and the men should be still further stimulated to improvement by public exhibition in drill rooms and on target grounds, and by prizes awarded to the most proficient.

There is still another inducement which the Legislature might at its coming session, on the recommendation of the Executive, request and instruct its Representatives in Congress to endeavor to procure from the General Government; and that is, an amendment to the Conscription Law of March, 1863, that should allow any State to exempt from a longer than three months service to the General Government in any one year, one-sixth, or some other portion, of its enrolled men, on condition that they should be organized and drilled in accordance with the United States regulations; should be on duty and in camp not less than a prescribed number of days in each year; should be fully equipped with arms, ammunition, and camp equipage, and ready to move at the shortest notice, in answer to a requisition of the President. Such an exemption would not only fill up our State militia to the highest desirable number, but, operating, as it no doubt would, in the same way in other States, it would furnish the General Government with what it has been in pressing need of several times during the past three years,—and what it will need again, no doubt, during the continuance of this war,—a force ready at call, by which the President might, without notice to the enemy, locate or augment a force for a sudden blow at any point where it might be desirable. Such an amendment would lay the foundation of a uniform and effective militia system throughout the States, and obviate the necessity which many begin to apprehend, of a large, permanent, standing army.

I am unwilling to close this communication without bearing my testimony, (after an official acquaintance of two years, and with a knowledge derived from personal intercourse, and, more recently, from written communications in reply to enquiries addressed to the commanders of companies,) to the patriotic feeling and the sense of duty which have held to this service both officers and men of our militia, under all discouragements; to their appreciative and faithful use of the opportunities for instruction furnished them by the State; and to the readiness with which they have answered unusual calls during the last year to do duty at armories, at the State Arsenal, and, on two occasions, at the United States Rendezvous for conscripts in New Haven.

A call to any active service whatever, by State or General Government, would show that the members of our militia are not such in order to escape any duty, but in preparation for any service to which they may be called.

I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. RUSSELL,

Maj.-Gen. Commanding Militia.

OF THE
Directors of the American Asylum,
TO ITS PATRONS AND FRIENDS.

IN presenting their Forty-Eighth Annual Report, the Directors have again the privilege of reviewing a year of general health and prosperity. The usual routine of labor has been steadily pursued, and the results of another year of study and culture, in the mental progress of the pupils, and in their preparation for the responsibilities of life have been marked and satisfactory.

At the date of the last Report, 218 pupils were in attendance. Since that time, 35 new pupils have been admitted, and four who were formerly members of the school readmitted, making the whole number in attendance within the year 257. The number now present is 220, while the average attendance has been 222.

Since the year opened, some important changes have taken place in the department of instruction. The Rev. William W. Turner, who for ten years has held the office of Principal of the Asylum, resigned his position on the 1st of August. Mr. Turner had been connected with the Asylum more than forty-two years; sixteen years as teacher, sixteen as teacher and steward, and ten years as Principal; and at the time of his resignation had been engaged in the instruction of deaf mutes for a longer period than any other person in the country. When he first entered the service of the Asylum in 1821, the school numbered but sixty-two pupils. With its subsequent growth and enlargement, with the arrangement and erection of its buildings, with its internal management, with the development of its system of Instruction, and with all the good work which the Asylum has accomplished during its long and useful career, he has been closely identified. In parting with Mr. Turner after so many years of faithful labor, the Board desire to place on record their appreciation of the eminent services he has rendered the Asylum, and their cordial wish that in retiring from his duties here, the evening of life may be as quiet and pleasant as its maturity has been active and useful.

The vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Turner, was filled by the appointment of the Rev. Collins Stone, to the office of Principal. Mr. Stone was for nearly twenty years a teacher in this institution, and subsequently for a period of eleven years has been at the head of the Ohio Institution for the education of the Deaf and Dumb at Columbus. The Board indulge the hope that under his management, assisted by the able corps of instructors now employed, the Asylum will prosecute its benevolent work with a success equal to that of former years.

Mr. Wheeler, a deaf-mute teacher, who had been for several years in declining health, felt obliged by increasing indisposition to tender his resignation on the first of November. He removed to Derby, Conn., in the hope that with rest and quiet, health might be restored. But the powers of life were too much exhausted, and he died on the 13th of December, in peaceful and triumphant hope of a glorious immortality. Mr. Wheeler joined the Asylum as teacher in July, 1844, and had been in its service nineteen years. He was a faithful and successful instructor, prompt and efficient in performing his duties, of courteous genial manners, and firm religious principle. His associates, and the pupils of the Asylum, while they mourn his loss, cherish his memory with warm affection.

Mr. Jacob J. Middleton, a graduate of the Ohio school, was employed to fill the vacancy occasioned by the retirement and death of Mr. Wheeler. Mr. Middleton has had a short experience as a teacher in the Iowa Institution, and promises to make a competent and useful member of the profession.

The general tone of health among the pupils during the year has been good. One death, however, has occurred, attended with circumstances of peculiar interest:—that of a young lady who though an inmate of the household, was not at the time a pupil. Miss Mary H. Armor entered the Asylum from Gainsboro, Ga., in March 1860, and remained till the close of the term in July, 1863, when in consequence of declining health, she left the school, intending to rejoin her friends. As the disturbed state of the country rendered this impracticable, she returned in September to spend the winter in the family, hoping that some opportunity might open which would allow her to realize the cherished desire of her heart. Her mind was deeply affected by the circumstance that since the war broke out, she had received no communication from her friends, and could obtain no information respecting them. These thoughts preyed upon her spirits, and without symptoms of acute disease, she gradually but rapidly declined, till on the 29th of February, she sank into the arms of death. It was a singular yet kind Providence which removed her from the turmoil of war to this distant and quiet home to be educated, and then returned her here to die, separated indeed from her family connections, but surrounded by friends in whom she confided, and whose kind attentions were so evidently comforting to her in her last hours.

It has been found desirable to make a change in our annual vacation. According to our former arrangement, there was a recess of a week on the first of May, and the Summer vacation commenced on the third Wednesday of July, and closed on the third Wednesday of September. Very few pupils were able to go home during the short interval in the Spring, and the school exercises prolonged during the debilitating heat of summer, were trying to the health of both teachers and scholars. The recess in the Spring will hereafter be added to the Summer vacation, which will commence on the last Wednesday in June, and continue till the second Wednesday in September, and this with the usual holidays will be the only vacation of the year. The change will be a relief to the teachers and pupils, and will doubtless be acceptable to the friends of the children.

It was intimated in our last Report, that in consequence of the increased cost of all articles of living, it might become necessary to increase the annual charge for board and tuition. The apprehension then expressed, has been realized. In place of a decline of prices, there has been a steady advance, so that with the annual charge of $100 for the board and tuition of each pupil, the income of the Institution would fall far short of the expenditure, and the fund would become seriously impaired. All our pupils share equally in the proceeds of our fund, the amount charged each per year, being only the sum necessary to make up the deficiency in the current expenditure. This sum, as would have been expected, has varied at different periods. From 1817, when the school was opened, to 1821, the annual charge was $200. From 1821 to 1825, during which time the fund, though it had been received was only partially available, the charge was $150. From 1825 to 1834, it was $115, and from 1834 to 1863, $100, amounting during each period to less than two-thirds the actual cost per pupil. In view of the increased expenditure of the last two years, the Board decided at their meeting in September to advance the annual charge to $125, commencing with the current year. The States which support pupils here from whom we have heard on the subject, have cheerfully and promptly responded to this action of the Board, and have increased their appropriations to meet the advanced rate.

The Board trust that this charge, together with the income of the fund, will with careful management, be sufficient to meet the annual expenditure. If, however, prices should continue to advance, and it should be found insufficient, a contingency which they do not anticipate, they do not doubt that their Patrons will cheerfully meet whatever additional charge may be necessary to maintain the fund unimpaired. This fund the Directors regard as a sacred trust committed to their care, for the benefit of the deaf mutes of the country, and especially those of New England, as most of the other States have schools of their own. Every friend of deaf-mute education in these States has an interest in its preservation. The sole aim of the Directors in its management, has been to diffuse as widely as possible the blessings it confers among the unfortunate class for whose good it was designed.

We have been favored during the year, with the usual visits from the Committees of the Legislative bodies which have placed children under our care. The Board welcome such visits with great pleasure. They serve the double purpose of interesting and stimulating the children in their studies, and of exciting in the minds of the gentlemen who visit us a warmer appreciation of the value of deaf-mute education. It also affords the Board special satisfaction to have the work in which they are engaged brought under the careful observation of intelligent men, and to have their arrangements for the accommodation and education of the children inspected by their Patrons.

The act of incorporation establishing the Asylum, was granted by the Legislature of Connecticut, May, 1816, under the name of "The Connecticut Asylum for the education and instruction of deaf and dumb persons." The Institution thus founded, was largely aided by the churches, and by benevolent individuals in the State. It was considered a local Institution, though a willingness was expressed to admit pupils from other portions of the country. In 1819, however, in view of the fact that a tract of land had been donated to the Asylum by Congress, and that generous contributions to its funds had been made by individuals from other States, the Directors felt impelled to enlarge its sphere, and the Legislature, upon their application, changed the corporate name to that of the "American Asylum;"—the name thus indicating the wider range over which they proposed to extend their operations. The change was also in accordance with an impression which existed in the minds of the Directors, and was shared by many intelligent persons at that time, that one school would afford abundant accommodation for the education of all the deaf mutes in the country, so imperfectly was the magnitude of the field into which the Asylum was about to enter comprehended at the outset. Careful inquiry, however, soon made it evident that persons suffering from this misfortune were much more numerous than had been supposed, and that one school could do but little towards educating the whole number. Others were soon established, drawing their system of instruction, and in most cases their instructors, from the parent school. The obligation to educate deaf mutes was soon universally acknowledged, and now the larger States, almost without exception, have flourishing and well regulated schools of their own, leaving New England as the special field to be occupied by the Asylum. It has ever been the policy of the Board to lend all possible aid to the establishment of new Institutions, wherever they are demanded. Their ready co-operation and their most experienced instructors have been cheerfully given to this end, and they desire no higher satisfaction than to see the education which they have had the privilege and honor of introducing into the country, enjoyed by every deaf mute within her borders.

To the proposition on the part of the Board to educate the deaf mutes of New England, these States early made an affirmative response. In 1819, Massachusetts made a liberal appropriation and a permanent arrangement for this purpose, which arrangement has been continued for more than forty years. New Hampshire followed this example in 1822; Vermont and Maine, in 1825; Connecticut, in 1828, and Rhode Island in 1842. Pupils are yearly received from these states. Committees from their Legislatures frequently visit us, and the mutual intercourse of years between these bodies and the Institution has created a mutual respect and confidence that will not soon be disturbed. The location of the Asylum, though not central, is as readily accessible from all parts of New England, as any site that could be selected. The buildings are large and commodious, affording ample accommodations for two hundred and fifty pupils. No other school in the country has such a corps of able and experienced instructors, most of whom have devoted many years to the profession.

The large fund in the hands of the Directors is carefully managed, made as productive as possible, and its entire proceeds impartially appropriated to the benefit of all who come here for education. The Directors do not regard the Asylum as a Hartford school, or a Connecticut school, but as a school for the deaf mutes of New England. And they propose in the future, as in the past, to furnish every facility for the highest and most complete education of deaf mutes in every department of culture, which experience, science and skill can achieve.

Grateful for the kind Providence which has watched over the Asylum in its varied interests during the year now closed, and for all the good it has been the means of accomplishing during its past history, the Directors would renewedly commend their charge to the Divine guidance and benediction.

In behalf of the Board,

JOHN C. PARSONS, Clerk.

COMPOSITIONS.

It is a rule of the school that specimens of composition published in our annual reports, and also the letters sent at stated times to the friends of our pupils, shall receive no correction, except such as their respective authors can make on a careful review, when the errors they contain are pointed out by a teacher. The following are prepared in accordance with this rule.

A LETTER.

HARTFORD, CONN., May 16th, 1864.

My dear Mother,—I wish very much to see you. It is very pleasant to day. I am happy to study my lessons. I thank you for your kind letter. Yesterday it lightened and rained. I hope my father and brother and sister are all well. The grass is growing fast. I like to see flowers. I am happy to write a letter to you. I love you. I will bring you a cherry when I go home in six weeks. I am fond of Miss West. Mr. Keep is well. I like to see the flag.

Your affectionate daughter,

A TRUE STORY.

I walked to the woods. I saw a squirrel run up a tree. It went into a hole of the rotten tree. I took off my coat and laid it on the ground. I climbed up the tree. The squirrel heard me coming and ran out of the hole. I put my hand into the hole and found another old squirrel. I took it out of the hole, and put it into my pocket and carried it home. I showed it to my father. I told father about the squirrel. I gave it to a cat. It played with it. The cat did not hurt the squirrel. I was pleased with it. It ran away. I was sorry. I do like to work.

ABOUT AN OWL.

Joseph and Albert were going through the woods in the night. They heard an owl screech. Joseph was afraid. He ran away. Albert looked for him. Joseph came to him. They went home. They saw a large owl. Joseph called a dog. The dog barked at it. Albert shot at it. It fell down on the ground. The dog ran to it. The dog took it in his mouth and brought it to Joseph.

A STORY.

I went into the woods. I saw many chestnuts on the ground. I picked them up and put them into my pocket. I found a knife on the ground. I picked it up and put it in my pocket. I picked some flowers. I saw a squirrel on the ground. I saw it run up a tree. I was eating the chestnuts.

AN ACCOUNT OF MY EARLY LIFE.

When I was a little girl, at my home, I did not know all my lessons of the Bible. I often saw my parents reading the bible which belonged to my parents. They often taught me to learn it, but I could not understand it. They told me that I must not play on the Sabbath day because God does not like to have any people play on the Sabbath day because it is very holy, and God wants all the people to rest. The people must obey Him and keep His commandments. So my father always wrote on a copy book about Jesus Christ. He was very good to write about Jesus and God. He told me and my brother that we must learn it now while it was the Sabbath day. I and my brother learned it all. My mother asked me if I had learned it all. I told her that I had. So she asked me some questions about God and his son Jesus Christ. One day when it was the Sabbath day, my mother began to read her bible. I told her that I did not want her to read it because I wanted her to tell me some stories but she would not do so. I was disappointed and she taught me about the bible. I did not care for it. I often thought about the sun, the moon and the stars. One day I sat on the top of the steps close by the door. It was a very pleasant day. The sun was shining very brightly. The weather was very warm. I thought that the sun was a fire, I thought that many persons lived in the air. They had many houses, barns, sheds, and many other things which were in the air. I saw it was dark in the night. The moon was shining on the world. I thought that the moon was a stove. I thought that persons cooked food on the stove. I saw many stars were in the air. I thought that the stars were lamps. When one of the stars was not shining steadily, I thought that the women took it and put it on the table, and ate some food. During some nights there were not any stars in the sky. I thought that the people began to sleep in their beds. When I was thirteen years old, I came to the Asylum to get a good education. The teacher often lectured to the pupils about God and Jesus Christ, the sun, the moon and the stars. I found that I was all mistaken and I must be thankful to my parents because they often taught me about God. If they had not taught me about God and would not let me come to the Asylum to learn I would not know about all. I must be very grateful to God because he led me to come to the Asylum.

ABOUT THE WAR.

In 1860 the war began in South Carolina in Fort Sumpter. The war broke out because the rebels wished to become independent. They wished to have another President in the South, and wished to have many slaves there. They began to raise soldiers down there, and the United States were surprised. They did not want to have slaves there. President Lincoln sent out many soldiers to stop the rebels, but the rebels continued fighting and raised more soldiers. The soldiers were already at first in R. I. They went in steamboats. Perhaps they would have reached Washington, D. C. first if they had gone in the cars, but they had to go in the steamboats, and the soldiers of Mass. reached Washington first. Some soldiers were killed in Baltimore by the riots. Soon there were more soldiers coming from New England to fight against the rebels, and there was a large army. Col. Ellsworth was a commander of the Zouaves. He was a smart Colonel. He lived in N. Y. He often fought the South with his men. They were brave men. At last a rebel came into a house somewhere to kill Col. Ellsworth. His name was Jackson. After Col. Ellsworth had taken the rebel flag down, he was coming down stairs with the flag, and with a few of his men. Suddenly Jackson saw him and shot him on the stairs through his heart. Also Ellsworth's best friend named Brownell suddenly ran to Jackson and killed him. Jackson's wife saw him and wept. While Ellsworth was dying, he cried with a loud voice, "My God, my God, my God," and suddenly he died. I hope he is in heaven now. His parents and friends were all sorry for him. He was a very brave Colonel. There was another man who commanded the soldiers named Gen. McClellan. He was a smart General. He often captured many places. Once he captured Yorktown in Va. He fought slowly and the people did not want him to do so. He could capture Richmond but he did not. Soon Lincoln heard about it, and made him resign about two years ago. His men wanted him to command them again, but he could not. He made a visit in N. Y. Springfield and Hartford and other places. The Deaf and Dumb boys went to the city to see him, while he was here with his wife. We liked to see him. Once the people of N. Y. gave his wife a very beautiful shawl, which cost about $1,000. A few weeks ago, the people of N. Y. had a beautiful sword. They were voting to see who would have the sword Gen. McClellan or Gen. Grant. They voted for Gen. Grant and gave the sword to him. It cost very much money. Gen. Grant is commanding the U. S. now. He is fighting against the rebels near Richmond now. I wish to have Gen. Grant and his men to capture the city of Richmond and some other strong cities so that the rebels cannot fight again.

ABOUT THE BIRDS.

God created many birds about 6,000 years ago. The beautiful birds liked to fly around the pretty trees, while Adam and Eve were living among the trees. Noah had some birds which were called doves. The doves were in Noah's ark. Noah sent the doves to the tree, and they took some leaves. They carried them to the ark. Noah gathered some of the birds, and they entered the ark. The other birds were flying around the ark, and then they were tired. They were drowned in the water, while it was raining. Elijah prayed to God, and He called two black ravens, and they went to heaven. God gave some meat and bread to the ravens to carry to Elijah. He thanked Him for them. The flock of birds were flying around Columbus' ships. Columbus was very happy to see the beautiful birds in the Canary Islands, which is near Africa. There are many little birds in the Canary Islands, and the birds are called canary birds. Some men go to the Canary Islands near Africa, because they wish to get some yellow birds, and they carry them to their homes. Their wives are very glad to see them, and the men get some cages. They carry them to their houses. They put the canary birds into their cages. Some ladies keep them in the cages, and they feed the birds some food. They sometimes talk with the birds. Birds are called ravens, humming birds, eagles, doves, robins, and partridges, &c. A man put a letter in one of the birds' wings. It carried the letter to another place. Some hunters go to the woods to aim at the partridges. The people love to eat them. I saw a pretty girl in a picture, and the yellow bird was sitting on her shoulder at my home. The cat catches some birds sometimes, and she eats them. The birds often sit on the trees, and they stay there all night. God preserves them in the night. In the morning the birds sing sweetly, and the people are very much pleased to hear them singing. The birds don't live in the northern part of North America in the winter, but they are in the South. They stay in the South till the next Summer. They come to the North. Many angels are like the birds. Some boys sometimes feed the birds food, and they take the ropes. The doves eat some corn, and they stand on the ground near the ropes. The doves suddenly are caught. The boys kill them sometimes and they cook them. The birds often enter a small house because of their living. I once caught the small bird in the small house at my home. I stole a small bird from the tree, and the bird was in the nest, when I was a little boy. But my cat caught the small bird, and I wept for it. I saw an owl in the cage often. It almost bit my hand. I often love birds. I thank God because he made the birds.

ABOUT JULIA BRACE.

Julia Brace was a little speaking and hearing girl who, when she was about four years old, began to be deaf, dumb and blind because she was very sick. When she was born in Hartford in 1807, her parents were poor but they were kind to take care of Julia. She continued sick some weeks and she got well, but she was blind and deaf and dumb. She could walk out in the open air. She used to feel on the wall of the house or fence to walk alone by her cane. She was a good girl but she imitated boys who talked with bad swearing as well as she did so somewhat before she became deaf and dumb. She used to put the blankets on beds in order and washed her mother's baby with water and put clothes on it. She could not hear that the baby cried but she put her hand on its neck to see if it was crying or put them on its eyes for tears. She used to take care of the baby on her lap till it went to sleep. She felt on its sleeping eyes and put it in a cradle and rocked it. She used to put some sugar into its mouth for not crying. She took a fly-brush to strike flies off. She used to wash some plates, forks, knives, and table. She helped her mother often in sewing. She could not put thread through needles, but she put thread and a needle into her mouth to make it go through the needle with her tongue. The seeing ladies can not join the needles with thread by their tongue. Julia was smarter than the ladies. When Julia was about eighteen years old her Father died. She could not see the dead body with her blind eyes but she felt on the body, and suddenly was affrighted by the cold body. Her mother came to the Asylum and talked with Mr. Gallaudet about Julia for education. He determined to let her continue learning here, and her mother went home. Mr. Gallaudet tried to teach Julia the alphabet but she could not learn to make signs by her arms like the pupils. But she made signs a little about God. The teacher could not teach her for she could not see with her blind eyes. She lived in the Asylum, while Mr. Gallaudet, Mr. Weld and Mr. Turner were the Principals of the Asylum in succession. But two of them died here, and one of them who is named Mr. Turner is living now. The girls saw that Julia walked on the pavement near the yard of the Asylum. Julia used to wash many plates of the pupils, and she could feel the different spoons of Mrs. White and of the pupils and separated the spoons for Mrs. White and the other spoons for the pupils. The pupils could not feel them like Julia. Many ladies and gentlemen came to the Asylum to visit the pupils. She felt on the clothes and faces or hands of them often. Once Julia felt on the Esquimaux who came from Labrador to the Asylum last year and she was affrighted at the bear's skins on their bodies. The girls sometimes liked to teaze Julia a little and she was angry and whipped them. She could sew clothes by night. Sometimes she slept by day. She got up early at four o'clock every morning. She often helped the pupils. She would not help or ^swork on the Holy Sabbath and she sat in an arm-chair which was rocked. She continued thirty-eight years in the Asylum and moved to Bloomfield on the second of June 1863. She is living with her mother because she is forty-seven years old. Mr. Allen went to the city with her to get many photographs like Julia's face. The pupils want to buy the pictures which are worth seventeen cents each. The pupils are sorry that she went to Bloomfield Conn but they keep the pictures. We hope God will bless Julia who is a poor deaf mute in Bloomfield. A kind lady of Newburyport Mass. gives two hundred dollars to Julia annually. Julia has money enough and she does good to her family. We hope that she will go to heaven, after death and her blind eyes will be opened there with God and Christ. Some deaf mutes are deaf and dumb, and they cannot hear about the events, but if they are penitent, they will go to heaven to meet Christ and to see the Saints who were deaf, dumb and blind, but are not so now. Christ knows that the deaf mutes will be healed.-

THE AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

Once an Austrian Emperor reigned over the country of Austria. He lived in the Capital (Vienna.) He wore his royal dress. The people of Vienna obeyed him and he was a good Emperor. They liked him. Once he threw off his royal dress, and was disguised as a common citizen. Then he came from his palace. He got in his carriage. He drove his horse. It was raining a little. He travelled through Vienna, for the purpose of seeing how the people behaved. He saw a soldier standing on a pavement near the road. The soldier saw him riding in his carriage. He wore his blue coat with yellow buttons. His blue coat was wet. He said to the Emperor "Please you let me ride in your carriage"? The Emperor allowed him to ride in it. The soldier did not know him. The Emperor said to him "Have you dined"? The soldier replied "Yes Sir." The Emperor said "On what did you dine"? He replied "I had an excellent dinner. I travelled through the Emperor's field and saw many deer. I stole one of them and carried it to my house. My family cooked it." He thanked him for riding. Then the soldier asked him "Who are you? Are you a Sergeant"? The Emperor said to him "No, some thing better." Then the soldier said to him "Are you a Captain"? He said to the soldier "No, some thing better." Then the soldier said to him "Are you a Colonel"? He said to the soldier "No, some thing better." Then the soldier said to him "Are you a General"? The Emperor said to him "No, some thing better." And then the soldier said to him "Are you a King"? The Emperor said to him "No, some thing better"? The soldier said to him "Who are you"? "I am the Emperor of Austria." Immediately the soldier was trembling and kneeled on the road, and asked him "Please to forgive me, for stealing your deer"? He forgave him. Then he entered into his palace. Then he threw off his common citizen dress, and wore his royal dress. The soldier would never steal his deer henceforth. The Emperor's name was Joseph.

OUR COUNTRY.

Before this war, our country was very prosperous and joyful in business and trade. But now it is not so prosperous, and there is a very dreadful civil war. The Great Rebellion has lasted three years. It has been very furious and unhappy in consequence of slavery. A few states first seceded from the North, because Mr. Sumner, and some other brave men reproved the Southern masters saying that they must abolish all slavery. At last a few states were added to other Seceded Southern states. The rebels of Charleston, in South Carolina first attacked our soldiers in Fort Sumpter, bombarded it, and conquered them. Also the rebels, in Virginia fought with our army at Bull Run, and they were victorious. Therefore great sadness spread throughout all the North, but joy, and shouts of victory throughout all the South. Since April 8, 1861, the Federals and Confederates were victorious in turn. The Confederates were sometimes victorious, but the Federals were often victorious. God has let the Southerners and Northerners fight with each other in great trouble, because the former were very cruel to their slaves, and the latter let them continue working hard, and were not very good. So He is always just and good in truth. The rebels are unjust on the side of the South, and the Unionists are just on their side. It is of no great use, none at all for the rebels to try to conquer all our country with all their powers, because they are very proud and foolish. The South are generally not friends of God, but the North, I hope, are His friends. The South deserve punishment, because they have treated their slaves very cruelly. Now their faces bear a representation of hopeless despondency, pale agitation, disquietude, and unhappiness, but our faces are not so. If we are good people, we pray to God that our country may have great safety, happiness, and prosperity, that it may have peace instead of war. That we may enjoy everlasting happiness and peace after this war, and that we should all be reconciled to Him. He will bless us and preserve our country. I disapprove of the Rebellion, slavery, and offensive war and battle in our country which are not generally of any great use. How dreadful it seems that the rebels, in the South are always tyrannical to their slaves. They think it beneath them to labor hard, and make them do all the work. They think they are not as good as other people. But their souls are equal to the souls of other people. How true it is that the offensive war of the South is wrong, but how true it is that the defensive war of the North is right!

Our armies under Gen. Grant and some other brave Union generals should soon conquer all the rebels, and the government of the South, and then there would be no war. So great joy and shouts of victory should spread throughout all the North. Then our country should be again prosperous and joyful in business and trade. If the South should be reconciled to the North, we shall worship and thank God. It is believed that our country would be much wiser and better than all other countries on earth. I am very proud of it, because it gave me birth, on the 26th day of March, Anno-Domini 1845. I hope that England, and all other countries will be equal to it in its great wisdom, kind government, and prosperity. You remember, "Our country must, and shall be preserved," as General Jackson said, when he was the President of the United States. If it shall be preserved by a Higher Power, it will be at peace and rest. It is better to call all the rebels in the South, Great babies, because they are cross, peevish, cruel, angry, &c., &c.

I wish to go to the defensive war in my own native country, but I cannot do so, because I am deaf and dumb, and so I am sorry. I hope that General Grant, who is a man of good stratagem, bravery, and wisdom, will be the President of our country, instead of our President, viz. Abraham Lincoln. It is believed that General Grant is the flower of our country.

THE BIBLE.

This precious book is the best of books which God has given us from heaven and tells us how to be holy and happy. The bible has many true and important sayings in it and without it, we could hardly live a righteous life. It tells us that God created the world &c. It tells us how Adam and Eve were happy and how they felt troubled and ashamed when they disobeyed the law of God. It tells us too, many interesting histories and one of these histories is the greatest fact of all in the world, called, the history of Jesus Christ for it tells us how he came down from heaven to save us from evil and how he suffered greatly while on earth and how he died on the cross to save us, poor sinners.

If we want to become like Jesus Christ, we must pray fervently and earnestly to God for Jesus' sake and read the Bible every day and search the scriptures in it so that we may become true christians by the help of our Father. I often hear or read that the Bible makes the poor and afflicted very cheerful and hopeful for they can throw troubles and trials away from them when they are called to die. They often are much pleased to read in the Bible that Jesus has died for them for they want to go up into the sky where that beautiful home with its pearly gates and golden paths is placed, if they are pious and love him and serve Christ. Blessed is the man that loves to read the Holy Bible! I often like to repeat the words in a hymn and I think I had better tell you what the hymn is about. Well, it is about the Bible.

"This is a precious book indeed;
Happy the child that loves to read!
'Tis God's own book which he has given
To show our souls the way to heaven."

HOME.

Home is the sweetest spot in the world, which is loved by every body. I love to think of or say "Sweet home." We ought to be thankful to God for his great kindness to furnish us with homes. But I am sorry to say that some children are homeless, who often run away from them for they want to be free and do as they please, but they are greatly mistaken, and will repent of their past conduct and sometimes return home and they are warmly welcomed by their friends.

Intemperance often destroys good homes, and drives folks to poverty and unhappiness.

Staying at home from infancy to the proper time of liberty leads children to a high degree of improvement in behavior, and it is a duty of parents to keep them from going out as much as they please. Those who leave home in early life are apt to be beset by temptations, and they have not watchful and dutiful parents to watch over their conduct, and help them to keep off the devil.

When many persons go away far from their sweet homes in New England to do business in some place, they always think or speak about their homes, and have pictures of them in their minds. When Thanksgiving, which is a festival which originated in New England, and many other states took this example in adopting it, is at hand the scattered families return home and keep thanksgiving together. The mothers always makes up lots of nice mince, pumpkin, apple, and peach pies and others and have a nice time in dining. If they are alive and well, they are happy to meet together at their old but sweet homes. But sometimes their meeting is made sad by missing one of the number who has been laid in the grave. We must praise our giver of all blessings.

When this dreadful war broke out, and Uncle Sam called for 75,000 men our homes were filled with feverish excitement and patriotism, and put our flags over our houses to float and many of these sons volunteered themselves to defend the "Old Flag." Many were willing to leave their quiet and sweet homes, tender cares of mothers &c., and rush forward to join battle with the naughty rebels and suffer themselves from privations, hardships, hunger &c. Many homes in the South are plundered, destroyed and burned and their families were driven out and they have awfully hard times there while our homes are peacefully untouched by the treacherous rebels. Our brave soldiers always think or dream about their sweet homes. It is very hard for a mother to give up a son to the sacrifice of the country, yet many mothers with their spirit filled with true patriotism cheerfully gave up their sons. But many of them have perished in their attempt in serving the noble cause, and a great deal of blood has been shed. When the war ceases, the soldiers will return and be at once at their friends' sides, and cheer and stir up in homes. But some of them are left in the graves in the battlefields where they were butchered by the rebels while gallantly fighting at their post of duty in order to save the "Union." And let their dust rest in peace until they awake in the morning of the Resurrection.

THE BIBLE.

The Bible is the word of God. It is the oldest, and best of all the books in the world. It is the most interesting thing ever known, which was written by men under the inspiration of God at different times. This precious book has two testaments, namely, Old, and New. The former testament contains the history of the creation of this world, the deluge, the laws of Moses, the moral law, the prophecies, the history of the Jews &c. The latter tells us about the Salvation of Jesus Christ.

In former times, before the art of printing was discovered, a copy of it could scarcely be had. In the year 1272, a Bible cost $150. At that time the laborers had to work hard all day for only 3½ pence, and they had to work for 13 years to get money enough to pay for a Single Copy ! Now what a great change has taken place. We can get at the present time, a beautiful Bible for 50 cts or a New Testament for 6 or 10 cts. Every person should own a copy of it, or if he has not any, let him try to obtain it, and then read it every day, asking God to teach him, to believe, and to obey it. Then it will fill his soul with happiness and peace. It will be "a lamp to his feet, and a light to his path." He will be wiser in the things of God. We should be grateful to God for his kindness to send us the Bible. On the Sabbath every person should study this Holy Book, and it will help him to keep the Sabbath holy. He should not only do this, but also avail himself of the assistance of others.

Certainly a knowledge of this book is more desirable than fine gold, because in understanding, believing, and obeying it, there will be a great future reward offered by our dear Saviour in Heaven.

It is an awful responsibility for any person if he neglects the Holy Bible, or devotes all of his time, and the powers of his mind to worldly things or objects. In this book God shows his character and will, and shows us what is right and wrong.

Many Bibles and tracts have been distributed among the Union Army, which have done them very much good, and many sinners have been converted into Christianity through the grace of God and the Bible. Let me relate an incident which occurred on the battle field. Some time ago, before the battle began, a Soldier threw a Bible away on the ground, saying some bad words against it, which I do not dare to say. Another Soldier, being a wicked gambler, took it and put it in his jacket pocket, thinking that he might read it merely for pleasure. Presently when the battle raged terribly, where he fought very hard all day, a bullet pierced into his Bible. Not knowing that it struck it, he found a hole in his jacket close to the Bible. He took it out, and finding that it was struck by a bullet. The bullet got to verse 9th, in Chap. 11 of Ecclesiastes, "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth ; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart and in the sight of thine eyes ; but know thou that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment." Reading it, his heart was struck, and he became a christian. This shows that it was Providence that led him to Christ, and the influence of the Bible is very powerful, and effectual. Happy are those who love to read it, and try to understand it, and do their duty in accordance with the directions of God.

AN ALLEGORY.

Louis was born of respectable parentage, and although he was not rich, he was not poor, but comfortably situated. He had everything that was necessary for his comfort.

When he had reached his tenth birth-day his father called him into his study, and gave him a small, but very beautiful gold locket and a very beautiful gold chain saying as he put it into his hand, "A great, and kind friend has sent you this. It is a very wonderful talisman, and he wishes you to wear it over your heart, and whenever you do any thing wrong it will instantly fly open, but beware how often you do wrong or its hinges and spring will get out of order by continual opening, and shutting. When you have done a wrong action it will remain open, and you will find it impossible to shut it. If it is long open it will grow dull, and look rusty, but the instant you do a good action it will shut, and become as bright as ever, but I warn you to be careful how often you make it open as it will gradually grow dull and remain shut, no matter what you do. If you do no wrong thing then when you do a right thing this little locket will grow brighter and brighter every time you do a right thing.

This little book here which I hold in my hand, your kind friend has also given you, and will, if you read it carefully teach you how to avoid wrong things, and how to gain the favor of this kind friend."

When he had done speaking Louis put on the locket and took the book from his father's hand. At first the little locket flew open very often but gradually Louis learned to be more careful what he did, and by the help of the little book was enabled to keep it shut and it grew gradually brighter and brighter until at last when a messenger came to summon Louis to go to visit his kind friend it was as bright as one of the stars of heaven.

Reader! you have such a locket. It is conscience and the gold chain which fastens it to you is good habits. The Book is the bible, the kind friend God, and the messenger who came to summon Louis, Death.

O! Do not disregard the warnings of Conscience nor neglect to read the little book and when you are at last summoned to go before your kind friend may your conscience be as bright as Louis's was.

A BIT OF COAL.

Now, as this little bit of coal lies before me, gray with a slight coating of ashes, sparkling here and there in the gaslight, I will try to put some thing down on my slate about it. It must be very old, if it can be called old, centuries having passed away since it came into existence. It was formed from some part of the sturdy giant of the forest, under whose shade wild animals slept, or sprang upon their prey or where the wilder savages held their war dance and festival.

But the saying is "All worldly things must die." The tree did not furnish an exception to the above saying, so it was at length hurled to the ground by the raging tempest. There it lay, deprived of its strength and life, rotting slowly and gradually, while other trees, small and big, were being piled over it till it got completely buried. While in this state, it slowly hardened and took a black color, becoming by name, coal.

It was finally found out. The miner's pick broke off piece after piece till it was all taken out, and placed in a large box or tub in which it was hoisted out of the bowels of the earth, and deposited in some building near the mine. It was then reduced to smaller pieces and put in among other quantities of coal. Here the pieces were scattered, and now I will follow that particular piece on which this smaller one was.

After a time, this was shoveled out with other pieces and placed in a long car full of coal. When all was done, this car was drawn rapidly to the sea coast and delivered of its load into a schooner or small vessel, which delivered its load somewhere else. Journeying about in this manner it finally came to a stop and was put in a stove. Here the greater part of the piece was burnt away and when the fire was stopped or went out, this little bit of coal was thrown out with the ashes and knocked about by the Asylum boys till one particular fellow put it in his pocket to have fun with another one, but as he did not get a good chance for his project, it remained in his pocket. In the evening it was taken out and set up for inspection. Now I'll throw it away, so here it goes, for another century or other centuries.

HARTFORD, CONN., May 11, 1864.

To Jeff Davis:—

Most Hon. President, (vide Pope Pius IX.)

I address you this evening with the object of congratulating you on your brilliant prospects for the future. I think you will recollect that you once said while occupying the humble position of U. S. Senator at Washington, that the Union was not worth much, and that the North would not fight for it in the event of Southern Nullification.

Now, however, I think you will acknowledge that you "fired too high," especially as your olfactory nerves have fairly had a sniff of Northern gunpowder by this time, and that will have a most salutary effect on your powers of logic, while the picket fences of Northern bayonets and Northern soldiers visible from the windows of your would-be palace in Richmond, and a few Northern shells flying about your ears, will prove valuable assistants in forming impartial opinions which you know has always been your stumbling block.

By the way, how do you like the smell, and the whizzing of the shells to the tune of "Yankee Doodle?" Really it must be a mortifying and heart breaking position, even for one of "the gallant-last-ditch Southern Chivalry"—but ——— dont cry; Comfort yourself with the thought that the millions of the North are panting for the honor of a visit from "your worship," and you may be assured we will give you a warm, hearty, live Yankee welcome whenever you come this way—yes, we'll give you board and bed cheap as dirt, so come along old boy, and if you should happen to need anything in the tailoring line—why, we are bound to set you off to the best advantage in the latest Modes. Parisiennes; especially will we guarantee to furnish you with a CRAVAT, warranted to wear, a perfect fit—tight and snug. It is with this that we hope to raise you up so that all men can see you, which appears to be the object of your ambition. Depend upon it we will give you A HEARTY PULL and elevate you at one hoist to the highest position,—higher than Haman.

Oh! Jeff Davis, sing with me the favorite song of your "faithful negroes,"

"We will hang Jeff Davis on a sour apple tree:"

but, for myself, I should infinitely prefer a Persimmon which, as you know, bears fruit sour enough to pucker a knot hole! May your name ever be held in everlasting contempt, and may your brow be crowned with a chaplet of Persimmon leaves—a fit emblem of your unhallowed life.

From your live Yankee mudsill,

To Jeff. Davis, Richmond, Va.

THE CONTEST OF IDEAS.

The present appearance of National affairs throughout the world, is certainly very extraordinary. What has caused such fighting? Such fierce excitement? Such preparation for war? What has caused such an accumulation of brute force? Such plotting and contention? We look round for the moving cause and easily discover it.

It is the growth of ideas among the common people—ideas, few but momentous in their bearings, which have been for years in a gradual process of formation and acquiring with their development a deep seated hold on the minds of the people.

They have now burst forth with the strength of a volcano, and, invested with tremendous power, and fighting each other!—in America—in Europe—all over the civilized World. It becomes us, therefore, to investigate, to what they tend and what they are. There are two ideas in this country—the Northern and the Southern. The Northern one, is that freedom, equality, and universal education, is the only proper condition of man—per contra, the Southern idea is that Slavery, oppression and general ignorance are perfectly justifiable.

These two ideas, utterly antagonistic to each other, have come in collision with an awful shock, and though the struggle still continues, we can see the effects on every hand.

Which is to conquer remains to be seen, meanwhile, as we watch for the termination, we turn our eyes across the Atlantic to note the progress of the Europeans.

Their great idea that Religious and Democratic liberty is proper for them, has almost collided with the opposite ones, of the divine right of Kings, and the power of the Pope as the vicegerent of God, which are upheld by the nobility. So bitterly do they oppose each other, that they threaten to inaugurate a Revolution every day. Already in Hungary, in Poland, in Italy and Greece, the people's idea is silently working; even in France—Imperial France, the flame burns brightly, and the great German nation moves uneasily beneath the yoke, sighing for a union of the states. The contention thus created threatens an uprising among the people unprecedented in the annals of History. What would be the result of such an event, it is not for us to say. We can only await with breathless interest the approach of the tempest whose black clouds are already darkening the horizon.

ENIGMA.

I am composed of nine letters.

My first is the initial of a flower, very fragrant, of a pale purple color, and though not very delightful to the sight, it is to the sense of smell; it is composed of several small stalks to one flower-stalk and has petals with hardly any thing else. It's meaning in Botanical language is "Devotion" or Jee vous aime.

My second, is the initial of the name of what we call such a way of finding out words by means of explanation, as this without letting the letter with which it begins be known, nor how it ends.

My third is the initial of the upper part of a flower-stalk to which the parts of a flower are attached. A strawberry is one itself, a pulpy one, but common people (those who never studied Botany and dont know much of what it tells us) call it a fruit.

My fourth is the initial of the Christian name of that old traitor and spy in the time of the Revolution, who would have been hung if caught, but as he was not, Andre took his place though he was not half so bad.

My fifth is the initial of a hospital situated any where on, or near the battlefield where soldiers if wounded can receive immediate attention which is better than leaving them on the ground, to wait for a chance to present itself when they can be taken to a hospital at a longer distance.

My sixth is the initial of an addition to the number of soldiers in an army when it lessens by sickness or wounds, by more soldiers coming in to join that army.

My seventh is the initial of a very important material for writing when we want to write better on paper than we could with a bad pencil, and which as well as a pen and penholder, we should not be destitute of.

My eighth is the initial of a very useful apparatus especially in rainy weather; it has several rays and is covered with cloth generally of a blackish color, preventing the rain which sometimes comes in the form of heavy drops from getting hold of us.

My ninth is the initial of real hateful insects, very numerous in summer, and which I wish were entirely extinct or were off to Jericho where it would not be within their reach to sting us.

My whole is the collection of specimens of a botanist with marks of their names, locality and time of collection at one of the corners.

THE OAK TREE.

Tis a pleasant evening and the sun is just taking off his glorious crown of rays so that it will not dazzle our eyes to look at him. I am, (while writing,) sitting at one of the sitting room windows facing the western sky. The girls are playing in the yard, but my thoughts are too fully occupied with another subject to take much notice of them.

Between the branches of a noble tree I can see the sun's last rays as he sinks to rest and this tree is an Oak tree. This tree was once an acorn, and within its shell was a little plantlet consisting of a pair of cotyledons and a little stem called a radicle.

Perhaps a few hundred years ago some little child happened to step on this acorn accidentally and pushed it into the soil deep enough for it to strike root and there it lay till the next Spring when it burst and grew. The main stem of this tree as I see it now is a deliquescent stem, that is a stem which loses itself among its branches. Its leaves are five lobed and have a main or mid-rib in the middle, and are netted-veined.

From its appearance as I view it from the window, it looks as if it was about three feet in diameter, and perhaps its roots reach into the road which is about twenty-four yards from the tree. In winter the tree stops growing and looks as if it was dead, but when gentle Spring returns, it returns to life or wakes up from its long sleep and performs its office of giving off new branches.

The botanical name of the Oak is "Thou art honored above all" and well does it deserve it. It was in the friendly trunk of an Oak tree, that the charter of Conn. was saved from the tyrant Andros. How refreshing it is for the weary shepherd boy to repose under the shade of some venerable Oak, after having exhausted all his strength in climbing the mountain, exposed to the glaring rays of the sun.

I will now close this brief account hoping that this tree will stand for many more centuries.

MY EARLY LIFE.

Many years ago when I was a tiny baby, my dear mother was taken very ill and she could not take care of me but my good sister Jennie took all the care of me and named me Louis. My mother's name was Berthy and my father's was Merrick. They lived in Springfield Mass.

My dear mother was sick again and died. She was a good Christian. I am glad that she is now in Heaven, where she will never be weary and pained or sick again. After my dear mother's death, I was very sick with scarlet fever and canker rash. When I got well, I could not speak or hear because my sickness had injured my ears. I used to love to hear my sister Jennie play on the piano and guitar, but after that I did not mind it any more.

My sister Jennie went away to teach, and took me to Westminster where my Aunt Hattie lived. She was an excellent woman and took care of me.

All my brothers and sisters in Springfield were scattered. Some of them live in New York and some in Missouri. One of my sisters lives at New Braintree, Mass.

My sister Jennie was married to a pleasant and intelligent gentleman named Mr. Simpson. He was a minister. Then they went to live in Boonville, Missouri, and her husband, Charles, was a Professor in the Female Seminary there. My two other sisters were afterwards married and lived in St. Louis, Mo.

When the Great Rebellion broke out in the South, the war was raging between the Union troops and the rebels in Missouri. A battle took place in Boonville, Mo., where my sister Jennie lived. My sister and her family removed from that town to Lexington, Mo.

But afterwards the rebels reached Lexington, and a battle soon took place in that place on the spot where they lived. Jennie felt very badly when she saw that the beautiful grounds belonging to her house were destroyed for the fortifications or rather the embankments were thrown up there. She said that the Union soldiers treated her and her husband very badly; she did not think President Lincoln would like it if he knew it.

I was sorry that they did not behave well to her. The soldiers who behaved very badly to her were from Illinois. They broke open their house in Lexington, and took it for a hospital when they were away and stole all their stores and bedclothing, and destroyed or carried away Mr. Simpson's library consisting of between five and six hundred volumes, burnt a house where her fine piano was put for safekeeping and all her things were lost.

I know that my sister Clara's husband John, gave Jennie the piano when she was first married and she selected it in St. Louis herself. It was a very fine instrument and I know Jennie loved it very much. I felt sorry for her and I wish that the government would pay her for her losses.

Poor Jennie and her family were left homeless. Then they lived in Syracuse, Mo., and her husband preached in the church there every Sunday, but the war made the people so poor that they could not pay him anything.

Afterwards they removed to Warrenton, a small and pleasant place. They are getting money by teaching. My dear sister Jennie has a new piano. I think she loved to play on the piano greatly.

I think that she and her family live happily and comfortably in Warrenton, Mo., now.

I am not a Secesh, but I am ashamed of the disgraceful behavior of the Federal soldiers towards my sister Jennie. I hope that there will be no war in Missouri again, for our troops drove all the rebels out of that State.

ROBBERY.

Eve, the fair but misguided mother of mankind, gave the strongest evidence of the enormity of this sin, when yielding to the tempter, she raised her hand to rob her Creator. By robbery a world was lost; all creation was doomed to suffer, generation after generation for the atonement of this crime committed by our first mother; and many and great are the evils that have arisen from this single act. One would think that, after so terrible a lesson as is taught us by the history of the Fall, all men would abstain from robbery; but far from it; at the present time there are whole nations or tribes of men that live wholly by plundering, as the Bedouin Arabs, Calmuck Tartars, and Maylay Islanders. But when considering these, if we remember that they are but barbarians, and scarcely know better, our surprise, though great, nowhere reaches the limit it attains when we weigh in the balance those nations whose boast is their superior civilization and enlightenment; whose laws they look upon as perfect in the administration of justice; and whose pride is their national honor and integrity. Among these we will often find this crime practiced to as great an extent as with the worst, only it is glossed over with the transparent and flimsy veil of hypocrisy. Amongst barbarians they take your purse and cut your throat; civilized people smooth over their injustice with the lather of their hypocritical tongues, professing their sincere sympathy for your misfortune, even while they are picking your pockets. The one meet you openly, and it is simply a question of strength and valor, whether he is to have your purse or not. The other, with greater assiduity than ever vampire manifested, sucks the very life blood out of you whilst you are unsuspecting. Not only are the poor, and the rich, the learned and the ignorant, the strong and the weak, guilty of this, but Emperors and Kings have not escaped the taint, impersonating, as they have often done, great plunderers. When the robber accused Alexander of being by far a greater marauder than he, plain reason, and impartial justice made the same charge; and this verdict, when applied to all mighty conquerors, will suit them all, for what were Charlemagne, Charles V., Louis XIV., and Napoleon, but robbers on a magnificent scale. When such men as these have led the van, how can we expect the more ignorant and less understanding to do the contrary, and obey the command, "Thou shalt not steal."

Though robbery in man, is highly despised, strictly forbidden, and faithfully punished by the laws of most countries, still it forms one of the great principles, by which nature sustains life in both the Animal and Vegetable Kingdoms. If the system of preying upon one another, or robbing, were removed many animals could not long sustain life. When we see an eagle pursuing a Fish Hawk, to take by force, the prey she has by hard labor obtained, it seems cruel and unjust, but it is one of the inexorable laws of nature; and is ordained to keep an equitable balance throughout the Animal Kingdom; preventing the large increase of one species to the detriment of another. By its agency all the works of nature go on harmoniously; order is sustained; the requirements of different members of the Animal Kingdom are faithfully met, and the way prepared for the dominion of man. Take this system of robbery away and all would be chaos. The equilibrium now preserved among animals would be destroyed; man would lose his control over the greater number of quadrupeds; and some of those in which he stands in greatest need would be removed, while others which are only serviceable in their present state would become so numerous as to be no longer useful. They would thwart many of his designs; be extremely dangerous to the human family; and create disorder throughout the world.

When we descend to plants on which depend all diversities of animal life, we observe the same system which characterizes the principles that govern the Animal Kingdom. That some plants live by robbing their neighbors, there is abundant proof. They either grow on the branches, trees and pierce the bark with their rootlets, which draw the rich juices of the tree forth to sustain their own existence; or, when they grow by themselves, they send out roots which attach themselves to the roots of other trees and draw nourishment therefrom. Plants that live in this predacious way are called parasitic; and are analogous to animals of the same name. The economy exhibited by this arrangement is one of the peculiar and interesting phenomena of nature; and, if diligently inquired into, will plainly give evidence that however disagreeable and criminal some things are in man, Nature with skillful hand and magic touch often weaves them into the most delicate tracery; and gives them form and feature, which, when it is revealed, throws us poor mortals into ecstasy.

NOTE.—It should be remarked that the foregoing Compositions, were, almost without exception, written in the ordinary routine of school-room exercises, without the most distant idea of their publication.

At a meeting of the Instructors of the American Asylum, held July 10, 1863, the following Resolutions were unanimously adopted :—

Resolved, That in view of the retirement of Rev. W. W. Turner from his long connection with this Institution, we desire to record the high estimate we entertain of the eminent services he has rendered to the cause of Deaf-mute Education.

Resolved, That his kindness and courtesy in personal intercourse, his judicious toleration of individual peculiarities and individual views in the management of our several classes, and his considerate course in cases of unavoidable conflict of opinion, have been such as to demand grateful mention on our part, and will have only pleasant remembrances.

Resolved, That in view of the fact that he is the last of those in the department of Instruction, who were connected with the Asylum in its infancy, his retirement marks an important epoch in the history of the Institution.

Resolved, That while expressing our regret at parting from one with whom we have been so pleasantly associated, we yet tender our congratulations on his release from the cares and labors of his position, with so much of remaining vigor, and such varied resources for future enjoyment; while we cannot forbear expressing our hope that he may long be spared, not only to enjoy a well-earned reward for such abundant services past, but also from the treasures of his rare experience as the oldest of our living American Instructors, to contribute much to the cause of Deaf-mute Literature and Education.

Resolved, That the Clerk be directed to enter these Resolutions upon the Records of the Faculty, and to communicate a copy of the same to Mr. Turner.

RICHARD L. STORRS,

AMERICAN ASYLUM, July 11, 1863.

At a meeting of "The Athenæum of the American Asylum," held on the 25th day of June, 1863, the following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted :—

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of The Athenæum that the Reverend William W. Turner has tendered his resignation of the position he has for many years occupied as the head of the American Asylum, the Institution with which this Society is connected, and that the same has been accepted, and will shortly take effect : therefore, be it Resolved, That this Society, first upon whose list of Honorary Members stands the name of the Rev. Mr. Turner, can not suffer him to depart without assuring him of its sincere regret for the severance of the ties which have so long united him with its members, individually and collectively ; its abiding and grateful remembrance of the kind interest he has ever manifested in its welfare ; and its best wishes for his health, happiness and prosperity in his retirement from active life.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions, signed by all the members of The Athenæum be sent to the Rev. Mr. Turner.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS,

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE RETREAT FOR THE INSANE.

THE Committee of Managers in meeting the Board of Directors, recently chosen, beg to report that they have attended to the duties of their appointment, and that the year has passed off in a quiet and useful manner.

We are, however, without any particular incidents of importance to note. The house has been full, and the results both to the patients and to the institution, have been such as should (we think,) be satisfactory.

The projected improvements in the buildings which we had hoped ere this to have been in a condition to carry forward, are still in abeyance, and the state of our funds, together with the high price of materials and labor, and the condition of the country generally, render it unsafe and indeed impossible for us to recommend any thing to be done in that way at present.

A very decided improvement has been made in the mode of warming the center building, by the introduction of a steam-heating apparatus, which proves entirely successful.

The temperature of all the offices and rooms, including the chapel on the fourth story, was never before so comfortable and pleasant, or the air so entirely free from noxious gases, or impurities of every kind.

Among the recommendations to which this apparatus is entitled, is its perfect security against fire, as no part of the radiating surface is heated to more than 215° , which can neither endanger any combustible material, or vitiate the atmosphere by unduly heating portions of it, as is the case in the hot air furnace.

We regard it as important that other apartments in the Institution should be warmed and ventilated in the same manner.

It becomes our duty to call the attention of the Board to the urgent necessity of increasing the weekly charge for the different classes of patients. The rate has remained without change since 1844, and in the mean time the cost to the Institution has greatly increased.

The whole number of patients in the Retreat at the beginning of the year was 231; the whole number of admissions was 143; the whole number of discharges was 143, leaving 231 at the end of the year, and making the whole number of patients in the house during the course of the year 374. Of this last number 172 were males and 202 were females. Of the 143 discharged 55 were males and 88 were females. Of these 72 had recovered, 26 had much improved, 11 had made less improvement, 13 had not improved, and 21 had died. Of the 72 recoveries, it will be seen that 26 were males and 46 females. The causes of death in 21 cases were: from exhaustion, 4; old age, 2; general paralysis, 3; general debility, 2; exhaustion from acute mania, 2; suppressed eruption, 1; diarrhœa, 1; epilepsy, 2; phthisis, 2; apoplexy, 1; disease of the bowels, 1; disease of the brain, 1.

Since the opening of the Institution in 1824—4,223 have been admitted, and 3,992 have been discharged. Of those discharged, 2,003, or over 50 per cent., have recovered. Since I took charge of the Institution in 1843—3,065 patients have been under my care, of whom 2,834 have been discharged; of these 1,302 had recovered.

That regulation of the By-Laws of the Institution which requires an annual report from those officers who have in charge its various departments, is wise and salutary. In the daily life of an Institution like this, there is somewhat of a monotony in the series of causes and effects; one day, generally, in most things tells another; patients come and go, and the ordinary incidents of daily life follow one another so often in a quiet succession that, to the casual and outside observer, the passing events may soon cease to excite a deep or lasting interest. The quiet movements of a massive machine doing its work without jar or friction, give little external evidence of the labor and care which is so vitally essential to its well working. It is not until we examine its details and measure its results that we can estimate the amount of physical and mental effort by which those results have been obtained. The more frequently, therefore, that your Board is called to a consideration of what has been effected in the Institution, the more cheerfully and efficiently will its interest and coöperation be secured.

It must be remembered that every case, on its admission to the Institution, is one of doubtful results; one is counted on the number of admissions, and then, for that one, arises the question into which of the several classes of results it is ultimately to be entered. Without wishing to magnify our office, few conversant with the details of an Asylum like this, will deny that without frequent records of "recovery," or of "improvement," nearly akin to recovery, the life of its medical officer and responsible head would be almost intolerable. For some years past, our admissions have averaged one every other week day. It is true many of them are old and hopeless cases, often without friends or kindred, the daily care of whose lives has been calculated with a rigid economy and a scant sympathy, who come here to find a quiet, kindly resting place on their way to the grave. Many of these, no doubt kind and holy men and women, who now, having made their peace with their Maker, their moral accountability for the good and evil of their lives ended, are awaiting, sometimes in tumult and sometimes in peace, that last of life which will be to them the dawning of a better existence. I can never look upon this class without deep interest; among them are many formerly of good mind and pure heart, possible angels in another life, as some one has aptly called them; and as we scatter flowers over the graves of our friends and keep these their resting-places in decency and order, so should we care for what once contained all that was worthy of our love and honor.

But there is another class, and that largely the more numerous of our admissions, which must awaken in us a deeper interest and call out more earnest and anxious efforts. They come to us in the first, and consequently more curable, stages of the disease; the disease itself has appeared suddenly and unlooked for; its causes are not understood; its true character as a simple physical disease not appreciated; and the real and natural anxieties which must ever attend the outbreak of a case of insanity are sadly aggravated by the unreal horror which is cast around it by this ignorance of its nature and limits. The friends, too, meet us always in fear and trembling, and sometimes in distrust, for the popular ignorance of the accepted and established method of treatment is as great as that of the disease itself. It is not generally understood that, by the present method of treatment of insanity, in recent cases, recovery is the rule and a failure to recover is the exception.

Here, then, comes the real burden of such a household as this. The physician who, in general practice, goes into the private family of his patient, meets those to whom the daily changes of the case may be explained, its perils and uncertainties stated, and thus the responsibility is divided by being, in some measure, shared by the family. Here, this relief is impossible; experience has proved that one of the essentials to a successful treatment is, in a large majority of cases, that entire change of scene, and those new associations which necessarily preclude the attendance of family or familiar friends. Visits from such are always most willingly granted when it is evident that no harm can come from them, and are as invariably refused when there is good reason to believe that the recovery of the patient would be retarded or the disorder aggravated by the indulgence. This is the rule from which we never deviate, though frequently the refusal subjects us to unkind and unmerited reproach. The responsibility can hardly be shared, and where there can be no other motive than the best ultimate good of the patient, it seems not unreasonable to ask a cheerful acquiescence on the part of the friends of patients, in those decisions.

But if the general course of the medical and moral treatment of acute cases of insanity must be thus met alone, it is not so in those minor duties upon which favorable results hardly less depend than upon the general principles of treatment, and which consists in the faithful carrying out of the details of that treatment; in ceaseless vigilance; in unwearied watchings by night and by day; in kind words; in those gentle offices so calming to the excited brain, so soothing to the troubled heart, and in a conscientious adherence to the prescribed course. To these are we largely indebted for success, and justice requires at our hands a recognition of the faithful services of those to whom these duties are entrusted. In several instances during the past year, I have been struck with the self-forgetting care and sleepless attention which severe and critical cases of disease have received from those who have had them in immediate charge. One of the wonders of my daily life, especially during the past winter, has been the amount of Florence Nightingale-ism (if I may be allowed to coin an expression from a name which has become synonymous, especially in our own land of late, with the highest degree of Christian heroism and of womanly devotion,) which I could gather around me, and this not for the reward of the moderate wages which we were enabled to pay, but from the higher principles of Christian duty. Without this unselfish aid and the hearty coöperation which I have received from the other officers of the Institution, and, almost without an exception, from the male and especially the female attendants, many of the battles for life which we have fought here would have ended in a defeat worse than death.

During the year the house has, at all times, been full, generally crowded beyond its comfortable capacity. We have great reason to be thankful for the general prosperity which has waited on our efforts; for the many recoveries; and for the many who have left us so much improved as to enable them to enjoy among their friends a large degree of comfort; for the general quietude and pleasantness of our family; for so much cheerful acquiescence in necessary detention here; and for that ready submission to those rules of family order which, in seeking the greatest good of the greatest number, sometimes require no little sacrifice of individual convenience.

My own burden of responsibility has been greatly lightened by the cheerful faces and kind words which have so generally greeted my visits, and by the many assurances of grateful recollection which have come back to us all from those who have left us restored to reason.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The experience and observation of another year have demonstrated, more and more clearly, the great value of the improvements which we have been enabled to make by the liberal donations which the Institution received three years ago. The Bowling Alley is a favorite and useful resort for our ladies, and will become more so when enclosed within the airing court and a suitable walk is constructed to it. Our Billiard Room is a great and apparently almost indispensable relief and comfort to our convalescent gentlemen. It is in constant use, and its beautiful finish and proportions receive much commendation. It is an ornament as well as a benefit to the Institution.

But the greatest gain of all has been from the improvement of our grounds, and from these, in the summer months, we are deriving our greatest help. We had, formerly, a broad, excellent mowing lot, the principal path through which was a straight, narrow gravel walk; the trees were there, but so misarranged that neither their beauty nor their number could be seen from any one point. The practical inutility of all, before the change, was well illustrated by the remark of a young lady, a convalescent patient, who, in answer to my suggestion that she should repeat her walk of yesterday around the grounds, declined, because she "had been around once and seen them all."

As the genius of the sculptor brings out the graceful statue from the shapeless block, so here has the same artistic power produced from this broad meadow a combination of beautiful effects whose existence was unknown, and of which we may well be proud. Without a familiarity with the plan upon which the grounds are laid out, the full extent of these effects can not now be seen; but when, in a few years, the trees and shrubbery lately planted shall have obtained a larger growth, they will then be more fully developed and appreciated.

The location of the Retreat is almost unrivalled; it possesses rare advantages and offers rare opportunities for ornamentation, not only from the formation of its own ground, but from its relation to the near and distant scenery commanded by it. I hazard little in expressing my entire agreement with the opinion of many competent judges of cultivated taste, and predicting that, at no distant day, our lawn and its adjuncts will take a high rank among ornamental grounds.

During the summer months I aim to have the patients as much as possible in the open air. They are the better as well as happier for this out-of-door life, and those who care not to work and are tired of walking love to gather in groups under the trees and upon the lawn. Their appreciation of these improvements and the benefits derived from them is very clearly demonstrated by the change from old indifference to new interest. It is very easy now to rally a party for a ramble or a rest upon the lawn.

The Drive, which gives the public an opportunity of observing these pleasant changes without exposing ourselves to interruption or intrusion, is exerting a happy influence abroad, in making it evident that the externals, at least, of a Lunatic Asylum need not be repulsive, and may lead to the reflection that its inner life is not without its cheerful, home-like aspects.

RETREAT, AND THOSE ADMITTED SINCE APRIL 1st, 1843.

[illegible]

More than a year ago the impaired health of the Rev. Mr. Hooker compelled him to resign the office of Chaplain, which he had held since the death of Rev. Mr. Gallaudet in 1851. We parted from him with sincere regret. He took with him our earnest sympathy in his afflictions and our best wishes that they may be so alleviated that the evening of a devoted life might bring to him that exceeding peace which is one of the rewards of those who love their fellow men. The Rev. Dr. Samuel Spring was appointed his successor, and has performed the duties of the office for more than a year. It is my pleasant duty to report to you that in his ministrations on the Sabbath, at daily evening prayers, and in his occasional and ever welcome visits to the halls, his influence over our household has been most genial and happy. To "minister to a mind diseased" is a power few possess. We are fortunate in obtaining the services of one who has so successfully exercised that power not only in aid of the moral treatment of our patients but also in the promotion of the best interests of all our family.

DONATIONS.

The liberality of our friends of the Press has been continued to us through the year. We have received the Daily Palladium and Columbian Register, New Haven, the Waterbury American, the Daily Post, Weekly Courant, Religious Herald, Christian Secretary, and Bank Note List, Hartford. These, with the liberal files of exchanges from the offices of the Courant, Times, Post, Press, Religious Herald, and Christian Secretary, Hartford, have kept our halls well supplied with newspapers.

We are indebted to the Hon. L. S. Foster, for six volumes of the Congressional Globe; Hon. Mr. Dixon, for various public documents; to Misses Nichols, of Greenfield Hill, for one volume of beautiful algae; to Mr. F. L. Gleason, of this city, for two volumes of Explorations and Surveys, Mississippi River and Pacific Railroad; to Mr. William Warner, of Waterbury, and Mr. E. S. Chatterton, for collections of "curios" for the Museum; to Miss M. H. Townsend, of New Haven, for collection of games for our ladies. As usual for many years past, Mrs. Sigourney has reminded us of her kindly interest by donations of books and papers. We are indebted to the Rev. Mr. Leek, of this city, for a most interesting lecture on the war, what he saw, &c., and to Messrs. Morris Brothers, Pell and Trowbridge, for a concert of vocal and instrumental music.

The event of our Amusement Hall for the winter was a concert by members of the North Baptist Church Choir under the direction of Mr. Barker, assisted by Miss Moore. Visiting parties of patients have often been under obligations to Mrs. Colt, for admission to her magnificent green-houses, and to Messrs. Cheney, of the Silk Mill, and to the officers of the Pistol Factory, and of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum and State Prison.

We continue to be under occasional obligations to the excellent taste and valuable suggestions of Mr. Weidenmann.

The interest taken by our patients in the Museum and the ornamentation of the house must be my excuse, if one is needed, for soliciting from our friends, donations of prints, engravings, maps, specimens of the various departments of natural history, and objects of curiosity and interest generally.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. BUTLER.

RETREAT FOR THE INSANE,

REPORT OF THE CHAPLAIN.

I COMMENCED a weekly service in the Chapel on the second Sabbath of October, 1862, which was continued till the Chairman of the Board of Managers conveyed to me through Dr. Butler, a request that I would discharge the entire duties of the 'Chaplain, daily and on the Sabbath, till such time as a regular nomination could be made for an official appointment at the annual meeting of the Board. I accordingly entered upon this service early in December of the same year, and have endeavored, as fully as my ability would allow, from that time to the present, to meet the obligations thus assumed.

As with my predecessors, so in my own case, the duties have consisted in preaching in the afternoon of each Lord's-day, attending family worship with as many of the household as could properly be collected every evening at five o'clock, and in such visits, social and religious, to the Patients in their halls and rooms, as the Superintendent directed. In these services I have been aided and encouraged by the uniform kindness and courtesy of all the Officers and Attendants of the Institution, and the exceedingly decorous and respectful deportment of its afflicted inmates. Every effort for their benefit and comfort has been kindly received, and this welcome co-operation has reacted to the very pleasant increase of my own interest in the service. To them all I would tender my heartfelt thanks for their aid in my work. It were an onerous service if slightly regarded by those whose influence and authority are predominant in the Institution; and it were an unprofitable one if the patients themselves should be, to any considerable extent, restless, and unequivocally proclaimed their attendance on the Chapel worship to be an infliction and a discipline rather than a privilege. Neither of these can be alleged ; but the exact reverse has been manifestly and increasingly true. It has never been my privilege to address a more attentive congregation. Their deportment has never cast the shadow of a reflection upon the sacredness of God's house, or the solemnity of his worship. They will compare favorably with any congregation in the land. When first permitted to minister to them, surprise at their stillness and good order was a spontaneous testimony to the influence which had hitherto been exerted here ; nor has a further acquaintance with their habits in this respect diminished, but rather augmented my wonder.

Conversions from a life of sin to one of holiness, and additions to the number of the professed disciples of the Redeemer, make a part of the pleasing annual review of most Clergymen in their respective fields of labor. This feature can not be looked for to any considerable extent, in the report of your Chaplain. We have no ecclesiastical organization and administer none of the special and sealing ordinances of a Church. But nevertheless we are not without hope that the dispensation of the word, the sacred song, and the voice of prayer have been owned as the approved instruments of soothing the sorrows, comforting the hearts, and elevating the affections of our disordered patients, and directing their view to the only relief of the weary and heavy laden. Why should it be thought a thing incredible, that the Spirit of God who has illimitable control of the physical and intellectual powers, should touch some secret or dormant spring in the moral machinery, which shall set the sluggish soul in motion, turn the current of disordered thought, and bring back a revolted heart to its loyalty and peace ? If we are tempted to despair of any, even the most demented and unpromising, let our apprehensions receive their due check from the narratives of some who have gone from these walls chastened and subdued in their worldly aspirations, taught better things than they had learned in the days of health and prosperity, and as their letters of acknowledgment testify, found even here peace and joy in believing. The moral, no less than the physical benefits of this Institution commend it anew, year by year, to the confidence, prayers and beneficence of all who wish well to their race.

And yet it would be an ungrateful and inexcusable omission to refrain from recording our obligations to the Spirit of all grace, for the tokens of his presence in some of our solemn assemblies. Not a few of the weeks of the past year have been distinguished by an unusual degree of religious interest among several of the attendants of the Institution. Christians have been quickened, and some of those who hitherto had "no hope and were without God" have found a Saviour. Additions to some of the Churches in the City have given proof that these instances of seriousness have been no transient excitement, but have in the judgment of Christian charity resulted in a genuine conversion. It is not known that our Chapel services have had any agency in the production of these effects; but it is certain that our daily and Sabbath worship have been rendered more interesting and impressive by the evidence and the excellence of these fruits of the Spirit's operations.

Your Chaplain might enlarge on these and similar topics, were he not restrained by the remembrance that the like things have been more fully and better said by those who have preceded him in this field. He will close this survey of his short term of service here, with commending the Institution and all who have charge of its affairs to the care and guidance of the kind Providence which has hitherto watched over it and made it a blessing. It is a good and sacred work in which they are engaged. Among those benefited by its ministrations are found some of the suffering and heavy-hearted of Christ's dear flock. It may well be remembered that He who commends even the "cup of cold water given to a disciple," will not overlook the service done to those whose condition places them in peculiar need of sympathy and kindness. Such charity "shall in no wise lose its reward." He has said, and He will one day reiterate the declaration, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me."

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL SPRING.

APPENDIX.

ADMISSION OF PATIENTS INTO THE RETREAT FOR THE INSANE, AT HARTFORD.

For patients belonging to this State, with the usual accommodations, $4 per week.

For those belonging to other States, 5 “

If extra accommodations and attendance are required, they will be furnished at a corresponding additional charge.

No patient admitted for a shorter time than three months; and payment for that term only, is to be made in advance to a Manager.

Subsequent expenses are to be paid, quarterly, to the Steward.

If the patient is removed uncured, before the expiration of thirteen weeks, and contrary to the advice and consent of the Superintending Physician, board is always required for that period; but if the patient recovers before the expiration of the period paid for, and leaves with the full approbation of the Physician, the excess is refunded.

Letters relating to the quarterly bills and clothing, should be addressed to Mr. THOMAS H. HOLADAY, the Steward. Clothing and packages sent for the use of the inmates should be sent to the care of the Steward.

All letters in relation to the situation and health of the patients, &c., &c., will, of course, be addressed to Dr. JOHN S. BUTLER, the Superintendent.

Application for admission should be made to Dr. Butler, the Superintendent, previous to the patient's being brought to the Retreat, in all cases, whether the Governor's order for aid is granted or not. A brief statement of the case should accompany the application. The particular attention of Physicians is called to this regulation, as during the year past a number of patients, who from the crowded state of the Institution could not be received, have been brought here under the erroneous impression that the Governor's order upon the Treasury was an order for admission and that no previous notice was required. It is sometimes necessary to discharge quiet and incurable cases to make room for violent and curable ones.

STATE APPROPRIATION.

An annual appropriation is made by the State, for the aid of those whose limited means prevent them from availing themselves of the benefits of the Retreat.

Applications for aid, from this fund, must be made by the friends directly to the Governor, either personally or by letter, and should be accompanied by certificates of the character and necessities of the case.

Form of Certificate and Request, which the friends of patients are requested to present with the application for their admission.

CERTIFICATE OF PHYSICIAN.

I hereby certify that I have seen and examined
M— ———, of ———, and believe h ——— to be insane.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION.

To be signed by a guardian, near relative, or friend.

I request that M— ———, of ———, may be admitted as a patient into the Retreat for the Insane.

—, 186—.

VISITORS.

I. The Institution will not be open for Visitors except from two to four o'clock, P. M.

II. All visitors, except persons having business at the Retreat, will be required to provide themselves with tickets for admission from the Managers, either of whom will grant the same, unless their knowledge of the circumstances, makes it, in their judgment,* necessary to refuse.

LEGACIES.

Legacies should be given in the corporate name of the Institution, viz., to "The President and Directors of the Retreat for the Insane."

FORM OF BOND.

Upon the admission of _____ of _____ into the RETREAT FOR THE INSANE, at Hartford, I engage to provide or pay for a sufficiency of clothing for _____ use, and to pay to the Treasurer of the said Institution _____ dollars per week for board, medicine, and medical attendance; and also to pay the expense of a separate attendant, if the Superintendent shall deem one necessary; to make compensation for all damages not exceeding twenty-five dollars done by _____ to the property of the RETREAT; to pay reasonable expenses for pursuing in case of elopement; cause the said patient to be removed when discharged; and in the event of death, to pay the expenses of burial.

Principal.

Surety.

OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE HARTFORD HOSPITAL TO THE CORPORATION, AT THEIR ANNUAL MEETING,
APRIL 11TH, 1864.

IN presenting the fourth annual report of the Hartford Hospital, from the time when patients were first received in the present building, your committee would congratulate the founders and generous donors of the Institution, that the means so liberally bestowed have been amply blessed in relieving suffering, and have already placed the Hospital among the many liberal and charitable institutions which adorn our city.

Arrangements have been made by the General Government to provide for all sick soldiers at the Knight Hospital, New Haven. This arrangement has prevented any from being received at the Hartford Hospital, who are connected with the army, as we can draw no pay for their support from the General Government. Soldiers are admitted, who are discharged from the army, and are proper hospital patients. All patients are admitted by a permit from one of the executive committee, who arrange the price per week according to the accommodations required, and the circumstances of the case. Those who are able to contribute towards their support are received at an agreed rate. The ordinary charge per week is $4, which includes medical and surgical care, together with medicine and nursing. This charge is much less than the actual average cost of each patient, exclusive of any charge for medical or surgical aid, or any estimate for the rent or cost of buildings and ground. Some patients are able and willing to pay for expensive accommodations and extra attendance. These persons are charged at such rates as may be considered proper, under the special circumstances.

Other persons, who are destitute of friends and means, are provided for in various ways. Those persons only, who are carried directly from the place of accident, are admitted without a certificate from the executive committee.

It is the rule that all patients shall receive every attention that their situation requires for their recovery. The charity fund is distributed to the poor and afflicted, as the urgency of the case requires and the extent of our means will admit. Our charity fund falls far short of supplying the continued and increasing applications of the sick and destitute, who are daily applying for admission to the Hospital. Your committee would urgently call the attention of the generous and philanthropic citizens, not only of Hartford, but of the whole State, so to arrange some portion of their abundant means, that a kind Providence has placed at their disposal, that the annual prayers of the sick and destitute shall prove a lasting monument to their memory.

The amount spent for repairs and improvements has been unusually large during the past year ; $573.33 has been paid to enlarge the heating apparatus, $126.72 for laying floor and plastering basement, $146.97 for an apartment outside of the building in which to place the dead, $55.00 for continuing the chimney from the roof upwards, $279.80 unpaid bills for the barn.

The whole sum for repairs and improvements, above the ordinary repairs, during the last year, amounts to $1,183.90.

The property of the institution consists of the Hospital, buildings and site, free of incumbrance.

During the past year $287.36 has been received from the State, above the annual appropriation of $2,000. The balance due the Hospital from the State has now been received, and in future we shall receive only the $2,000 annual appropriation.

We have also received $200 by subscriptions.

If we deduct $487.36, which will not annually be received, we shall find our expenses will exceed our receipts $1,345.95. Our improvements during the last year were much greater than usual, amounting to 1,183.90. The expense of living has greatly increased, and our average number of patients was 27 against 15 the previous year. We have but two resources by which our receipts can be increased—one by exacting a larger price for board from the poor and afflicted, the other by receiving increased contributions from our generous citizens.

The Hospital was opened for patients August 1st, 1860. During the first year the daily average was 12. In 1861 there were admitted 93 citizens, of whom 68 were males, 25 females, also 165 soldiers. The daily average, (not including soldiers,) was 20.

In 1862-3 there were admitted 80 citizens, of whom 54 were males, 26 females, also 27 soldiers. The average number, (not including soldiers,) was 15. In 1863-4 157 were admitted, and no soldiers; of these, 118 were males, 39 females; 180 were under treatment; 132 were discharged.

The greatest number on any day was 45, the least number 21. Average number, 27. At the commencement of the year, March 1st, 1863, there were 23 patients—males, 14, females, 9.

At the close of the year, March 1st, 1864, there were 31 patients—males, 19, females, 12. There were 70 born in United States, 87 of foreign birth; 134 were temperate, 23 of intemperate habits.

The number of weeks occupied by patients was 1,445. The average duration of patients in the Hospital was 9 weeks. Average cost of patients per week was $4.93.

This includes the expense of board, nursing, medicine and medical attendance.

The expense of working the institution, not including interest on cost of site and Hospital building, or medical attendance, was - - - - - $7,118.46

Whole amount received from pay patients, was 1,675.78

Loss on board of patients, - - - - - $5,442.68

The average amount per week received from pay patients, was $1.15. The average amount lost per week was $3.78.

Patients were received from 73 different towns of the State.

The town of Hartford paid $359.72 for the support of patients at the Hospital, at the rate of $1.00 per week, according to a vote at a town meeting held December 8th, 1856.

Voted, "That in relation to those persons who, by reason of sickness or accident, are thrown upon the town for temporary support, during such sickness, or while they need medical aid, the Selectmen be authorized to keep them at the alms house or the Hartford Hospital, at their discretion."

No person is refused admission on account of the severity of the accident or disease. Many chronic cases are admitted with no expectation of recovery, but the Hospital is selected as a comfortable asylum, where they can close their earthly career. The total number of deaths during the last year was 24—males, 19, females, 5. Eight were in a dying condition when admitted, and remained less than four days—four of the remainder were in the institution less than seven days, and were not expected to live when admitted; of the remaining twelve, four died of consumption. Pneumonia, 1, Typhoid Fever, 1, Peritonitis, 1, Encephalitis, 1, Debility from old age, 1, Injury, 1.

There have been 15 fractures treated at the Hospital, all of a severe character: 4 of the leg and 4 of the arm were compound comminuted, 3 compound and comminuted fractures of the arm, required amputation, two of which were in the case of the same patient. One compound comminuted fracture of the arm and leg, with internal injury, caused by the horse cars—proved fatal. All the remaining fractures, both compound and simple, were fortunate in their recovery.

It is with great satisfaction that we congratulate the friends and liberal donors of the Hospital, that the plan and general arrangement of our building so nearly correspond with the Hospitals which are now arranged with all the skill and science, developed by the experience of the last few years.

The able and standard work on Hygiene, by Wm. A. Hammond, M. D., Surgeon General U. S. Army, with reference to military and civil Hospitals, gives not only a particular description of the Hospital buildings, but also a cut of the ground plan of many of the principal Hospitals in Europe and America.

In order to confirm the remark so often repeated by the friends of the Hospital, we quote from this able author his description of the construction and plan presented by him as a model Hospital. "For permanent Hospitals, stone for the wards is preferable to any other material. The long axis of the building should run north and south, in order that both sides may have the sun on them a part of the day. One of the oldest plans adopted for Hospitals, as it is certainly one of the most objectionable, is that in which three or four sides of a square are built upon." Such is the construction of St. George's Hospital and King's College Hospital, London, and many of the larger and celebrated hospitals on the continents of Europe and America. "The height of the ward should not be less than 14 feet or over 16. The length depends upon the number of beds it is to contain, not to exceed fifty-two beds under one roof, whether contained in one or more wards. Small wards render the expense of providing for the sick much more expensive. The building should be two stories high. The wards should be 25 to 27 feet wide, with two rows of beds, arranged between the windows, nine inches from the wall, averaging seven feet apart, but so arranged that each pair shall be near each other, thus giving an increased space between the beds at each window. The windows should be of ample size, one being allowed for every two patients. In addition to the ward, and constituting almost a part of it, as they are connected with it directly, are certain rooms which are indispensable. These are a bath and ablution room, a water closet, and a ward-master's room. Besides a mess room is often added, in which those patients who are able to leave their beds eat their meals, and in which a sink is placed for the convenience of washing dishes."

Besides the above described ward there should be private rooms, as circumstances may require, for the accommodation of those who are willing to pay for extra services.

"In building a Hospital, the principle should not be lost sight of, that the sick are to be entirely separated from the administrative part of the building." In large Hospitals there is a succession of these wards, either one or two stories, arranged in various ways, that the light of the sun, and abundant ventilation may have free access to every side of them. These wards are connected together, and to the administrative department, by corridors closed by windows, which can be easily opened, in order that no ventilation can pass from one ward to another, or from the wards into the administrative department. The present wing of the Hartford Hospital consists of two wards, one in each of the two stories, 70 feet long, 27 feet wide, and 15 feet high, arranged to accommodate twenty patients each, corresponding to the same arrangement and plan laid down by the author above quoted. This gives to each patient 94 feet of superficial surface, and 1,417 cubic feet of space. In all well regulated hospitals the number of superficial feet of space varies from 90 to 104 feet, and the number of cubic feet varies from 1,200 to 1,800 for each patient. The largest hospital at the present time in the world, is Mower General Hospital, Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia. It consists of fifty one story pavillions, 175 feet long, arranged in radii, and 20 feet apart at the corridor, which connects them in a circle, and 40 feet at the distant extremities; each ward contains 52 beds. The whole hospital accommodates 2,820 patients, besides 500 beds for officers, stewards, cooks and attendants.

While referring to the army hospitals we may be excused for stating the mortality of our army for the first year of the rebellion, as given by the National Almanac of 1864.

"The general mortality of the armies of the United States during the first year of the rebellion was 67.6 per thousand of mean strength, including with deaths from disease those from wounds and injuries. The mortality from disease alone was 50.4 per thousand. That from wounds and injuries of every kind, 17.2 per thousand. The average annual mortality from disease alone, in the United States army during eighteen years of peace, was 24 per thousand. In the United States army during the Mexican war, it was 103.8 per thousand.

In the British army during the Crimean war, 232 per thousand."

When the subscriptions were solicited for the Hospital, and so generously responded to by our citizens, it was thought that accommodations for from 15 to 20 patients would be sufficient for several years. After a term of years it was thought that arrangements would be required for from 40 to 50 patients.

The average number the first year was 12, the second year was 20, exclusive of soldiers, the third year was 15, exclusive of soldiers, the present year was 27. When all the apartments are filled with patients, the present building will accommodate from 50 to 60 beds.

The accommodations for the male and female patients are equal. When the male ward is full, the excess of males can not be placed in the female apartment. During the last six months the male ward has, most of the time, been inconveniently crowded. We have been compelled to arrange beds through the centre of the ward, which was not designed for beds, thus incommoding the patients and interfering with wholesome ventilation, and the general arrangement and good order of the ward. Should our number continue to increase, as we have every proof from the past that it will, we shall be compelled to refuse admission to many applicants who have no friendly home to soothe them in their distress and suffering, and have not where to lay their heads. The time has already come, that some provision should be made for the addition of the south wing. The expense of this wing will come far short of the original expense of land, center building, &c., which was necessary at the commencement of our labor. This wing must be built by new subscription, or by the generous donations of our benevolent citizens. It requires all the income of our present fund to pay the necessary expenses of the institution, after taxing the patients for board to the extent of their ability to pay.

We not only can not assist the building of this wing by our fund or income from the fund, but we shall require an increased fund, to provide for our increased number of patients. The expense of a larger number of patients will not be increased in proportion to the number of patients accommodated.

Mr. Wm. P. Corrin and wife continue to perform the duties of steward and matron. Their kind attention to the patients, and continued care for the interest of the institution has endeared them to all who are connected with the Hospital. The thanks of the public are due to the attending physicians and surgeons for their gratuitous services, rendered so cheerfully and at all times faithfully, both night and day, in subduing disease and relieving the sick at the Hospital.

Many blessings are bestowed by the patients on the Hartford Daily Times and Courant, which are sent free of charge, for the many tedious hours which are cheered by the perusal of these interesting papers.

During the last year Wm. Mather and Simeon L. Loomis, life directors of the Hospital by the subscription of $200, have passed into eternity. Their whole lives were filled with energy, enterprise and usefulness. Their deaths were mourned by a large circle of friends.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year, by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand; but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SEC. 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year; so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments, until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments; when sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties, as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment,) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 8. The congress shall have power:—To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States; to borrow money on the credit of the United States; to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes; to establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States; to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures; to provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States; to establish post offices and post roads; to promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing, for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries; to constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court; to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the laws of nations; to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water; to raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years; to provide and maintain a navy; to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces; to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions; to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia, according to the discipline prescribed by congress; to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district

(not exceeding ten miles square) as may by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privileges of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given, by any regulation of commerce or revenue, to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility. No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts, or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary, for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress. No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war, in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years; and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; and they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each, which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed: And if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president; but in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot, the vice-president. [See Amendments, Article XII.]

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president; and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear, (or affirm,) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States. He may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall, from time to time, give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects. [See Amendments, Article XI.]

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state; and the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SEC. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor; but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SEC. 3. New states may be admitted by the congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

SEC. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government; and shall protect each of them against invasion; and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive, (when the legislature cannot be convened,) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall, in any manner, affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this constitution shall be as valid against the United States, under this constitution, as under the Confederation.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound, by oath or affirmation, to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratifications of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution, between the states so ratifying the same.

ARTICLES

In addition to, and amendment of, the Constitution of the United States, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press: or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

II. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

III. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

VI. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

VII. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact, tried by a jury, shall be otherwise reëxamined, in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

IX. The enumeration, in the constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it, to the States, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

XI. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

XII. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president; but in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice; and if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then, from the two highest numbers on the list the senate shall choose the vice-president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person, constitutionally ineligible to the office of president, shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

[NOTE.—The Articles of Confederation between the thirteen United States of America were agreed upon by delegates from the states, in Congress assembled, on the 15th of November, 1777, and were finally ratified by all the states, March 1st, 1781. On the 21st of February, 1787, the Congress of the Confederation recommended that a Convention of Delegates, to be appointed by the states, be held for the purpose of revising the Articles of Confederation. In accordance with this recommendation, delegates from the several states met together at Philadelphia, Monday, May 14th, 1787, and organized by choosing George Washington as their President. On the 17th of September the Convention finally agreed to a proposed form of Constitution, which was transmitted to the Congress of the Confederation. By that body copies were transmitted to the several states, and the Constitution was ratified by Conventions therein, in the following order :

Delaware,	December 7, 1787.
Pennsylvania,	December 12, 1787.
New Jersey,	December 18, 1787.
Georgia,	January 2, 1788.
Connecticut,	January 9, 1788.
Massachusetts,	February 6, 1788.
Maryland,	April 28, 1788.
South Carolina,	May 23, 1788.
New Hampshire,	June 21, 1788.
Virginia,	June 26, 1788.
New York,	July 26, 1788.

Eleven states having ratified the Constitution, Congress proceeded to make all proper preparations for carrying it into effect. The first Wednesday of January, 1789, was appointed as the time for choosing electors, the first Wednesday in February as the day on which they should vote for President and Vice-President, and the first Wednesday of March as the day on which the new Congress should assemble together. The members of the two houses of the new Congress met at New York at the time appointed, March 4th, 1789. A quorum of the House of Representatives did not appear until the 1st of April, when a Speaker and Clerk were chosen. A quorum of the Senate did not appear until April 6th, when a President pro tempore was chosen, for the purpose of counting the votes for President and Vice-President. On the same day, in presence of both houses, the return of votes from the several states were opened and counted. George Washington was declared elected President, and John Adams Vice-President. The Senate then elected a President pro tempore, and a Secretary, and both houses, being organized, proceeded to transact public business. On the 21st of April the Vice-President assumed his seat as President of the Senate, and on Thursday, April 30th, George Washington was inaugurated President. The Constitution was ratified soon afterwards by the two remaining states; by North Carolina, November 21st, 1789, and by Rhode Island, May 29th, 1790.

On the 25th of September, 1789, Congress proposed twelve articles of amendment to the Constitution, ten of which (numbered in the preceding pages from one to ten) were finally ratified December 15th, 1791. The eleventh article of amendment was proposed by Congress March 5th, 1794, and was declared by the President, in his message of January 8th, 1798, to have been adopted by the requisite number of states. The twelfth amendment was proposed by Congress December 12th, 1803, and was adopted during the year 1804.]

THE

PREAMBLE.

The people of Connecticut, acknowledging with gratitude the good providence of God, in having permitted them to enjoy a free government, do, in order more effectually to define, secure and perpetuate the liberties, rights and privileges which they have derived from their ancestors, hereby, after a careful consideration and revision, ordain and establish the following Constitution and form of civil government.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

That the great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established,

We Declare,

SECTION 1. That all men, when they form a social compact, are equal in rights; and that no man, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive public emoluments, or privileges, from the community.

SEC. 2. That all political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their benefit; and that they have, at all times, an undeniable and indefeasible right to alter their form of government in such a manner as they may think expedient.

SEC. 3. The exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination, shall forever be free to all persons in this State; provided, that the right hereby declared and established shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or to justify practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the State.

SEC. 4. No preference shall be given by law to any Christian sect or mode of worship.

SEC. 5. Every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

SEC. 6. No law shall ever be passed to curtail or restrain the liberty of speech or of the press.

SEC. 7. In all prosecutions or indictments for libel the truth may be given in evidence; and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court.

SEC. 8. The people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from unreasonable searches or seizures; and no warrant to search any place, or to seize any person or things, shall issue, without describing them as nearly as may be, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation.

SEC. 9. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have a right to be heard by himself and by counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted by the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process to obtain witnesses in his favor; and in all prosecutions by indictment or information, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury. He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property but by due course of law. And no person shall be holden to answer for any crime the punishment of which may be death or imprisonment for life, unless on a presentment or an indictment of a grand jury, except in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war, or public danger.

SEC. 10. No person shall be arrested, detained or punished, except in cases clearly warranted by law.

SEC. 11. The property of no person shall be taken for public use, without just compensation therefor.

SEC. 12. All courts shall be open, and every person, for an injury done him in his person, property or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered, without sale, denial or delay.

SEC. 13. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed.

SEC. 14. All prisoners shall, before conviction, be bailable, by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, where the proof is evident, or the presumption great; and the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it; nor in any case but by the legislature.

SEC. 15. No person shall be attainted of treason or felony but by the legislature.

SEC. 16. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble for their common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances, or other proper purposes, by petition, address or remonstrance.

SEC. 17. Every citizen has a right to bear arms in defense of himself and the state.

SEC. 18. The military shall, in all cases and at all times, be in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 19. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

SEC. 20. No hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors shall ever be granted or conferred in this state.

SEC. 21. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments, and each of them confided to a separate magistracy, to wit: those which are legislative, to one; those which are executive, to another; and those which are judicial, to another.

ARTICLE III.

OF THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of this state shall be vested in two distinct houses, or branches: the one to be styled THE SENATE, the other THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, and both together THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. The style of their laws shall be, Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Assembly convened:

SEC. 2. There shall be one stated session of the general assembly, to be holden in each year, alternately at Hartford and New Haven, on the first Wednesday of May, and at such other times as the general assembly shall judge necessary; the first session to be holden at Hartford; but the person administering the office of governor may, on special emergencies, convene the general assembly at either of said places, at any other time. And in case of danger from the prevalence of contagious diseases in either of said places, or other circumstances, the person administering the office of governor may, by proclamation, convene said assembly at any other place in this state.

SEC. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of electors residing in towns from which they are elected. The number of representatives from each town shall be the same as at present practiced and allowed. In case a new town shall hereafter be incorporated, such new town shall be entitled to one representative only; and if such new town shall be made from one or more towns, the town or towns from which the same shall be made shall be entitled to the same number of representatives as at present allowed, unless the number shall be reduced by the consent of such town or towns.

SEC. 4. The senate shall consist of twelve members, to be chosen annually by the electors.*

SEC. 5. At the meetings of the electors, held in the several towns in this state, in April annually, after the election of representatives, the electors present shall be called upon to bring in their written† ballots for senators. The presiding officer shall receive the votes of the electors, and count and declare them in open meeting. The presiding officer shall also make duplicate lists of the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each, which shall be certified by the presiding officer; one of which lists shall be delivered to the town clerk, and the other within ten days after said meeting, shall be delivered, under seal, either to the secretary or to the sheriff of the county in which said town is situated; which list shall be directed to the secretary, with a superscription expressing the purport of the contents thereof. And each sheriff who shall receive such votes shall, within fifteen days after said meeting, deliver, or cause them to be delivered, to the secretary.

SEC. 6. The treasurer, secretary, and comptroller, for the time being, shall canvass the votes publicly. The twelve‡ persons having the greatest number of votes for senators shall be declared to be elected. But in cases where no choice is made by the electors, in consequence of an equality of votes, the house of representatives shall designate, by ballot, which of the candidates having such equal number of votes shall be declared to be elected. The return of votes and the result of the canvass shall be submitted to the house of representatives, and also to the senate, on the first day of the session of the general assembly; and each house shall be the final judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members.

SEC. 7. The house of representatives, when assembled, shall choose a speaker, clerk, and other officers. The senate shall choose its clerk and other officers, except the president. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may prescribe.

SEC. 8. Each house shall determine the rules of its own proceedings, punish members for disorderly conduct, and, with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the legislature of a free and independent state.

SEC. 9. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same, when required by one-fifth of its members, except such parts as, in the judgment of a majority, require secrecy. The yeas and nays of the members of either house shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journals.

SEC. 10. The senators and representatives shall, in all cases of civil process, be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly, and for four days before the commencement and after the termination of any session thereof. And for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 11. The debates of each house shall be public, except on such occasions as, in the opinion of the house, may require secrecy.

ARTICLE IV.

OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The supreme executive power of the state shall be vested in a governor, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state, and shall hold his office for one year from the first Wednesday of May next succeeding his election, and until his successor be duly qualified. No person who is not an elector of this state, and who has not arrived at the age of thirty years, shall be eligible.

SEC. 2. At the meetings of the electors in the respective towns, in the month of April in each year, immediately after the election of senators, the presiding officers shall call upon the electors to bring in their ballots for him whom they would elect to be governor, with his name fairly written.* When such ballots shall have been received and counted, in the presence of the electors, duplicate lists of the persons voted for and of the number of votes given for each, shall be made and certified by the presiding officer; one of which lists shall be deposited in the office of the town clerk within three days, and the other, within ten days after said election, shall be transmitted to the secretary, or to the sheriff of the county in which such election shall have been held. The sheriff receiving said votes shall deliver, or cause them to be delivered, to the secretary, within fifteen days next after said election. The votes so returned shall be counted by the treasurer, secretary and comptroller, within the month of April. A fair list of the persons, and number of votes given for each, together with the returns of the presiding officers, shall be, by the treasurer, secretary and comptroller, made and laid before the general assembly then next to be holden, on the first day of the session thereof; and said assembly shall, after examination of the same, declare the person whom they shall find to be legally chosen, and give him notice accordingly. If no person shall have a majority of the whole number of said votes, or if two or more shall have an equal and the greatest number of said votes, then said assembly, on the second day of their session, by joint ballot of both houses, shall proceed, without debate, to choose a governor from a list of the names of the two persons having the greatest number of votes, or of the names of the persons having an equal and highest number of votes so returned as aforesaid. The general assembly shall by law prescribe the manner in which all questions concerning the election of a governor or lieutenant-governor shall be determined.

SEC. 3. At the annual meetings of the electors, immediately after the election of governor, there shall also be chosen, in the same manner as is herein before provided for the election of governor, a lieutenant-governor,* who shall continue in office for the same time, and possess the same qualifications.

SEC. 4. The compensations of the governor, lieutenant-governor, senators and representatives shall be established by law, and shall not be varied so as to take effect until after an election which shall next succeed the passage of the law establishing said compensations.

SEC. 5. The governor shall be captain-general of the militia of the state, except when called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 6. He may require information in writing from the officers in the executive department, on any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 7. The governor, in case of a disagreement between the two houses of the general assembly, respecting the time of adjournment, may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper, not beyond the day of the next stated session.

SEC. 8. He shall, from time to time, give to the general assembly information of the state of the government, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient.

SEC. 9. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 10. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves

* Altered by amendment of 1836.

after conviction, in all cases, except those of impeachment, until the end of the next session of the general assembly, and no longer.

SEC. 11. All commissions shall be in the name and by authority of the State of Connecticut, shall be sealed with the state seal, signed by the governor, and attested by the secretary.

SEC. 12. Every bill, which shall have passed both houses of the general assembly, shall be presented to the governor. If he approves, he shall sign and transmit it to the secretary; but if not, he shall return it to the house in which it originated, with his objections, which shall be entered on the journals of the house, who shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, that house shall again pass it, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, which shall also reconsider it. If approved, it shall become a law. But in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If the bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days, (Sundays excepted,) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it; unless the general assembly, by their adjournment, prevents its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

SEC. 13. The lieutenant governor shall, by virtue of his office, be president of the senate, and have, when in committee of the whole, a right to debate, and when the senate is equally divided, to give the casting vote.

SEC. 14. In case of the death, resignation, refusal to serve, or removal from office of the governor, or of his impeachment or absence from the state, the lieutenant-governor shall exercise the powers and authority appertaining to the office of governor until another be chosen at the next periodical election for governor, and be duly qualified ; or until the governor impeached or absent shall be acquitted or return.

SEC. 15. When the government shall be administered by the lieutenant-governor, or he shall be unable to attend as president of the senate, the senate shall elect one of their members as president pro tempore. And if, during the vacancy of the office of governor, the lieutenant-governor shall die, resign, refuse to serve, or be removed from office, or if he shall be impeached, or absent from the state, the president of the senate pro tempore shall, in like manner, administer the government, until he be superseded by a governor or lieutenant-governor.

SEC. 16. If the lieutenant-governor shall be required to administer the government, and shall, while in such administration, die or resign, during the recess of the general assembly, it shall be the duty of the secretary for the time being to convene the senate for the purpose of choosing a president pro tempore.

SEC. 17. A treasurer shall annually be chosen by the electors, at their meeting in April ; and the votes shall be returned, counted, canvassed and declared in the same manner as is provided for the election of governor and lieutenant-governor ;* but the votes for treasurer shall be canvassed by the secretary and comptroller only. He shall receive all moneys belonging to the state, and disburse the same only as he may be directed by law. He shall pay no warrant or order for the disbursement of public money until the same has been registered in the office of the comptroller.

SEC. 18. A secretary shall be chosen next after the treasurer, and in the same manner ;* and the votes for secretary shall be returned to, and counted, canvassed and declared by the treasurer and comptroller. He shall have the safe keeping and custody of the public records and documents, and particularly of the acts, resolutions and orders of the general assembly; and record the same; and perform all such duties as shall be prescribed by law. He shall be the keeper of the seal of the state, which shall not be altered.

SEC. 19. A comptroller of the public accounts shall be annually appointed by the general assembly. He shall adjust and settle all public accounts and demands, except grants and orders of the general assembly. He shall prescribe the mode of keeping and rendering all public accounts. He shall, ex officio, be one of the auditors of the accounts of the treasurer. The general assembly may assign to him other duties in relation to his office, and to that of the treasurer, and shall prescribe the manner in which his duties shall be performed.

SEC. 20. A sheriff shall be appointed in each county, by the general assembly,* who shall hold his office for three years, removable by said assembly, and shall become bound, with sufficient sureties, to the treasurer of the state, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law. In case the sheriff of any county shall die or resign, the governor may fill the vacancy occasioned thereby, until the same shall be filled by the general assembly.

SEC. 21. A statement of all receipts, payments, funds and debts of the state shall be published from time to time, in such manner and at such periods as shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE V.

OF THE JUDICIARY DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 1. The judicial power of the state shall be vested in a supreme court of errors, a superior court, and such inferior courts as the general assembly shall, from time to time, ordain and establish, the powers and jurisdiction of which courts shall be defined by law.

SEC. 2. There shall be appointed, in each county, a sufficient number of justices of the peace, with such jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases as the general assembly may prescribe.

SEC. 3. The judges of the supreme court of errors, of the superior and inferior courts, and all justices of the peace, shall be appointed by the general assembly, in such manner as shall by law be prescribed.* The judges of the supreme court and of the superior court shall hold their offices during good behavior, but may be removed by impeachment; and the governor shall also remove them, on the address of two-thirds of the members of each house of the general assembly; all other judges and justices of the peace shall be appointed annually. No judge or justice of the peace shall be capable of holding his office after he shall arrive at the age of seventy years.

ARTICLE VI.

OF THE QUALIFICATIONS OF ELECTORS.

SECTION 1. All persons who have been or shall hereafter, previous to the ratification of this constitution, be admitted freemen, according to the existing laws of this state, shall be electors.

SEC. 2. Every white male citizen of the United States who shall have gained a settlement in this state, attained the age of twenty-one years, and resided in the town in which he may offer himself to be admitted to the privilege of an elector at least six months preceding, and have a freehold estate of the yearly value of seven dollars in this state; or having been enrolled in the militia, shall have performed military duty therein for the term of one year next preceding the time he shall offer himself for admission, or being liable thereto, shall have been by authority of law excused therefrom; or shall have paid a state tax within the year next preceding the time he shall present himself for such admission,† and shall sustain a good moral character, shall, on his taking such oath as may be prescribed by law, be an elector.

SEC. 3. The privileges of an elector shall be forfeited by a conviction of bribery, forgery, perjury, duelling, fraudulent bankruptcy, theft, or other offense for which an infamous punishment is inflicted.

SEC. 4. Every elector shall be eligible to any office in this state, except in cases provided for in this constitution.

SEC. 5. The selectmen and town clerk of the several towns shall decide on the qualifications of electors, at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 6. Laws shall be made to support the privilege of free suffrage, prescribing the manner of regulating and conducting meetings of the electors, and prohibiting, under adequate penalties, all undue influence therein, from power, bribery, tumult and other improper conduct.

SEC. 7. In all elections of officers of the state or members of the general assembly, the votes of the electors shall be by ballot.

SEC. 8. At all elections of officers of the state or members of the general assembly, the electors shall be privileged from arrest during their attendance upon, and going to, and returning from the same, on any civil process.

SEC. 9. The meetings of the electors for the election of the several state officers by law annually to be elected, and members of the general assembly of this state, shall be holden on the first Monday of April in each year.

ARTICLE VII.

OF RELIGION.

SECTION 1. It being the duty of all men to worship the Supreme Being, the Great Creator and Preserver of the universe, and their right to render that worship in the mode most consistent with the dictates of their consciences, no person shall by law be compelled to join or support, or be classed with or associated to any congregation, church, or religious association. But every person now belonging to such congregation, church, or religious association, shall remain a member thereof until he shall have separated himself therefrom in the manner hereinafter provided. And each and every society or denomination of Christians in this state shall have and enjoy the same and equal powers, rights and privileges, and shall have power and authority to support and maintain the ministers or teachers of their respective denominations, and to build and repair houses for public worship by a tax on the members of any such society only, to be laid by a major vote of the legal voters assembled at any society meeting, warned and held according to law, or in any other manner.

SEC. 2. If any person shall choose to separate himself from the society or denomination of Christians to which he may belong, and shall leave a written notice thereof with the clerk of such society, he shall thereupon be no longer liable for any future expenses which may be incurred by said society.

ARTICLE VIII.

OF EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. The charter of Yale College, as modified by agreement with the corporation thereof, in pursuance of an act of the general assembly, passed in May, 1792, is hereby confirmed.

SEC. 2. The fund called the SCHOOL FUND shall remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which shall be inviolably appropriated to the support and encouragement of the public or common schools throughout the state, and for the equal benefit of all the people thereof. The value and amount of said fund shall, as soon as practicable, be ascertained in such manner as the general assembly may prescribe, published, and recorded in the comptroller's office; and no law shall ever be made authorizing said fund to be diverted to any other use than the encouragement and support of public or common schools, among the several school societies, as justice and equity shall require.

ARTICLE IX.

OF IMPEACHMENTS.

SECTION 1. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching.

SEC. 2. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. When the governor is impeached the chief justice shall preside.

SEC. 3. The governor and all other executive and judicial officers shall be liable to impeachment; but judgments in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit, under this state. The party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial and punishment according to law.

SEC. 4. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, or adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. No conviction of treason, or attainder, shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture.

ARTICLE X.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECTION 1. Members of the general assembly, and all officers, executive and judicial, shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take the following oath or affirmation, to wit:

You do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that you will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Connecticut, so long as you continue a citizen thereof; and that you will faithfully discharge, according to law, the duties of the office of _____ to the best of your abilities. So help you God.

SEC. 2. Each town shall annually elect selectmen, and such officers of local police as the laws may prescribe.

SEC. 3. The rights and duties of all corporations shall remain as if this constitution had not been adopted, with the exception of such regulations and restrictions as are contained in this constitution. All judicial and civil officers now in office, who have been appointed by the general assembly, and commissioned according to law, and all such officers as shall be appointed by the said assembly, and commissioned as aforesaid, before the first Wednesday of May next, shall continue to hold their offices until the first day of June next, unless they shall, before that time, resign, or be removed from office according to law. The treasurer and secretary shall continue in office until a treasurer and secretary shall be appointed under this constitution. All military officers shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until they shall resign, or be removed according to law. All laws not contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution shall remain in force until they shall expire by their own limitation, or shall be altered or repealed by the general assembly, in pursuance of this constitution. The validity of all bonds, debts, contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, or the state, of all suits, actions, or rights of action, both in law and equity, shall continue as if no change had taken place. The governor, lieutenant-governor, and general assembly which is to be formed in October next, shall have and possess all the powers and authorities not repugnant to or inconsistent with this constitution, which they now have and possess, until the first Wednesday of May next.

SEC. 4. No judge of the superior court, and of the supreme court of errors; no member of congress; no person holding any office under the authority of the United States; no person holding the office of treasurer, secretary or comptroller; no sheriff or sheriff's deputy, shall be a member of the general assembly.

ARTICLE XI.

OF AMENDMENTS OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Whenever a majority of the house of representatives shall deem it necessary to alter or amend this constitution, they may propose such alteration and amendments; which proposed amendments shall be continued to the next general assembly, and be published with the laws which may have been passed at the same session; and if two-thirds of each house, at the next session of said assembly, shall approve the amendments proposed, by yeas and nays, said amendment shall by the secretary be transmitted to the town clerk in each town in the state, whose duty it shall be to present the same to the inhabitants thereof for their consideration, at a town meeting legally warned and held for that purpose; and if it shall appear, in manner to be provided by law, that a majority of the electors present at such meetings shall have approved such amendments, the same shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of this constitution.

Done in Convention, on the fifteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, and of the Independence of the United States the forty-third.

By order of the Convention,

OLIVER WOLCOTT, President.

ARTICLE I.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1828.

From and after the first Wednesday of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty, the senate of this state shall consist of not less than eighteen nor more than twenty-four members, and be chosen by districts.

ARTICLE II.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1828.

The general assembly which shall be holden on the first Wednesday of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine, shall divide the state into districts for the choice of senators, and shall determine what number shall be elected in each, which districts shall not be less than eight nor more than twenty-four in number, and shall always be composed of contiguous territory, and in forming them no town shall be divided; nor shall the whole or part of one county be joined to the whole or part of another county to form a district, regard being had to the population in said apportionment, and in forming said districts in such manner that no county shall have less than two senators. The districts, when established, shall continue the same until the session of the general assembly next after the completion of the next census of the United States; which said assembly shall have power to alter the same, if found necessary to preserve a proper equality between said districts in respect to the number of inhabitants therein, according to the principles above recited; after which said districts shall not be altered, nor the number of senators altered, except at any session of the general assembly next after the completion of a census of the United States, and then only according to the principles above described.

ARTICLE III.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1828.

At the meeting of the electors on the first Monday of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty, and annually thereafter, immediately after the choice of representatives, the electors qualified by law to vote in the choice of such representatives shall be called upon, by the presiding officer in such meeting, in the several towns within their districts respectively, to bring in their ballots for such person or number of persons to be senator or senators for such districts in the next general assembly as shall by law be allowed to such districts respectively;* which person or persons, at the time of holding such meetings, shall belong to and reside in the respective districts in which they shall be so balloted for as aforesaid. And each elector present at such meeting, qualified as aforesaid, may thereupon bring in his ballot or suffrage for such person or persons as he shall choose, to be senators for such district, not exceeding the number by law allowed to the same, with the name or names of such person or persons fairly *written on one piece of paper. And the votes so given in shall be received, counted, canvassed and declared, in the same manner now provided by the constitution for the choice of senators. The person or persons (not exceeding the number by law allowed to the districts in which such votes shall be given in) having the highest number of votes, shall be declared to be duly elected for such districts. But in the event of an equality of votes between two or more of the persons so voted for, the house of representatives shall, in the manner provided for by the constitution, designate which of such persons shall be declared to be duly elected.

ARTICLE IV.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1832.

There shall annually be chosen and appointed a lieutenant-governor, a treasurer and secretary, in the same manner as is provided in the second section of the fourth article of the constitution of this state for the choice and appointment of a governor.

ARTICLE V.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1836.

A comptroller of public accounts shall be annually chosen by the electors, in their meeting in April, and in the same manner as the treasurer and secretary are chosen, and the votes for comptroller shall be returned to and counted, canvassed and declared by the treasurer and secretary.

ARTICLE VI.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER, 1836.

The electors in the respective towns, on the first Monday of April in each year, may vote for governor, lieutenant-governor, treasurer, secretary, senators and representatives in the general assembly, successively, or for any number of said officers at the same time. And the general assembly shall have power to enact laws regulating and prescribing the order and manner of voting for said officers, and also providing for the election of representatives, at some time subsequent to the first Monday of April, in all cases when it shall so happen that the electors in any town shall fail on that day to elect the representative or representatives to which such town shall be by law entitled.

Provided, that in all elections of officers of the state, or members of the general assembly, the votes of the electors shall be by ballot, either written or printed.

ARTICLE VII.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1838.

A sheriff shall be appointed in each county by the electors therein, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, who shall hold his office for three years, removable by the general assembly, and shall become bound with sufficient sureties to the treasurer of the state, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

ARTICLE VIII.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1845.

Every white male citizen of the United States who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided in this state for a term of one year next preceding, and in the town in which he may offer himself to be admitted to the privileges of an elector at least six months next preceding the time he may so offer himself, and shall sustain a good moral character, shall, on his taking such oath as may be prescribed by law, be an elector.

ARTICLE IX.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1850.

The Judges of Probate shall be appointed by the electors residing in the several probate districts, and qualified to vote for representatives therein, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE X.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1850.

The Justices of the Peace for the several towns in this state shall be appointed by the electors in such towns; and the time and the manner of their election, the number for each town, and the period for which they shall hold their offices, shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE XI.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1855.

Every person shall be able to read any article of the constitution, or any section of the statutes of this state, before being admitted as an elector.

ARTICLE XII.

ADOPTED OCTOBER, 1856.

The judges of the supreme court of errors and of the superior court, appointed in the year 1855, and thereafter, shall hold their offices for the term of eight years, but may be removed by impeachment, and the governor shall also remove them on the address of two-thirds of each house of the general assembly. No judge of the supreme court of errors, or of the superior court, shall be capable of holding office, after he shall arrive at the age of seventy years.

RULES

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JOINT RULES OF PROCEEDINGS
FOR THE
SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

As adopted May Session, 1864.

I. Immediately after the organization of the Senate and House of Representatives, at the commencement of every stated session of the General Assembly, a Joint Committee, consisting of one Senator and eight Representatives, shall be appointed to examine the returns and canvass of votes given by the electors for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, Secretary, and Comptroller of Public Accounts, and to report the names of the persons whom they shall find elected to those offices respectively. After this report shall have been accepted, a Joint Committee, consisting of one Senator and two Representatives, shall be appointed, to inform the Governor personally of his election and of the organization of the two Houses, and their readiness to receive his communications.

II. On or before the third day of every stated session of the General Assembly, there shall be appointed fifteen Joint Standing Committees, each of which shall consist of one Senator and eight Representatives, viz:

1st. A Committee on the Judiciary, who shall take into consideration all such matters touching public or private acts and judicial proceedings as shall be referred to them, and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto, as to them shall seem expedient.

2d. A Committee on the School Fund, who shall inquire into and report the actual state of the School Fund, the amount, value and condition of its securities, and recommend such measures as they shall deem best adapted to insure its improvement and permanent safety.

3d. A Committee on Banks, who shall take into consideration all such matters relative to Banks, Savings Banks, and Savings and Building Associations, as may be referred to them, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon.

4th. A Committee on the State Prison, who shall examine the annual reports of the directors and officers in charge of the State Prison, the account of receipts and expenditures of the Institution, together with such other matters as shall be referred to them by the two Houses of the General Assembly. And they may recommend such measures for the regulation and management of the Prison as they shall deem expedient.

5th. A Committee on New Towns and Probate Districts, who shall take into consideration all matters relating to the incorporation of new towns, the alteration of town lines, and the formation of probate districts, which shall be referred to them, and report their opinion thereon, together with the facts upon which such opinion is founded.

6th. A Committee on Roads and Bridges, who shall take into consideration all such matters relative to Roads and Bridges as shall be referred to them, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon.

7th. A Committee on Incorporations, who shall take into consideration all matters relative to private corporations, for which there may be no other appropriate committee, and report their opinion thereon, with the facts on which the same is founded.

8th. A Committee on Claims, who shall take into consideration all claims and demands upon the State, which may be referred to them, and report their opinion thereon, with the facts on which the same is founded.

9th. A Committee on Education, who shall take into consideration all such matters relating to the subject of common school education as shall be referred to them, and recommend such measures touching the same as they shall deem expedient.

10th. A Committee on the Sale of Lands, who shall take into consideration all applications for the sale of lands, which shall be referred to them, and report the facts, with their opinions thereon.

11th. A Committee on Finance, who shall take into consideration the financial concerns of the State, and inquire into the receipts and expenditures of the government, the investment of the public funds, (the School Fund excepted,) the system of assessments and taxation provided by existing laws, and all other matters affecting the revenue of the State; and report such measures touching the same, as they may deem expedient.

12th. A Committee on Railroads, who shall take into consideration all such matters relating to Railroads and Railroad Companies as may be referred to them, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon.

13th. A Committee on Military Affairs, who shall examine all military returns, and take into consideration all matters relating to the militia of this State, which may be referred to them, and report thereon, with their opinion touching the same.

14th. A Committee on Agriculture, who shall take into consideration all such matters relating to Agriculture as may be referred to them, and report thereon, with their opinion touching the same.

15th. A Committee on Humane Institutions, who shall take into consideration all such matters relating to the Benevolent Institutions under the care or supervision of the State, as may be referred to them, and report thereon, with their opinion touching the same.

III. In all meetings of Joint Committees, the Senators shall preside. All questions of order in their proceedings, the questions relative to the admission of evidence, shall be determined by a majority of votes; and in case the votes be equally divided, the Senator shall have a casting vote.

IV. All Committees of Conference, on disagreeing votes of the two Houses of Assembly, shall consist of one Senator and two Representatives, who were in the major vote of their respective Houses. The Committee of the House making the grant or appointment, or passing the bill, resolution or amendment disagreed to, shall state their reasons, to be reported to the other House. And neither House shall request the other twice to confer on the same point of disagreement.

V. Whenever each House shall have adhered to its vote of disagreement, the bill or resolution shall be considered as lost.

VI. Every message sent from one House to the other shall be announced at the door, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair, by the person by whom it may be sent.

VII. Whenever a bill shall have passed both Houses of the Assembly, and shall have been transmitted to the Governor for his approbation, if either House desire its return for further consideration, such desire shall be communicated by message to the other House, and a Joint Committee of one Senator and two Representatives shall then be sent to the Governor to request him to return the bill. If the Governor consent, the bill shall be returned first to that House in which the motion for its return originated, and the bill may then be altered or totally rejected by a concurrent vote of the two Houses; but if not altered or rejected by such concurrent vote, it shall be again transmitted to the Governor in the same form in which it was first presented to him.

VIII. Whenever the public business may require the Senate and House of Representatives to meet in Convention, either House may send its message to the other, requesting such Convention, and specifying the object. At the time designated, the Senate, with their President and Clerk, may proceed to the Hall of the House of Representatives, where suitable accommodations shall be provided. The President of the Senate shall ex officio preside in said Convention, and the proceedings thereof shall be entered upon the Journals of the two Houses.

When the Convention shall have been dissolved, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall make report to their respective Houses of the proceedings of the Convention.

IX. All bills for public acts which shall have been passed by both Houses of the General Assembly, engrossed, and signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and President of the Senate, and all bills for private acts and joint resolutions which shall have been passed by the two Houses, shall, with the papers on which the same may be founded, be transmitted by the Committee on Engrossed Bills to the Secretary of State, for the purpose of being by him laid before the Governor. The presiding officers of the two Houses shall affix their signatures to bills for public acts in the presence of their respective Houses.

X. Every bill for a public act, and every resolution which shall be offered for the consideration of either House, shall be fairly written on not less than one-half sheet of paper; and every member offering such bill, resolution, or a petition, shall indorse thereon his name, in some proper and conspicuous place, and in no case shall any printed copy of a bill or resolution receive the indorsement of the Clerk of either House, or be transmitted to the Governor for approval.

XI. The Clerk of the House to which any bill shall be first presented, shall endorise thereon a statement of the contents or object of such bill or resolution, before transmitting the same to the other House.

XII. All acts of incorporation by bill or resolution, and all acts in amendment or alteration thereof, and all private acts of whatever nature, shall, before the same shall be considered, be printed for the use of the General Assembly, at the expense of the party applying therefor.

XIII. All bills for public acts reported favorably upon by the Committee to which they have been or may be referred, with or without amendments, before being put upon their third reading shall be laid upon the table, and three hundred copies of such bills, with their amendments, be printed for the use of the General Assembly, and no bill so reported shall be put on its third reading until the day succeeding the distribution of said copies.

RULES TO REGULATE THE PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

SENATE OF CONNECTICUT.

Resolved, That the Rules and Orders following, be and they are hereby adopted as the standing Rules and Orders of the Senate, and they shall be read at the commencement of each session of the General Assembly by the Clerk.

“1st. The President shall take the chair every day, at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and after prayer shall immediately call the Senate to order, and if a quorum be present, proceed to business.

“2d. The President shall preserve order, and shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the Senate. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting. The question first moved and seconded shall be the first put, and in all cases the sense of the Senate shall be taken upon the largest number or sum, and the longest time proposed.

“3d. No member shall in any way interrupt the business of the Senate while the journal or public papers are in reading, nor when any member is speaking in debate, nor while the President is putting a question.

“4th. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise and respectfully address 'Mr. President;' if two or more rise at once, the President shall name the member who is first to speak.

"5th. No member shall speak more than twice upon the same question, without leave of the Senate, unless to explain.

"6th. When a question is before the Senate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay upon the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged, and a motion for adjournment shall always be in order, and be decided without debate.

"7th. If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided.

"8th. When the yeas and nays shall be called for by one-fifth of the members present, each member called upon shall (unless for special reason he be excused by the Senate) declare openly his assent or dissent to the question.

"9th. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated to the Senate by the President, before any debate be had thereon; but every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the President so direct, or any member desire it.

"10th. Every bill shall be introduced by a motion for leave, or by order of the Senate, or the report of a committee; and every bill for a public act shall receive three several readings in the Senate, previously to its being passed into an act. And no bill shall be read twice on the same day, without the order of the Senate. Nor may the President state the same to the Senate for debate, until after the second reading.

"11. A committee of three shall, within the first two days of each session, be appointed by ballot to take into consideration all contested elections of members of the Senate, and to report the facts in issue, together with their opinions thereon.

"12th. Committees of Conference shall be appointed by the Senate.

"13th. All other committees shall be appointed by the President, unless the Senate shall order otherwise.

"14th. When a motion has been stated by the President, or read by the Clerk, it shall be considered to be in possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment; but not after amendment, unless the Senate give leave.

"15th. No member who is interested in the decision of any question in such manner that he cannot vote, may stay in the Senate when such question is discussed or decided. Provided, however, that this rule shall not extend to the sitting members in contested elections.

"16th. When any member shall request a Committee of Conference on different votes of the two Houses of Assembly, a committee, consisting of one member, who was in the vote of the Senate; shall be appointed; and if any member who was not in such vote shall be nominated, he shall notify the Senate.

"17. When the Senate has voted to appoint a committee to prepare a bill or resolve, upon any subject, no person shall be on such committee who was opposed to the vote of the Senate.

"18th. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, shall transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, and any member may, call to order, and if speaking he shall sit down, unless permitted to explain: the Senate, if appealed to, shall decide the question without debate.

"19th. When a question shall have been once decided, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for a reconsideration thereof; but no such motion may be made unless within three days of actual session of the Senate, after the day on which the decision to be reconsidered was made.

"20th. Before any petition or memorial addressed to the Senate shall be received and read at the table, whether the same shall be introduced by the President or a member, a brief statement of the contents or object of the petition or memorial shall be verbally made by the introducer.

“21. All questions shall be put by the President of the Senate, and the Senators shall signify their assent or dissent by answering viva voce—aye or no. And whenever the vote shall be doubted or questioned, it shall be determined by the members rising, and in all cases the ayes shall be called.

“22d. Every resolution or bill granting money from the Treasury of the State shall, before its final passage, receive three several readings, only one of which shall be on the same day.”

R U L E S
OF THE
IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF CONNECTICUT.

Resolved, That the Rules and Orders following be, and they are hereby adopted, as the standing Rules and Orders of this House; and it is ordered that they shall be read by the Clerk at the commencement of each session of the General Assembly:

1st. The Speaker shall take the chair every day, at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned; and after prayers and roll-call, shall immediately call the House to order, and if a quorum be present, proceed to business.

2d. In the absence of a quorum, the Speaker may adjourn the House to the afternoon, or the next sitting day. At all other times during the session an adjournment shall be pronounced by the Speaker on motion, no objection being made.

3d. The Speaker shall preserve decorum and order; and shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the House. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting. The question first moved and seconded shall be first put; and in all cases the sense of the House shall be first taken upon the largest number or sum, and the longest time proposed in any question.

4th. In all cases when a vote is taken without a division, the Speaker shall determine whether it is or is not a vote; and in all doubtful cases he shall ask, "Is it doubted?" If the vote be disputed, it shall be tried again; but after the Speaker has declared the vote, it shall not be recalled, unless by a regular motion for reconsideration, made by a member in the vote of the House.

5th. If the Speaker doubt a vote, or a division be called by a member, the question shall be again put, and those voting in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats; if the Speaker still doubt, or a count be required, the Speaker shall direct the Tellers to count them while standing, and if required by a member, those of contrary mind shall, in the like manner, rise and be counted.

6. The yeas and nays shall be taken on any question, and entered upon the Journal, at the desire of one-fifth of the members present.

7th. In all cases of balloting, the Speaker shall vote; in other cases he shall not vote, unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given in the minority, will make the division equal; and in cases of such equal division, the question shall be lost.

8th. Members coming in when the House is attending prayers, and during the call of the roll, shall walk to their seats with as little noise as convenience will admit.

9th. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address "Mr. Speaker;" if two or more rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

10th. No member shall speak more than twice to the same question, without leave of the House, unless to explain.

11th. No debate shall be allowed after a question is put and remains undecided. While the Speaker is putting any question, or is addressing the House, no member shall walk out of or across the House; nor, either in such cases, or when the roll is calling, or when anything is in public reading before the House, nor while any member is speaking, shall entertain any private discourse; nor when any member is speaking, shall pass between him and the chair.

12th. When the motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated to the House by the Speaker, before any debate be had thereon; but every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker so direct, or any member desire it.

13th. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged.

And no motion to lie on the table, to postpone indefinitely, or to commit, having been once decided, shall be again allowed at the same sitting, and at the same stage of the bill or subject matter.

14th. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and said motion shall be decided without debate, as shall also a motion to lie on the table.

15th. When a question shall have once been decided, it shall be in order for any member in the prevailing vote to move for a reconsideration thereof, if at the time the subject-matter shall be in possession of the House; but no such motion shall be made unless within two days of the actual session of the House, after the day on which decision was had thereon.

16th. The Clerk shall not transmit any bill, resolutions, or other paper from the House to the Senate, on the same day upon which the action was had thereon, except the House otherwise order.

17th. When a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House; but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment, but not after amendment, unless the House give leave.

18th. Every bill shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by an order of the House, or the report of a committee; and every public bill shall receive three several readings in the House previously to its being passed into an act, and no such bill may be read twice on the same day, without the order of the House; nor may the Speaker state the same to the House for debate, until after the second reading, but every bill may be referred on its first reading.

19th. No member who is interested in the decision of any question in such a manner that he cannot vote, may stay in the House when such question is discussed or decided.

20th. All committees, excepting Committees of Conference, shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House.

21st. When any member requests a Committee of Conference on different votes of the two Houses of Assembly, a committee, consisting of two members, shall be appointed on the part of the House; and in such case the committee shall consist only of such members as were in the vote of the House; and if any member be nominated on said committee who was not in the vote, he shall notify the House and be excused.

22d. When the House has voted to appoint a committee to prepare a bill or resolve upon any subject, no person shall be on such committee who was opposed to the sense of the House.

23d. At the opening of each session a Committee of Elections, consisting of three members, shall be appointed by the Speaker, to take into consideration all contested elections of members of this House, and report facts, with their opinions thereon.

24th. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the Rules and Orders of this House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; and if speaking, he shall sit down, unless permitted to explain. The House, if appealed to, shall decide on the case, but without debate. If no such appeal be made, the Speaker shall decide on the same.

25th. During the first eight days of the session, after roll-call, the Speaker shall call for petitions, which shall be first disposed of; and no petition shall be offered after the House shall proceed to other business.

26th. After the first eight days, the first business shall be the hearing of the reports of committees; next, the first reading of bills of public acts, and then bills which have been postponed to a second reading.

28th. Every resolution or bill in form, upon any petition granting money from the Treasury of the State, shall, before its final passage, receive three several readings, only one of which shall be on the same day.

29th. The Journal of the House for the day preceding shall be read every day before entering on other business.

30th. In case the Speaker wishes occasionally to leave the chair for the purpose of taking part in the debate, or from indisposition, or other temporary cause, he may designate some member to preside.

31st. For the purpose of more conveniently counting upon a division of the House, the floor thereof shall be divided by aisles into four divisions, to be numbered first, second, third and fourth sections, commencing on the right of the chair; for each of which divisions the Speaker shall appoint a member whose seat is in said division, to be a teller to count and report to the chair.

32d. No rule shall be suspended except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

33d. That in the case of the absence of the Speaker, the Clerk shall call the House to order, at the hour to which the House stands adjourned, and the first business in order shall be the election of a Speaker pro tempore, which it shall immediately proceed to do without debate, by nomination or ballot, as the House shall determine; these questions shall also be decided without debate; and the Speaker pro tempore thus elected shall preside in the House and discharge all the duties of the Speaker until his return.

In case of the death or resignation of a Speaker, the Clerk shall call the House to order, as provided in the first clause of this Rule, and the first business in order shall be the election of a Speaker by ballot, which the House shall immediately proceed to do, without debate, and the Speaker thus elected shall preside over the House and discharge all the duties of the Speaker during the continuance of the General Assembly.
